FRIEND OF KAISERS LOSES COIN IN B. C.

ALVO VON ALVENSLEBEN INTERNEED AT SALT LAKE CITY, FORFEITS $1,000,000 IN LITIGATION.

Long Protracted Case Is Finally Disposed of, Judgment Being Given in Favor of Red Cross and Lumber Co.

VANCOUVER, Dec. 8.—That Alvo von Alvensleben, of Vancouver, one time personal friend of the Kaiser, reputed millionaire wizard of finance and extensive property holder, whose close connection with the Prussian militarists at the outbreak of war and subsequent movements here and across the border occasioned sensational interest, is now in internment at Salt Lake City and that his confederates, Leybold and Ogden, are with him was the interesting disclosure made in supreme court yesterday. It confirms recent telegraph dispatches of his whereabouts.

The facts were made known in the final hearing of a long protracted case, when "Alvo" et al. by losing judgment, have forfeited a large block of valuable timber property on Vancouver Island, on which a million dollars had been paid.

The suit was that of the Red Cross and Lumber Company, against Alvo von Alvensleben, et al, which has been pending for the past two years, and which was finally disposed of by Chief Justice Hunter, judgment being given in favor of the plaintiffs for the amount claimed.

It was an action in which the plaintiffs originally sued for foreclosure of an agreement for sale for the purchase of a large block of timber on Vancouver Island. The original price was something over $2,000,000, and about $1,000,000 had been paid. A judgment for some $525,000 for payments due had been obtained. There remained something like 1,400,000, with the interest, which was payable in 1921.

The application for foreclosure was abandoned because it would have been in the nature of a forfeiture and the present action was taken for a declaration that the amounts due and owing should be a first lien on the property; that the property should be sold and that the plaintiffs be permitted to bid on it at the sale.

The order was made practically in the form asked for. The defense was not represented.

Shipyard Methods Discussed.
PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 8.—Methods to make shipyard work safer were discussed here today at a conference between the shipbuilders and O. P. Hoff, labor commissioner. Hoff recently completed a visit to most of the shipyards of the state in which he investigated the conditions under which shipbuilders were working. He declared today that he had found that none of the shipyards have provided any sort of railing to keep men from falling from scaffolding around ship hulls. This he considers the greatest point of danger.

RED CROSS ELECTION.

administration moved the chair appoint a committee of three from the floor to nominate ten members of the board of directors of the Umatilla County Red Cross, to represent the Pendleton division. The objector was recognized by the chair and pointed out that sixteen directors had been nominated and the nominations ratified, and the motion for the second board was out of order. The chair graciously asked the member making the motion for the second nominating committee to withhold the same for a time, and informed the member making the objections thereto that she had something that she thought would answer her objections, and thereupon called for a special committee the draft of a constitution and by-laws, the members at large having had no intimation whatsoever that such business was contemplated. Even members present were not supplied with copies of the draft; this act showing that a reorganization was the plan of the slate makers. Such a course was without precedent even in the annals of political sharp practice. The slate makers after eight and a half months in office had been busy in the interval between November 14th and November 28th attempting under misleading calls to reorganize the Umatilla County Chapter at the eleventh hour, and with much success for the slate. The constitution and by-laws drafted by the special committee were adopted, and according to the new dispensation the precipitate member making the motion for the second
