A novelty that is unique in its interest is the Paramount photoplay "Bab's Diary" fro mthefamous story by Mary Roberts Rinehart which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. Bab, the pretty boarding-school girl heroine tells of her experiences with a family which persists in treating her as a little girl and which she pretty thoroughly frightens by pretending to be engaged to someone they have never seen. The titles are taken from the original book and their charm lies in the droil spelling and malve charm of Bab's own script. This is probably the first time that the idea of filming a diary, page by page has been adopted. "Bab's Diary" starring Marguerite Clark, will be shown Sunday at the Pastime.

lie Austin which will be screened at the Cosy Sunday-Monday. The scenes shift from the ballroom and Yale college life to the rough and uncouth life of the miner. Sensational fires, hand to hand combats, a beautiful and faithful love all go to add interest to a delightful and entertaining story. In addition a clever comedy will also be shown.

ARGONAUTS OF CALIFORNIA. To Young People:

You want excitement, adventure and sensations that fairly "throband thrill." The "warm blood of youth" wants romance, it loves the glamor of the past and craves action in the present; all of this is found in "The Argonauts." Just as you love clean sport, you will love this picture. We do not want your money at the price of your character. We will build you up—not tear you down.

To Active Men and Women.

Rooted in life, you, demand its profitable recompense. Blood and thunder has been replaced by the realities of life. Satisfaction is now found in something gained. Poor entertainment is thrice paid for—money, time, opportunity. There's more in two hours of "The Argonauts" and sometimes of the modiste's art are seen in the many changes required by her role as the wife of a millionaire manufacturer.

Pastime Sunday and Monday than in days of reading. It's worth novelty that is unique in its in- your time and money several times

Camouflage.

The recent test in current events at the high school having shown that there is a wide variety of interpretations of the term "camouflage." we have been moved to indite a little Buildoggerel in elucidation.

Hear Ye, Hear Ye
When a lady pinks her pallid cheeks with little dabs of paint.

When a young dude pads his shoulders so they look like what they aint. Camouflage.

they aint. When a money-grabbing dollarcuat wears the halo of a saint. That's Camoullage.

When a thing that sold for two-bits is "marked down to 30 cents." When a corporation enters sligh as executive expense."
When the Germans say the ailles made them fight in self-de-

That's Camouflage.

When a liquor-lapping guzzler eats a clove to kill the smell,
When a man who seeks an office says he loves the people well.
When the kalser claims divinity for a soul that's born of Heil,
That's Camouflage.

What's In a Name.

There were some pretty smart farmers present at the Farmers Union convention and then sgass there were some who came from rethere were some who came from remote sections and are not up on city things. One of the latter, seeking a change from the convention oratory, wandered up town and was attracted by the posters in front of the Pastime theater. He evidently liked the looks of the advertising pictures but hesitated about going in. Finally he approached the girl in the window and said, "How much of the program can I see if I go in now." "Why, all of it," she said, "the show just started," "Then why do you say it is past time?" he asked. The girl didn't comprehend until he pointed to the sign "Pastime" on the ticket window, Ond he was in deaddd earnest. earnest.
