Willys Knight
This beautiful seven-passenger Willys-Knight is the best fine car buy in the world today. It gets steadily smoother and smoother and virtually never requires any adjustment or repair. It will actually serve you day in and day out, regularly, with less interruption than any other type of motor in the world. Probably 35 per cent of the troubles that rob people of the use of their motor cars are motor troubles. And most of these repair shop motor jobs are cleaning carbon and grinding valves. Yet these very carbon deposits actually improve the Willys-Knight motor. They have every up-to-the-minute advantage of style, equipment and finish plus a motor which is superior to any other type of motor in the world. No other type of motor in the world improves with use—not a single authority anywhere but freely admits this. Yet the sleeve-valve motor gets better and better right along as you use it—even abuse it. As you pile up the mileage it delivers more and more power. It serves years longer—thousands of miles further—than any other type of motor.

Adopted Abroad
Europe's greatest motor car builders:—

Catarrh of Throat
Miss Annette Buricka 1449 South 16th St., Omaha, Nebraska, writes: "I have suffered with catarrh of the throat. I caught cold and it settled in my throat and I coughed badly and was very weak. I could not sleep and had no appetite. I had two doctors and had taken so many different medicines and found no help. I thought I will have to give up; but at last my mother read about Peruna, so I thought of trying that great medicine Peruna. I got a bottle of it and in about four days I almost stopped coughing, and after a while I surely found relief, and from that time we are not without Peruna in our home."

FOOD CONTROL MEANS VICTORY
European Shortage Places Problem Before American Government—Farsighted Policy Adopted.
NEED 75,000,000 BU. WHEAT.
Food Administration Asks Aid of Every American in Gigantic Task of Feeding Millions.
It is the food problem over there that makes a food problem over here. If we wished to be supremely selfish—and supremely shortsighted—we could go on eating as much as we like and whatever we like, without much difficulty or interruption—at least, until the Germans came!
But we are not doing things in that selfish and suicidal way. We are trying to make a great common pool of all of our food, and all of the food of the allies, and all of the food we can get from South American and other neutrals, and dividing it up fairly among America, England, France, Belgium and Italy.
This does not mean that all of the people in the great pool are going to have the same ration, but means that we are trying to arrange to have enough for everybody, so that the soldier—our soldier as their soldiers—will be well fed, as they have to be to fight hard and continuously, and that the munitions workers and the workers in all the other necessary industries, and the men and women at home will all have enough to keep alive and well. It is absolutely necessary to do this if the war is to be won, and we are going to do it, but it means planning, working, arranging, co-operating, being careful, not wasting, saving.
And it means that each and every one of us has got to help.
Now, we have enough and more than enough food for ourselves, and the Government is going to see to it that we keep here at home a sufficient supply of every essential kind of food to support our people. But even there they simply have not enough. Lord Rhodes, the English food controller, recently cabled the American food administrator, that unless we can send the allies before the next European harvest 75,000,000 bushels of wheat, in addition to what had been sent up to January 1 of this year he could not assure the people of the allies that they would have a sufficient supply of food to carry on the war.
He did not say anything in this cable about the other food necessary, but he has told of these needs in other cables—and by his actions in England. For example, his latest regulations compel a reduction of meat eating in the United Kingdom to a maximum of one pound per week per person, this pound including the bone and other waste parts in the meat as bought in the shop.
The allies must have more wheat, more meat, more fats, more dairy products, more sugar. Their harvests were very short—France had less than half her normal crop of wheat—and the available shipping is small in amount, and constantly being lessened by submarines, so that it is now practically impossible to use any ships for the long voyage necessary to bring food from Australia and other remote markets. The food must come chiefly from America. In specific figures it is necessary for us to send to the allies 1,100,000 tons of foodstuffs a month. This is a great responsibility and a great problem. The food must be found, and also the ships to carry it. It is being done, but can only continue to be done by the help and full co-operation of all of us over our bread loaf. We must produce and save more.
To supply the wheat necessary until the next harvest, we must reduce our consumption by from one-fourth to one-third; we must cut down our meat average consumption of meats and fats by from 10 to 15 per cent, and dairy products by about 10 per cent.
Over there they are tightening their belts and doing everything they can. They are eating war bread; they are cutting down their sugar in England to two pounds per person per month, and in France and Italy to one pound—how much are you eating?—and they are using ration cards for most of the staples. We must meet sacrifice with sacrifice. If we don't, we are helping to lose the war instead of helping to win it.
