THE NEW LIFE.

This is an intermission. Time stands still.

And we—as lost as children in a haze—

To take from some heritage of other days

Forgotten faith and unsuspected will;

We have gone back like children, to our knees,

And we have learned the sad and splendid pride

Of those whose dearest gloriously died.

Knowing our own face death across the seas.

Oh, after this—when joy bells ring out peeps,

And home our war-tired heroes come again,

Shall we not you ourselves, when war shall cease,

To a new life? And prove that not in vain

We saw the Prussian sword drawn from its sheath

And neutral lands and children—fall beneath!

—Zoe Adkins.

DELL BLANCETT

KILLED in battle while fighting bravely for the allied cause Dell Blancett is assured in the hearts of all Pendletonians a fame that fittingly tops his notable record as a Round-Up participant. He is, from information at hand, the first Pendleton man to be slain in battle. It is a distinction that is heightened by the fact he fought under a foreign flag after being rejected, on physical grounds, as a volunteer in the American army. His action showed an eagerness for service in accord with the best traditions of America and the spirited west of which he was a part. He was a bold and picturesque character and it may be taken, for granted that he rode to his death with the same fearlessness he displayed on many occasions here. This may not be the time for it, but some time in some way Pendleton should provide a fitting memorial for this man who died in a noble cause. In the meantime let his sacrifice steel our souls with the one thought of triumph over a foe that despoiled the peace and happiness of the world and has made it necessary for men like this to die in order that the torch of freedom may be kept aloft.

SERVICE OR PROFITEERING?

THOSE concerned in the beef situation, either from the standpoint of consumer or producer will be interested in governmental figures with reference to stocks of frozen and cured beef now on hand as compared with the supplies a year ago.

The total stocks of frozen beef reported by 375 storages on April 1, 1918, amounted to 280,964,662 pounds, while the total stocks reported by 283 storages on March 1, 1918, amounted to 275,254,692 pounds. The reports of 322 storages show stocks of 250,868,255 pounds on April 1, 1918, as compared with 154,192,972 pounds on April 1, 1917, an increase of 62.7 per cent. The reports of 360 storages show that the stocks increased 3.2 per cent during March, 1918, while the reports of 295 storages show stocks decreased 18.7 per cent during March 1917.

The total stocks of cured beef reported by 372 storages on April 1, 1918, amounted to 24,362,022 pounds, while the total stocks reported by 366 storages on March 1, 1918, amounted to 27,466,731 pounds. The reports of 326 storages show stocks of 22,954,304 pounds on April 1, 1918, as compared with 30,601,407 pounds on April 1, 1917, an increase of 7.7 per cent. The reports of 351 storages show that the stocks decreased 4.1 per cent during March, 1918, while the reports of 302 storages show stocks decreased 15.9 per cent during March, 1917.

It will be seen from the foregoing that there is approximately twice as much frozen beef on hand now as there was last year and that the supply increased during March whereas the supply decreased during March, 1917.

Is this additional storage work for the purpose of meeting the government's needs or does it represent a certain character of food hoarding with price boosting intent?

FIRST CALL TO HOME CANNERS!

CAN all you can, in any way you can, at any time you can, urges the Cooking Editor of the Woman's Home Companion, who says in the May number:

"There were unpatriotic rumors last fall that the whole canning effort was a failure. A woman, trained and experienced in domestic science, followed up these reports of spoilage, traveling from one end of the country to the other, and she found the enormous amount of canning done by American women successful beyond all expectation.

"Last year was a splendid beginning; but we must make a bigger, better record for 1918. The need for conserving food is even greater, and there must be an increase. While the earth is warm and gardens and fields are producing food, we must provide for the cold and hunger of winter. "Millions of glass jars were manufactured, sold and used last season. These jars will now be standing, clean and empty, in rows on closet shelves all over the country. Every one that is filled again will be ammunition to help win the war. Though the war were suddenly ended, the need for food would be just as great.

"Let no one do less than last year. "Raise, can and dry, dry and can what you can raise—for yourself, for your family, and

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. One and 25c per box. All druggists.

stationed as follows: Rear Admiral Niblack, in the south; Rear Admiral Hugh Rodman, in command of battleships; Rear Admiral Herbert O. Dunn, on special duty; Rear Admiral Henry B. Wilson, in France. Uncle Sam can't be too definite and specific about it but if you have a boy in naval service over there, this will show you his commanders.

for your neighbor who will need help. Use all the garden produce that is required for the daily table, but no more, and preserve the rest for future use by any method that is safest and most convenient to you."

The Russellites with their anti war views should be sent into Germany to convert the heathen there. Germany needs their propaganda; the United States does not.

Some Good Advice

"Don't think too much of your own methods. Watch other people's ways and learn from them." This is good advice, especially when bilious or constipated. You will find many people who use Chamberlain's Tablets for these ailments with the best results, and will do well to follow their example.

HUN IS CONVICTED OF USING MOVIE AS PROPAGANDA

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The first German movie propagandist convicted at Los Angeles has been reported by the department of justice. It was said the offender, found guilty under the espionage act, might get the limit sentence of 20 years.

The department received word by telegraph that Robert Goldstein had been convicted by a jury before Judge Bledsoe in the United States court for the southern district of California of showing a seditious film and soliciting German financial support for it.

The film, called "The Spirit of '76" depicted British soldiers in the revolution bayonetting babies, massacring civilians, dragging off young American girls and, in general, doing those things the German soldiers have done in Belgium and France.

The censors have been evaded by eliminating the meretricious parts at the official exhibition, but Judge Bledsoe was present when the entire film was shown.

Harry Van Dyke, former American minister to The Netherlands, and now a chaplain in the United States service, has composed an additional stanza for the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Here it is:

"We have passed the cry of anguish from the victims of the Hun

"And we know our country's peril if the war's lord's will is done—

"We will fight for world-wide freedom till the victory is won;

"For God is marching on."

40,000 MEN WANTED FOR MARINE CORPS

Washington, D. C., April 20, 1918. Editor East Oregonian:

You have been more than kind in the past in carrying Marine Corps announcements and I am going to appeal to you once more to assist us. The war department has authorized an additional brigade of Marines for duty in France with its necessary replacement units and 40,000 enlistments are urgently needed, 8,000 of whom are desired during the month of May. The Marine Corps will not lower its standard. We want only young men of spirit, health and stamina. There will probably be 1,300 additional commissioned officers in the Marine Corps and every one of these commissions will be given to enlistees. The Marine Corps is equipped to quickly and thoroughly train the new recruits. The corps has a glorious history and inculcates a wonderful esprit. This is probably the last chance of those young Americans who have become of age since last June to choose this branch of the service. None are wanted but American citizens of at least eighteen years of age and who have the fighting spirit. Your cooperation is earnestly requested. I again thank you for your help in the past.

GEORGE BARNETT, Major General Commandant.

In the meantime the fragments of split infinitives are falling as far as Chicago.

GUN WORKED BY CREW IN MOTLEY GARB

LONDON, April 22.—During one of the recent air-raids, the largest anti-aircraft gun in the London district was worked by a gunlayer armed cap-a-pie in medieval plate armor, a breech-worker clad in chain mail, and a sighter attired in silk tights and a velvet coat.

The reason for this motley attire was that the alarm came while the gun-crew were taking part in some amateur theatricals in their barracks, and they rushed off the stage in their medieval attire, straight to their duties on the gun platform.

Courage—and keep on with the war work!

DR. HARRY A. GARFIELD United States Fuel Administrator

Says: "Order your next winter's fuel now. The great danger of a fuel shortage next winter lies in the habit of putting off ordering until fall, and under present conditions Oregon may experience a fuel shortage next winter due to a labor shortage, and the lack of cars sufficient to meet the normal seasonal demands. Fill the woodshed, and fill the coal bin—and do it now."
