DIES 36 YEARS AFTER WINNING TITLE

John L. Sullivan, perhaps the greatest ring hero American lovers of the fight game have known, died of heart disease at his home at Abington, Mass., almost thirty-six years to a day after he had won the American heavyweight championship from Paddy Ryan. These photographs show Sullivan and Ryan about the time they fought, Feb. 7, 1882, at Mississippi City, Miss. In a bare knuckle contest under London Prize Ring Rules for the championship. The photo of Sullivan shows him at his very best, when he was hard and strong, and before dislocation had undermined his speed and endurance. For he it known that "John L." gained most of his popularity after this fight; he was really never at his best except for the three weeks immediately following it. The picture of Ryan was taken while he was training for the contest.

PASTIME TUESDAY WEDNESDAY

A SAGEBRUSH SIREN IS Louise Glaum IN Golden Rule Kate

She is the ruler of a dance hall in Paradise, Nev., during the mining days of the early west. She is quick with her gun and does not hesitate to use it. When the minister comes to clean-up the town she has him roped and brought to the dance hall. See one of the best westerners yet.

Umatilla county and will take up his duties at once. One of the first of these duties will be the making of a crop and farm labor survey of the county to the end that the farmers may be extended every assistance by the U. S. department of agriculture and the state labor commissioner in the supplying of labor.

Mr. Shroek was recommended as county agent by Paul V. Maris of O. A. C., who is in charge of the county agent work. He has been a practical farmer in Yamhill county, associate editor of the Western Farmer a writer for the Pacific Homestead and for the past two years has been doing special work in the O. A. C. extension department. He is considered very well equipped for the work he is undertaking.

He will be assisted in starting the farm survey by J. W. Brewer, farm help specialist. They will send out questionnaires to all farmers to secure accurate information upon the number of farm hands required and to secure data on the scope of farming here during the next year. All information secured will be treated as confidential.

FIRST POLICY SIGNED BY M'ADOO

The first war insurance policy signed by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo was handed by him to Secretary M. J. Kruman, the first man to be insured by Uncle Sam. The third man in the photo is the private secretary of Mr. McAdoo.

WILLYS-OVERLAND CARS New Willys-Six

Here is the Six of Sixes. A snappy five or seven passenger model — easy to handle, light, economical, mighty comfortable, having the advantages of higher priced Sixes, yet it comes absolutely complete at a lower price than any other Six of its size. Its smart body design is long and low—having lines of artistic simplicity. And the motor. This will warm the heart of every Six cylinder enthusiast in the country. You've heard all about fast getaways — smoothness—crawling and climbing on high. This Six does all that and then some. The wheelbase is 120 inches. It has cantilever springs and evenflow vacuum system with the gas tank in rear. Some Six. Yet the price is lower than any other six of its size. Now in our show room.

NEWS NOTES FROM THE ECHO COUNTRY

(East Oregonian Special.) ECHO, Feb. 12.—The funeral of Mrs. Martha Spike, the wife of Frank Spike, was held here yesterday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the M. E. church. Rev. John F. Cook conducted the services. A host of sorrowing friends followed the remains to their last resting place.

HELPS DIRECTOR GENERAL RUN AMERICAN RAILROADS

Miss Frances Hawthorne Brady of Washington, D. C., was the first woman named on the staff of William G. McAdoo, director general of American railroads. Miss Brady has been prominent in society in Washington, but she felt she would try to do something for the government so she sought a place in the railroad management.

A pleasant party was given by Mrs. Ivan W. Smith and Miss Viola Hazard at the home of the former on Friday evening. About thirty friends and neighbors were present.

The Commercial club gave another of their enjoyable dances on Friday night at the city hall. Fletcher's Jazz Orchestra of Pendleton furnished the music.

Army Men Well Cared For. Jas. McLaughlin, Jr., who is in the 32nd Aero Squadron, Hazelhurst Field No. 1, Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y., writes home to his parents that he is in very comfortable quarters and has the best of medical care.

Mrs. W. W. Howell is visiting with friends in North Yakima, Wash.

Owen McLaughlin was down from Pendleton and spent the week end with his parents.

John Young is in Portland taking a course in mechanics at the Adcock Automobile and Gas school. His brother, Ora Young, is also in Portland visiting with friends.

Jimmy Kouzes came down Saturday morning from Pendleton where he has been in the hospital since losing his foot in the hand car accident at Nolin.

Judge H. J. Benn of Salem is visiting with his son Hawley Benn on their Meadows farm.

Warren R. Parker of Idaho, Idaho, is in Echo. He came down to attend the funeral of Mrs. Frank Spike.

One of the differences between men and women is that men have to die to become angels.

Yesterday afternoon the Red Cross class of Mrs. Walter Planting established a new record for garment making. Nineteen pairs of pajamas were completed and a half dozen more were partially completed during the few hours the workers met. Any class want to try to beat this?

"GOLDEN RULE KATE" STARS LOUISE GLAUM

Louise as a ruler of a dance hall in Paradise, Nev., during the mining days of the early west is the star of "Golden Rule Kate," a Telcelite play which will be shown at the Pastime theater Tuesday and Wednesday.

Like the male gunfighters of the screen, Miss Glaum proves quick on the draw, unscrupulous in dealing with her enemies, but on the level when it comes to the square-deal life of the land. Whenever a dispute arises she brings order by drawing a gun and making a few well-chosen remarks. When a minister opens a church in the town, she feels that her franchise is being infringed upon and tells him plainly that she will not permit any competition to her resort, even though competition may be supplied only by a choir and wheezy organ. The minister finally concedes and she orders her to attend church. She replies that she will spend Sunday at his "delight" if he'll tend her for one hour each day at home. This curious compact proves the turning point in the life of the sagebrush siren.

Benjamin Barker directed the production. In the cast are Jack Gilbert, Gertrude Claire, Mildred Harris, William Condon, Jack Richardson and J. P. Looney.

WILL MAKE COUNTY FARM LABOR SURVEY

M. S. Shroek of McMinnville was yesterday afternoon confirmed by the county court as county agent for the cliff they may find a footing that will lead to safety.

The fate of these two young people, swinging helplessly above the mountain chasm, is thrillingly told in the sixth episode of "The Fighting Trail." Greater Vitaphone's astonishing serial of adventure, intrigue and romance, set in the great outdoors and which will be the attraction in the "Cosy" theater for today.

William Duncan, strong man of photoplay, and Miss Carol Holloway, who made her reputation risking life and limb before the camera, are the stars in this great production, in which more than ninety-five per cent of the scenes are taken in the open, in the mountains and deserts of Southern California and Nevada.

Escaping to Hidden Ledge She Is Swung Down Side of Mountain by Her Fighting Lover and Lands Safely.

Trapped in deserted mine in the wildest bosoms of the Sierra Nevada mountains, a man and a girl, dodging in the darkness the constant perils of cave-ins and yawning shafts, are beset by mountain lions and huge snakes. He carries her for miles along the gloomy tunnels to a secret opening on a narrow ledge. Braving almost certain death, they make a chain fast to a rock on the ledge and swing over the ledge hoping that somewhere along the sheer face of
