DEFEAT BACKACHE AND KIDNEY TROUBLE WITH ANURIC.

Many people in this section have suffered in rheumatism and kidney trouble and have found Anuric to be the most successful remedy ever known. These painful and dangerous ailments. The lucky people are those who have suffered, but who are now well because they heeded Nature's warning signal in time to correct their troubles with this wonderful new discovery of Dr. Pierce's called Anuric. You should promptly heed these warnings, some of which are dizzy spells, backache, irregularity of the action of the genital trivages of rheumatism, retention of uric acid. To delay may make possible the dangerous forms of kidney disease, such as Bright's disease, diabetes or stone in the bladder.

To overcome these distressing conditions you should take plenty of exercise in the open air, avoid a heavy meat diet, drink freely of water and at each meal take Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets (double strength). You will, in a short time, find that you are one of the firm adepts of Anuric, as are many of your neighbors.

Send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 30 cents for trial package.

SPRING TREATMENT

Necessary to Purify Blood and Correct Weak, Run-Down Conditions. Trying weather, exposure to storms, the grip, hard colds, pneumonia, fevers, diphtheria and other blood-poisoning, prostrating diseases leave the whole system sub-normal—body far weaker and slower—blood depleted and thin, with that tired feeling, poor appetite, backache, rheumatic pains, delicate digestive power, or almost none at all. The ideal treatment is Hood's Sarsaparilla—to be taken before meals—thoroughly to purify the blood and expel poisons, and a Pepton—to be taken after meals—to put power into the blood, give strength, increase red corpuscles and restore tone, and do it quickly. If there is biliousness, constipation, bad taste in the mouth, or "the blues," the Liver is torpid. Take Hood's Pills, see that the liver and relieve it. Hood's Pills are perfectly compatible with Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pepton.

FOURTH ORDINANCE CLASS BEGINNING TO ASSEMBLE

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, March 5.—The fourth ordinance class in the school of commerce is now beginning to assemble on the university campus for the six weeks course of instruction opening on Monday, March 11. Most of the students have been recruited from Montana, Idaho and Washington. The percentage of Oregon men in fourth are not nearly so great as in the three former classes. This will be the biggest ordinance class ever formed at the university, and will consist of 30 men.

The men will be uniformed and fully equipped before coming to Eugene. The class will be on a strictly military basis as the members must be mustered into the service before beginning their studies.

Least desirable in charge of the course has been advised by the war department that if any of the men selected for this or any future training course fail to report they will be placed on a black list and prevented from entering the ordinance service as long as the war lasts. He has been furnished with a list of names of men who have failed to report at other universities and has been required to forward similar lists from Oregon.

TRAINING LITTLE CHILDREN

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergarten teachers. Issued by The United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and The National Kindergarten Association, New York, N. Y.

Article I—Walks and Talks Afford Opportunities for Teaching Facts at First Hand and in Interesting Ways.

BY MRS. BERTHA EMBELIN. From about the age of 1 and extending indefinitely through childhood years, there is no more valuable aid for the mother who desires to promote the well-being of her children than walks and talks. It is usually most difficult for the home-keeping mother to find sufficient leisure—rather, uninterrupted leisure—to concentrate on work or play with her children. We are all only too familiar with the interruptions of the butcher, the banker, the telephone, the friendly neighbor, which break in repeatedly and often "give up" in despair.

When you leave your home and go to the city or to the country, you realize that you have found a way in which you can do with freedom. Come, let us live with our children. These walks and talks can be useful both to the city mother and the country mother, though it will be easily seen that the country mother has the advantage in this respect. The city mother will have to substitute for the suggestions below, the city park, the river or lake, from visits to the large factories, museum and historical points of interest. You can make the walks as long or short as your leisure permits; you can plan them for every day or every other day, morning or afternoon; and after a month's trial you will begin to realize their value for yourself as much as for the children. The time you spend in the great outdoors will take you away from the pettiness of the household and one trifles that continually intrude themselves upon your attention while you remain within four walls, and they will be equally uplifting in taking the little ones away—especially in this time of small towns—from the petty small talk that emanates from the porch and the front stoop, and passes along the sidewalks from house to house and from child to child.

It is well for you to decide upon your destination before you call the children with "let's go to the pond today!"—or "This is a great day for the woods!" A playmate or two taken along occasionally and frequently if you have just one child will lend additional zest to the walks and will enlarge your opportunities of getting better acquainted, not only with the playmate, but with your own children in relation to their playmates. In the case of very young children, places very near home will serve as well as the more distant spots which are usually more attractive to the other children. The point of the stream under the bridge or the water front, the beach, or the rocky boulder that can be scaled, or the woods—near them out in your vicinity. Try every road and see where it leads to. The adjoining town, if it be within two or three miles, makes a splendid objective point with older children, and a ready rule will bring you back should time or fatigue make it necessary.

Try to forget all your grown-up dignity on these walks, especially if it be in a country road, and have as much fun and laughter as the children are ready for. Wear only stout shoes and "roughing" clothes. Sometimes "rough" the children to take staves, or a hick, or a redwood, a wisp of waving ears, or a sled, a hoop, or horse pins. All these will provide additional attraction when the children seem loath to leave their street play. These walks will develop your children physically, fully as much as any systematic exercises, and the variety of "stunts" that will be initiated along the road will outlast you. In some of them you may join; others will teach you to have control of your nerves, while the children develop strength and independence thereby.

concerned, you need almost very little; the children will initiate as much as there are time and energy for. There will be walking forward and backward, sometimes with eyes shut, sometimes on stone walls and in ditches, there will be running, skipping, hopping, jumping from different heights, shuffling and sliding, eddies, "puffing masses," rolling, stone throwing and stick-throwing into ponds and trees, and tree-climbing. That the "walks and talks" are a great mental stimulus is readily apparent, when one reflects for a moment upon the opportunities for asking and answering questions that seldom arise in the school room; the opportunities to observe public work that is being done away from one's immediate neighborhood; the road-building, the digging of trenches and laying of mains, the setting and taking down of telegraph poles, the operation of the switch towers near the railroad bridge, the regulation of traffic, the construction of buildings. There is a deepening of sense impressions there is nothing in the common use of good English in conversation, and story-telling by the way-side; there is reading and dramatization in the woods and in the shady nooks and on the rocks; benefits that add so much in creating a congenial atmosphere for the play of the imagination, and last but not least—perhaps the most valuable feature—there is a tremendous field for developing a knowledge of nature's workshop. Perhaps some concrete illustrations will serve to show purpose.

Sense Training. Stand still a few moments with eyes shut; later intently, then tell what was heard. Look intently in all directions, close eyes, and tell what was seen. Name objects (rocks, flowers, twigs, etc.) by touch alone with eyes shut. Point to every bird's nest observed on the walk. Find all the maple trees along one road. By taking one tree at a time you will soon be surprised to discover how many trees you and the children can name. These walks will also contribute to spiritual growth in so many instances. They will afford a basis of contentment that with the older years is not readily outgrown, and many fond memories will cluster around these little trips. Perhaps the same walks, though less frequent in the adolescent years, may afford opportunity for the same training.
