LAZINESS OF JANITOR SAVES LIVES OF HUNDREDS

LONDON, April 25.—A janitor's laziness probably saved the lives of 300 at a South Coast town recently. The basement of a church was being used as a raid shelter. On the first night of a series of raids the shelter was jammed with people. But the next night the janitor failed to show up and the shelter seekers scurried elsewhere. During the raid a bomb crashed through the roof, completely demolishing the building. Only the sign advising that shelter was available remained intact.

Nationwide Strike by Telegraphers Feared

CHICAGO, April 25.—President Koenigkamp of the Commercial Telegraphers union today announced that instructions for a nationwide strike are being prepared. He wired Carlin, president of the Western Union Gompers and government officials to try for a resolution not involving the right to organize.

Detailed Price Not Yet Fixed for Wool

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Measures have been taken to "control all wool" officials of the war industries board stated today after a conference with woolgrowers. It is unknown whether or not outright seizure will be resorted to. It will depend on the attitude of the growers. The basic price has been agreed on, but it is stated that differentials have not been worked out.

Forty Nine Names on Today's Casualty List

GENERAL HAIG HOLDS PECULIAR DISTINCTION

Sir Douglas Haig, supreme commander of the British armies on the west front is 54 years old. "Dougie," as the Tommies call him, was born at Eife on June 19, 1861. He comes of an old Scotch family, famed for their fighting qualities in the old days of border warfare.

WRECKED FRENCH PLANE KILLS GERMAN WHO FORCED IT DOWN

By HENRY WOOD (United Press Staff Correspondent.) WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, March 15. (By Mail.)—In the diary of a German sergeant just taken prisoner on the French front has been found recorded another one of those almost fantastic tragedies of fate with which the present war unquestionably abounds, but of which very few ever come to public knowledge. Aviation, especially, has been rife with these examples of what seems a veritable lightning-like stroke of retributive justice.

Such was the death of Geymer. It fell to the lot of the world's greatest "ace" who had officially brought down fifty-four German airplanes, and at least twenty more the destruction of which could not be officially confirmed, to be brought down by a German aviator who never before had brought down a single machine. Yet before the victor, Lieutenant Wisemann by name, could even receive the Iron Cross for his deed, he himself was brought down to death by Lieutenant Ponck.

Somewhat similar is the stroke of destiny recorded in the diary of Sergeant Thielman of the Third Company of the Thirty-sixth Regiment of the 113th Division of German infantry. The entries of the diary were written in Alsace on the German front facing Mulhouse. For two consecutive days they are as follows: "March 11.—A little after 11, we had a beautiful spectacle; an enemy airplane was brought down by one of our own planes just in front of our third line. "The French plane was mounted by a lieutenant who has been struck by three bullets; one in the left arm, one in the right hand and a rebounding one which has lodged in his chest. "In spite of his wounds the French lieutenant manly held out and all but succeeded in passing our lines before he was forced to drop to the ground. The moment his machine reached earth, the lieutenant leaped out, but was quickly arrested. They say he was terribly chagrined at his capture. A moment afterwards the French artillery opened fire and an under-officer was killed. "March 12.—The German aviator who brought down a French plane in front of us yesterday has found a tragic end. During the night it was decided to take apart the French machine which he had brought down and which was still in good condition. The German aviator was present. "As the machine was up-side-down, it had to be turned over. "At the moment of doing so, the machine gun on the airplane was set in action and a bullet from it killed the German aviator who happened to be standing just in front of it.

SHIELDS BURY SERGEANT ALIVE—PREVENT RESCUE

By Fred S. Ferguson WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY NEAR LUNEVILLE, April 25.—He was a sergeant from New York, and his bunkies will tell you he was one of the gamest men the army ever saw. The liege had been shelling a position he was in all day long. He had taken refuge in a dugout. It was hit by a shell and he was buried in the debris. The shelling continued so hot his mates did not dare try to rescue him. Twenty-four hours later with pick and shovel flying they found him. To the surprise of everyone the sergeant was still alive. He had been extricated down to the waist, his legs still being held fast in the dirt and concrete. The mud was wiped from his face and he was given a drink of water. His rescuers were hurrying up with more shovels and digging frantically to free him. He opened his eyes. "Alright boys, don't worry on my account and don't expose yourselves," he said. "I guess I'm not hurt, and you don't want to take any chances." Just then another shell broke. A ton of earth caved in—with the sergeant beneath it. It is his grave.

"BLOOD AND IRON"

Every man and woman who would enjoy good health this Spring, and would have such life and vigor, must have an abundance of iron in the blood. The new iron tonic, Peppinon, combines this valuable metal in medicinal form so that it is easily absorbed and readily assimilated. Peppinon also includes peppin, nux, celery, gentian and other tonics—nerve helps, digestives and carminatives—a health-giving medicine in the form of chocolate-coated pills, convenient and pleasant to take. It has given entire satisfaction in cases of anemia or thin blood, paleness, nerve debility, brain-fog. One or two Peppinon after each meal will quickly tell a story of marvellous results. Peppinon is prepared by its originator, C. L. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass., Alta Today.

one sale the Boche rang up without getting the money" said a boy from Dayton as he took off his tin hat and pointed to a shiny spot on the crown. He went over the top with the men of the Ohio regiment when they made their raid on March 9. While coming back the German artillery opened up with a barrage. There was a burst of shrapnel near the Dayton boy. His life was saved by his tin hat. A piece of the shell struck the hat and bounced off. "You ought to have heard it ring," the Dayton soldier went on. "It sounded like all the cash registers in the shops at home being rung up. But the Boche missed his sale."

American Regiment Gets Croix de Guerre

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY, LORRAINE, April 26.—The French general will Sunday decorate with the Croix de Guerre the colors of the American regiment which defeated the five day attack by picked Germans northwest of Toul a fortnight ago. Individual members will also be decorated. This is the first time in history that an American regiment received the French war cross.

Bell Telephone Volunteers

More than 7,000 employes of the Bell System are now enrolled or in actual military service, including fourteen battalions of Signal Corps reserves. Many Bell employes are members of the Federalized National Guard or of the Naval Coast Defense Reserve.

Over ten per cent. of the male employes of the company are now or soon will be engaged in active military service. A large proportion of these Bell System volunteers are telephone engineers and technically trained men. They leave gaps in the Bell ranks not easily filled. There is not a man of them who has not proved his loyalty in the service of the public, and not a man who will not give unreservedly the same large measure of devotion wherever the path of duty leads.

One of our great problems, incident to the war, has been to readjust our organization to meet this heavy loss to our working forces, and at the same time to take care of the tremendous increase in telephone traffic with as little impairment to the service as possible.
