

SOCIAL AND PERSONALS

Because of the temporary adjournment of the surgical dressings work, Mrs. Harry Chambers asks her class to meet this evening in the Red Cross sewing room to devote the time to comfort bags. She will be there at 7 o'clock and will welcome a good attendance as there are many kinds of work involved in making the bags, and many hands can be kept busy.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. David H. Nelson of 111 Washington street, with Mesdames Nelson, MacMaster and Doug Bell as hostesses. The hours passed all too soon as the interesting monthly program was carried out and excellent musical numbers were given by members of the society. Thirty ladies, including visitors, were present. Preparations were made for the annual picnic which will be held on June 25th. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Coming as a complete surprise to all their friends was the marriage of Miss Fay Duff and Irvin Mann yesterday at noon at the home of the bride near Pendleton. The wedding was a very quiet one, attended only by the immediate families of the bride and groom. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. W. S. Gilmer of Athens. Mr. Gilmer and Mr. Mann were friends together at Willamette University in Salem. The bride was gowned with charming simplicity in crepe de chine over white satin and carried a bouquet of Marsh O'Neill roses. Brides and carnations were the flowers used in decoration. A delicious luncheon was served immediately following the ceremony, after which the young couple left for an auto trip through the Willamette valley. They will be at home to their friends at the Mann ranch after June 1st.

Miss Ora Poage has returned from Salem where she has been visiting relatives and friends during the past several days.

Mrs. M. C. Lovelace and small daughter arrived here this morning from Spokane and are guests at the home of Mrs. Lovelace's sister, Mrs. G. M. Rice.

Mr. and Mrs. Norborne Berkeley and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Judd plan to leave in the morning for a motor trip to Hay Creek where they will be guests at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Berkeley for a few days' visit, returning the latter part of the week accompanied by Miss Mildred Berkeley who has spent the winter there.

Election of officers was an interesting item of business yesterday at the meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Club for which the president, Mrs. A. J. Owen, was hostess at her home on Thompson street. Mrs. T. M. Henderson was chosen as president of the club for next year while Mrs. Thomas Thompson was elected vice president. Mrs. B. L. Burroughs recording secretary, Mrs. John Vest, corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. K. Boyden, treasurer, and Mrs. C. F. Colesworth, auditor. After business considerations were dispensed with, Mrs. Owen's guests enjoyed an informal social hour, concluded by dainty Hoover refreshments.

Plans to visit by Miss Lorene King and by Miss Esther Winn formed a delightful feature of entertainment at the meeting of the Knitting Club yesterday, when members assembled in the club room of the library for the last time before adjournment for the summer. Knitting will continue, however, and with the arrival of new yarn, a special meeting will be called. An interesting occurrence yesterday was the completion by Mrs. William Milne of her thirtieth Red Cross sweater. Her rapid and attractive work has called forth much praise among patriotic knitters.

Miss Lorene King last evening won honors in an interesting silver medal contest held under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. in the club room of the library. Her reading of "Why Ned Said No" occasioned the praise of the audience as well as the decision of the judges, who were Mrs. J. H. O'Neil, Mrs. Holman Ferrin and Mrs. Saline. Much enjoyment in addition to the interesting program was reading, "The Ragged Man," by Lester King, evening the judge's decision. The reading proved entertaining to many friends of the participants.

Mrs. T. M. Henderson, who is soon to leave Pendleton for a while, is this afternoon the inspiration for an informal tea at the home of Mrs. A. W. Rugg, which a few friends and intimate friends have been asked by Mrs. Rugg and Mrs. E. P. Averill. The affair is simply appointed, and was planned as an informal "adieu" to Mrs. Henderson who is a cousin of Mrs. Rugg.

Friends of Mrs. Leon Cohen, prominent Pendleton matron who has been spending the winter in Washington, will be interested to learn that she is now enroute to France to serve in the canteen work of the Y. M. C. A. A letter from Mrs. Charles H. Carter, who is also spending the winter in the nation's capitol, brings the news that Mrs. Cohen sailed on Monday.

A group of little friends are being entertained at dinner this evening by Mrs. Helen Melts at her home, 501 Jane street, in honor of her two nephews, Ray Dudley and Elbert Belts. Elbert will leave Monday to spend the summer with his uncle, Vera Belts, and aunt, Mrs. Ralph Knight, at Calgary, Canada, and Ray will return to his home at Helix after spending the winter in school in Pendleton.

The guest list included Dale Cannon, Donald Green, Byron Warner, Edgar Averill, Vivian Warner, Marion Averill, and the honor guests, Ray Dudley and Elbert Belts.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stockman and Lowell Stockman will leave Monday for Alberta for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Dodd. They expect to remain away about three weeks, stopping in Calgary and Alderson.

BEAVER TO SAY LAST FAREWELL.
Steamer Left Portland Wednesday on Last Private Voyage.
PORTLAND, May 23.—On the last lap of her 19th voyage between Portland and California ports the steel steamer Beaver, owned by the San Francisco & Portland Steamship company, left on Wednesday to become a servant of the United States government in the great fight. Captain Tibbetts and his crew will put in at San Francisco with the Beaver sometime Friday and immediately turn her over to the United States shipping board.
The Beaver was built at Newport News for her operators in 1905 and has been in service between Portland, San Francisco and San Pedro practically ever since. She was one of the famous "big three" fleet which have made Portland their northern port of call for years. The Beaver is 457.5 feet long, has a 47-foot beam and 24.4 foot depth. She is 4797 tons gross. San Francisco is her port of registry.

The Front For Over Two Years; Still Going

J. G. Darby, Pendleton man with the 112 Canadian battalion, Royal Grenadiers who has been at the front in France for over two years, is still alive and in the game. He hopes to get home by Christmas, according to a letter he has written to his friends. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Darby. The letter in full is as follows:
Somewhere in France,
April 23, 1918.
Dear Jim and Dora:
Just a few lines to let you know I am still alive and feeling in the pink. Well, how is everybody around the old town? Hope they all feel as well as I do. Well, what do you think about the war over there? Don't you think I am a real good stayer—two years and two months in the front area is not so bad as it and only been knocked over once.
Well, I must think myself lucky so far, anyway. Well, I am longing to see all of you and I am hoping to be able to come next Xmas, which I hope to be able to do. I really have good hopes of "straggling" through now that I have stuck it out so long. I feel as though I would like to see the end but you know a man can't last forever in this game and I have been exceptionally lucky or I would not have lasted so long.
Well, I have been longing to see a paper from Pendleton and I have never had one since I left. I do quite a bit of reading and smoking when things are quiet but there are times when you don't get much chance for either.
Well, I hope Jim is in good health, also with the little ones. I guess they are getting quite big now, but remember me to them. Remember me to them all at the Moose lodge and don't forget to write as soon as you can.
Have seen several of the U. S. boys but none I know as yet. I got a letter from V. H. the other day. I am always glad to hear from anyone. I also got a small parcel of tobacco from a friend in Pendleton.
Well, give everybody my kind regards and tell them I, hope to see everybody about Xmas, all being well. I remain your loving friend, but few hold." Joe has been in actual fighting for 18 months.

Charles writes that he himself is feeling fine and that he has gained "like the dickens" since coming out of the hospital where he was sent with the mumps. He is on the permanent staff in England and writes that he expects he will be there for a good long time. His letter was written on April 25.
In the letter, Lieutenant Despain encloses Lieutenant-General Sir A. W. Currie's thrilling order to Canadians, with whom Joe is fighting, in which he orders them to "advance or fall where you stand facing the enemy." General Currie is commanding the Canadian corps. The text of the order, which was issued on March 27, follows:
"In an endeavor to reach an immediate decision the enemy has gathered all his forces and struck a mighty blow at the British Army. Overwhelmed by sheer weight of numbers the British divisions in the line between the Scarpe and the Oise have fallen back fighting hard, steady and undaunted."
"Measures have been taken successfully to meet this German onslaught. The French have gathered a powerful army commanded by a most able and trusted leader, and this army is now moving swiftly to our help, and fresh British divisions are being thrown in. "The Canadians are soon to be engaged. Our motor-machine-gun brigade has already played a most gallant part, and once again covered itself with glory."

"You Will Not Die"
"Look back with pride on the unbroken record of your glorious achievements, asking you to realize that today the fate of the British Empire hangs in the balance. I place my trust in the Canadian Corps, knowing that where Canadians are engaged there can be no flying away. "Under the orders of your devoted officers in the coming battle you will advance or fall where you stand facing the enemy."
"To those who fall, I say, 'You will not die, but step into immortality. Your mothers will not lament your fate, but will be proud to have borne such sons. Your names will be revered for ever and ever by your grateful country, and God will take you into Himself."
"Canadians, in this fearful hour I command you and I trust you to fight as you have ever fought, with all your strength, with all your determination, with all your tranquility, with all your hard-fought field of battle you have overcome this enemy. With God's help you shall achieve victory once more."
(Signed) A. W. CURRIE, Lieutenant-General, Commanding Canadian Corps.

Best Remedy for Whooping Cough.
"Last winter when my little boy had the whooping cough I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. J. B. Roberts, East St. Louis, Ill. "It kept his cough loose and relieved him of those dreadful coughing spells. It is the only cough medicine I keep in the house because I have the most confidence in it." This remedy is also good for colds and croup.—Adv.

Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best to enjoy an inside bath each morning, flush from the system the previous day's waste, remove from the face and hair any accumulations of dirt and grease, and as a result, the blood is purified and the skin is made smooth and clear. The process of flushing the system is a most important one, and one that should be practiced every day. The waste matter that accumulates in the system is the cause of many of our ailments, and it is the removal of this waste matter that restores the system to its normal condition.
