A SUN-DIAL

is a useful article—when you can use it.

But it won't work when it's raining, or snowing, or after dark. You must have a watch to use then.

It's the same way with trucks. Some trucks are all right while the sun is shining, but they won't work in the rain and mud.

The DUPLEX 4-WHEEL DRIVE works 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, rain or snow, sand or gravel, level or hilly. That is why so many Duplex Trucks are in use in Eastern Oregon wheat fields, in logging camps, and road-building in the Northwest.

EDITOR OF NEWSPAPER AT LYLE IS MISSING

MR. HOLSMAN BORROWS GUN TO GO HUNTING AND FAILS TO RETURN.

Foul Play is Feared; Disappearance Will be Investigated; Man Recently Elected to Place in Schools.

GOLDENDALE, Wash., Mar. 25.—Word reached Goldendales this afternoon that Editor Holzman, of the Lyle News, has been reported missing since last Friday, on which day he borrowed a gun of W. V. Crane, supposedly to go hunting. As he has not returned and nothing has been heard from him, there is much conjecture as to whether he met with an accident or took his life.

The Lyle News was recently established by Mr. Holzman, and he has stated that he was doing well. There was an issue of the paper last week, which should have come out on Friday.

The missing man had been elected to take charge of the manual training department of the Lyle schools last week, and supplies had been ordered for him. He is a man of family. The disappearance is being investigated.

Wife Finally Located

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Mar. 25.—After search which has taken him 10,000 miles John Wells of Moose Jaw Canada, has found his wife, Mrs. Betsy Wells, here. On his complaint she was arrested, together with Harry Collins, mill employe, who has been residing at her home. Mrs. Wells asserts Mr. Collins is Jessie Williams of Everett, Wash. where he has a wife and family. Mrs. Wells was visiting Everett when the two disappeared last September.

Wage Question Settled

BEND, Ore., March 26.—Following two conferences yesterday afternoon and evening, a satisfactory settlement of the timber worker's wage question was reached in an agreement signed by Roy Southworth and Ray Canterbury of the local timber worker's union and J. P. Keyes, T. A. McCann and A. J. Kroenert, representing the Brooks-Scanlon, Shevlin-Hixon and Pine Tree mills, respectively.

The principal item in the statement is that all employes in this section receive the same wages as those in effect in February before the government made the eight hour day ruling. This means that the men will receive the old 19 hour pay for the new eight hour day.

Car Safe is Robbed

ABERDEEN, Wash., Mar. 26.—The safe of the Grays Harbor Railway and Light company, at its car barns at Electric park, was broken open early this morning and $950 in cash stolen. No clew has been found. At 7:05 o'clock a call came to Night Watchman Kingstad, at the car barns, that an accident had occurred at shipyards, and he was asked to rush a streetcar there as soon as possible. He left the barn with a car immediately, but but upon arriving at the shipyards learned there had been no accident. Upon his return he found the safe open and contents gone.

CANDIDATES FILING FOR COUNTY OFFICES

The spring weather is beginning to bring the candidates out. The first filings of candidates for county offices were made yesterday when County Clerk R. T. Brown, County Recorder B. S. Burroughs and County Treasurer Grace Gilliam all filed for renomination by the republican at the primaries in May.

The last date for filing is April 17 and, before that time, it is anticipated that nearly all of the present incumbents will have entered their names as candidates for re-election. The terms of Sheriff Taylor, Commissioner Cockburn, Circuit Judge Phelps Coroner Brown and Surveyor Kimball end this year and, with the exception of Cockburn, all are expected to seek re-election.

SAT ON DYNAMITE WHEN TRYING TO JOIN MARINES

LANCASTER, Pa., March 26.—Sergeant Gande, of the local U. S. Marine Corps recruiting station, is still suffering from the shock he experienced, recently, when Oliver F. Shields, of Marietta, Ohio, ambled into his office and set down a big package of dynamite and a battery to discharge it. "Mornin', Sarge," he said casually, "How's biz in the Marine Corps?"

Gande realized that this was no time nor place for discussing recruiting business so he hastily backed the Mariettian into a corner and made preparations for a hasty get-away.

"Say, can the rough stuff," cried Shields, "I'm not a German spy, that's dynamite for a plant at home where I work. I came here to enlist."

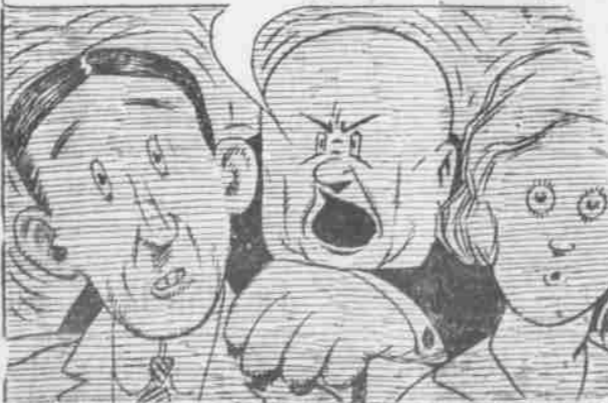

Then Sergeant Gande and Oliver Shields sat down and talked "business," the result of which later found Shields on his way to Paris Island, S. C., to train as a member of the Marine Corps.

Events are working together to put the blame where the blame belongs—in Russia on the false philosophies that have deluded the eager people and in the rest of Europe on the scheme of life that has sent one race raving mad with the lust for power. The lesson will be so plain that even the wayfaring man, though a fool, will discern it.

The F-W-D is the original four-wheel drive TRUCK

The basic patents are the property of F-W-D makers. F-W-D Trucks have been manufactured for nine years, and are in use in 18 countries of the world. The largest single order for trucks ever placed by the U. S. Government—12,000—was given for F-W-D Trucks, 75 others competing.

A Demonstration Will Prove That The F-W-D is economical. The F-W-D is ABSOLUTELY DEPENDABLE. The F-W-D always has at instant command more power than is needed. The F-W-D will climb ANY hill with less gear changing and less fuel expenditure than any other truck. The F-W-D is easy to handle. The F-W-D will go through deep sand, mud holes, ruts and rough places where a rear drive could not get traction. The F-W-D will turn corners on slippery pavements without skidding. Traction on four wheels, brake on four wheels and equalization of load are insurance against this danger. The F-W-D will not get into traffic difficulties. The F-W-D has so many demonstrable points of superiority of four-wheel drive construction that every truck user owes it to himself to become familiar with them. The LOGICAL, OBVIOUS, DEPENDABLE DRIVE IS THE FOUR-WHEEL DRIVE, as correctly applied in F-W-D trucks.
