HER HEAVEN.

I shall be young again—and pretty enough
To make the saints smile at me as I pass
With swift, white feet across the heavenly grass.

I shall be gay and careless, and my heart,
Forever like some hidden bird shall sing
Of some approaching and most lovely thing.

Surely, a thought absurd, unorthodox,
To enter through an office door or come
Grossly, as the subway crowds rush home.

There is a mirror in my lodging house
Stained here and there with lines like slanting rain,
That shows a woman neat and tired and plain.

But in that mirror that no other sees
I watch sometimes the girl in paradise—
Pretty—and young—with laughter in her eyes.
—Theodosia Garrison

WASHINGTON

A whole nation today honors the first president of the first of the world democracies. George Washington refused a kingship because he realized the great truth for which today America and her allies are engaged in bloody struggle, namely that representative government is the only government which is honest and just. In the spirit world his soul must rejoice to see the oneness with which his people are responding to the call to preserve the principles upon which he and his noble compatriots founded this republic. As Willie Weston's war song has it:

If Washington were living today,
With sword in hand he'd stand up and say,
For your country and my country,
I'd do it all over again.

THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE

THE organization of a central committee to pass upon, supervise and direct future war drives in Umatilla county is natural, logical and thoroughly proper. The nation's first business nowadays is war and the central committee plan is but the putting of the war activities of this community on a business basis.

With the calls for funds growing increasingly frequent, it is no longer good business to form a loose organization each time a drive is started. Such a haphazard way of answering the calls permits of duplication, extreme inequity in the distribution of the burden, and of excess enthusiasm which sees only the immediate objective. Generosity is a fine thing and it is gratifying to know that we are giving more than any of our neighbors but there is just a possibility that someone is going to impose upon our generosity. A permanent organized committee can not only see to it that this community meets all of its just obligations but can also protect the community from exploitation because of the fine record made in the past.

Moreover, such a committee puts a responsible face in all drives for funds. If there are any charges of misdirection, extravagance or dishonesty in the conduct of these campaigns, the community now knows on whom to call for an answer. There can be no such thing as "passing the buck."

Incidentally, the central committee is planning to keep a permanent record of all contributions which the individual makes to various funds. Such a record can not only furnish the campaigners with a knowledge of the givers and non-givers but it will in after years prove who were the patriots and who were the slackers among those who did not go to the battlefield.

THE SACRIFICES OF THE RICH

PITIFUL tales of the hardships which this war is bringing to the rich are beginning to be told in the press. Only yesterday there appeared dispatches telling of the privations forced upon two of our millionaire ladies by a cruel and heartless government.

Miss Lolita Armour wanted to make a trip from Chicago to San Francisco and she made the perfectly simple request of the government to permit her to travel in her private car. McAdoo, with no consideration at all for the feelings of this daughter of ham nobility, refused, and for the first time in her life the young lady was forced to travel in an ordinary Pullman.

On the same day Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt asked that she be permitted to travel in her private car from New York to Camp Wadsworth where her husband is a colonel of engineers. McAdoo here also turned a deaf ear to her entreaties even though she declared she would gladly pay 40 fares, the capacity of her car being 40. She, too, must go in an ordinary Pullman if she feels she must see her husband.

Such an unfeeling railroad rule, one that makes no discrimination between common clay and the gold crusted, is almost in a class with lese majesty. Why shouldn't those who have the money to pay be favored if they are willing to pay the price? It matters not that thousands are suffering from cold, and factories are idle because of the congestion in transportation facilities? It matters not that the government needs every bit of its rolling stock and more for pushing the shipment of war stuffs? What is all this to the disgust to say nothing of the discomfort that these orchid ladies must feel in associating with the common herd, breathing the same air, sleeping in the same car and eating at the same tables with men and women who work?

Mrs. Vanderbilt meets the government's objections with an offer to pay for the privilege of traveling alone in elegant privacy. She is the kind who would try to assuage with gold the grief of a mother whose babe her auto had run down. Gold is her god, but she has yet to learn that the government is not operating the railroads, is not regulating food prices and consumption, is not gathering huge armies, is not bending all her vast energies to war for gold.

Before this war is over she may learn something of that democracy for the privation of which America has dedicated herself to the last dollar of her wealth and the last drop of her blood.

28 YEARS AGO

(From the Daily East Oregonian, Feb. 22, 1890.)

Mr. J. W. McCormack, the well known farmer is reported to be lying at the point of death at his home north of Pendleton.

W. L. Giverson, the handsomest man in Pendleton has resigned his position in Ladd & Tilton's bank to accept the chief clerkship in the county recorder's office.

The Pendleton Dramatic Association composed of Pendleton's most prominent ladies and gentlemen, will produce "Ten Nights in a Barroom" in the near future.

Portland people are buying more Pendleton property than are local capitalists themselves.

The mercury registered four degrees below the zero mark at an early hour this morning.

Frank Gillars and Homer Hambo have returned from their mountain hunt. Five fine deer were brought down from their rifles.

THRIFT IS SHOWN AS HIGH OFFICIALS EAT $1.50 DINNER

Directors of War Savings Campaign Attend Banquet in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Directors of the war savings campaign gave a demonstration of thrift last night when they sat down to a dinner at $1.50 a plate, instead of one that ordinarily might have cost $6 a plate in ordinary circumstances. Secretary McAdoo, Postmaster General Burleson, Robert F. Herriek, Russell P. Blackett of the British treasury, Frank A. Vanderbilt and state directors of the campaign sat down to a dinner of soup, chicken, two vegetables and ice cream. After they smoked their limit of one cigar each they talked on financing the war.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

SAYS BACKACHE IS SIGN YOU HAVE BEEN EATING TOO MUCH MEAT

When you wake up with a backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and lousy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them. Like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizziness, spells, your stomach sour, tongue coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water seals and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jod Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before eating breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jod Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inoperative, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

Swindled Govt. Is Charge.
NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Eleven manufacturers and handlers of cloth here were indicted by the federal grand jury, charged with defrauding the government out of uniform cloth worth five million. It is alleged they falsified records, stole the cloth and sold it.
