CLASS ONE MEN TO RECEIVE COURTESIES

Commercial Club Rooms Open to Draft Men; Meetings Set.

Hereafter, departing drafted men, troops here on furlough and all men in the service of Uncle Sam who chance to be in Pendleton for a few hours or days are to be given the recognition and entertainment their due. All are to be extended the privileges of the Commercial and Elk clubs and each group of men called under the selective service law will be given a smoker before departure for training camps.

These things were provided for at the meeting of the Commercial Association last evening upon the recommendation of the executive board of the Umatilla County Patriotic Service League. Roy Raley, speaking for the board, called attention to Pendleton and Umatilla county's delinquency in the matter of entertaining men called for service. Such recognition as has been given has been more or less spasmodic and unorganized, he stated, while some groups had been permitted to go without being noticed by the public. He blamed this oversight not to indifference but to the failure of anyone to take the lead.

Upon his motion the association voted enthusiastically to grant the privileges of the club rooms to all men in Class 1 after they are called, to all men in the service who may be here on furlough or stationed here and the carrying out of the motion was left in the hands of the entertainment committees of the Commercial Association and Elks' Club. Judge Phelps, speaking for the Elks, declared the lodge was in full sympathy with the move.

A second motion left to the entertainment committee of the Commercial Association the matter of providing a smoker and entertainment for each group of drafted boys prior to their departure. A third motion left in the committee's hands the matter of giving a sendoff to Pendleton's first yeomanettes, one of whom is leaving today. Educational Meeting Planned. The patriotic service league, co-operating with the draft board, is making arrangements for a meeting for all men in Class 1 at an early day for the purpose of giving them information which will prepare them for the duties ahead of them. The meeting will be for them, exclusively and will probably be addressed by an attorney who will instruct the men in the matter of insurance, in their civil rights etc., by a doctor who will talk along the lines of social hygiene, by a military man who will prepare the men for life at army cantonments and by a home guard officer who will offer preliminary instruction.

THE BOOK SHELF

History is the essence of innumerable biographies. —Caryl.

Library To Collect Soldier's Photographs

A collection of photographs in uniform of all the men in army and navy service from Umatilla county has been started by the County Library. It is also planned to make a complete alphabetical card index of all these men in service. This will also be kept in the library for the use of the public. On each card will be given the order, number, age, date of acceptance at mobilization camp, department of service and whether volunteer, officer's rank with date, and present military address. On the back of the card will be given name and address of nearest relative.

As there are to date several hundred of these cards to compile and photographs to collect, the assistance of relatives of the soldiers is invited. Unmounted photographs are preferred of six or seven inch lengths, although other sizes will be acceptable. Mail the photos to "Umatilla County Library, Pendleton, Oregon," and on separate paper give as much as possible of the above information which is to be typed on the index cards. Nearly Ninety Per Cent Volunteers. So far there have been 333 men of draft age gone into service from this county, 294 of whom have volunteered. Besides this number are many others, under and over the draft age limits who have volunteered but whose names are not given in any official list in Pendleton. It is especially necessary therefore that relatives of these enlisted men furnish the library with the information needed to make the files complete.

Do It Now. It is desirable that a large proportion of this material be collected this week. The "Do It Now" slogan would accomplish splendid results. The generous part that Umatilla county is taking in the great world war should certainly be recorded for historical purposes and the County Library makes this beginning in preserving photographs and records.

WILSON HAS A LITTLE LAMB

Four in Fact, and Twelve Sheep to Graze on White House Lawn. WASHINGTON, May 8.—President Wilson has purchased twelve Shropshire sheep and four lambs, which will be put out to graze around the White House grounds tomorrow. The sheep have white wool and black faces and legs and were purchased from President Woodward of the Hanover National bank of New York, who was a stock-farm at Bowie, Md. Dr. Cary T. Grayson, the president's physician, conducted the negotiations.

Several men keep the grassy slopes around the White House in proper trim and it is calculated with the sheep on the job the services of these employees will not be necessary. The President feels he is setting a wholesome precedent by authorizing the use of the White House grounds for grazing purposes.

It is said that the United States may need 4,000,000 men in the air service. It there that much sky room?

"EMPTY POCKETS" A MYSTERY STORY

Alta Tuesday and Wednesday. Herbert Brenon's presentation of "Empty Pockets," Rupert Hughes best seller, is a mystery story of New York's slums and palaces. As in the novel, Mr. Brenon introduces the mysterious strands of hair "from some copper-haired woman" right at the start of the film and keeps everybody guessing which of five copper-headed beauties committed the murder until he relieves the suspense near the finish of the film. It is a masterly piece of "suspended interest" handling.

The ladies involved move in widely separated social circles: Muriel Schuyler (Barbara Castleton), a banker's daughter; Maryla Sokalska (Ketty Galanta), a Jewish sweet shop worker; Red Ida Ganley (Susan Willis) pickpocket and wife of an east side gunman; Pet Bettany (Peggy Bette), who lives by her wits and Aphra Shaler, who cries money out of men's pocketbooks.

Malcolm Williams, who as Perry Merithew "plays dead" during the entire story, declares he can no longer pass a red-headed girl on the street without thinking of—not a white horse—but whether she was the girl who did him to death in "Empty Pockets." It must be awful to be haunted by such a thought in a town full of charming copper haired damsels. Alta Tuesday and Wednesday.

Pastime Today

Indian on top of mountain prevents motion picture heroine's escape by thrilling method. A thrilling climax is promised in the second episode of "Vengeance—and the Woman," the Greater Vitagraph serial which will be seen at the Pastime theater today. Driving for her life down a canyon whose walls arise sheer for one hundred feet on either side, a girl is caught in the nose of a larlet thrown with amazing power and accuracy by an Indian crouched on the top of one of the canyon walls. She is snatched from the saddle and hurled violently against the sides of the cliff. The Indian starts to haul her to the top of the cliff and has drawn her some thirty feet when Black Jack and Red Johnson, outlaw leaders, ride into the canyon. The girl is lowered and the bandits place her on a horse and ride with her to their rendezvous in a wild mountain pass.

Feats with modern weapons are so common as to be common place, but skill with the primitive weapons of the red men always thrill. Comanche Pete's feat in lassoing Carol Hollaway from her horse and hauling her up into space, at the behest of a bandit chief is just one of the "thrillers" which make "Vengeance—and the Woman," the most wonderfully absorbing melodrama serial ever screened. William Duncan directs the picture and plays the leading male role, with Miss Hollaway as "the woman."

The World War

AN ILLUSTRATED LECTURE BY AN EYE WITNESS

Mr. John Lewtas

War Correspondent, Traveler and Lecturer

Mr. Lewtas appeared in Pendleton several years ago and gave two lectures on Europe and the British Isles which were well attended and much appreciated. He also spoke before the high school and was invited by the principal to return. He did and gave an interesting talk on Turkey. Mr. Lewtas gave the most eloquent description of the World War ever heard by an Aberdeen audience. His description of the battle of the Marne is a classic.—Washington Post, Aberdeen, Wn. Mr. Lewtas' lecture in the First Methodist Church of Salem last night gripped his audience. Fluent speaker, dramatic in delivery, his description of the torpedo missing his vessel by a few inches, was thrilling. The Belgian refugees and the great German war machine was vividly presented.—Oregon Statesman, Salem. Mr. John Lewtas gave his great lecture in my church to a representative audience. His pictures were superb, his causes of the war educative, and his description of the war zone was simply great.—Delmar H. Trimble, Pastor First Methodist Church, Tacoma.
