Mr. and Mrs. Bert Smith are leaving today for a motor trip to Lake Clear, Washington. They expect to be away until the first of July, visiting in a number of places en route, and enjoying a fishing trip as a part of the outing.

Miss Mable Whitman arrived yesterday from Spokane where she has spent the past several months and will remain in Pendleton for a visit with relatives and friends.

Miss Sadie Young, who has been the guest of her sister, Miss Harriet Young, is visiting in Helix as the guest of Miss Lella Norvell, before she returns to her home in La Grande.

There will be a meeting of the Parish House Guild of the Church of the Redeemer Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. It is to be at the rectory and members are asked to be present.

Mrs. Wilson D. McNary, Mrs. Frank E. Boyden and Mrs. Frederick E. Judd are entertaining informally today with a 1:30 o'clock luncheon at the Golf Club, honoring Mrs. John Ross Dickson.

Miss Gladys Wattenburger has left for Seaside to spend the summer as the guest of her friend, Mrs. Shaw.

She will be accompanied as far as Portland by her father, J. C. Wattenburger.

Mrs. R. L. Oliver and Miss Grace Oliver arrived home yesterday from Walla Walla, the former having become ill and unable to remain for the visit they had planned. Mrs. Oliver is threatened with pneumonia but it is hoped she may recover quickly.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Oliver, accompanied by little Misses Lola and Margaret Oliver, are expected to arrive home Monday morning from a visit in the east. The return trip from Detroit has been by automobile, and the Olivers have had a number of most enjoyable visits en route. Their message was sent from Lewiston, Montana, near where Mr. Oliver, Charles Marsh and John Montgomery have farming interests. Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery have spent the summer there and Judge and Mrs. Marsh departed the first of the week to join the party.

More than a dozen young ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. S. G. Reetz last evening to welcome Miss Ethel Freeman, sister of the hostess, who has been attending school at Spokane University during the past year. The early part of the evening was spent in sewing for Miss Florence Morton, who is to be a bride of this month. After an hour with the needles the guests assembled in the dining room, which was beautifully decorated, pink and white roses being used in abundance. From a large bowl of roses in the center of the table, pink and white ribbons marked the guests' covers. While still seated at the table, Miss Morton was given a small pink booklet, entitled "Adventures in Love," dwelling first upon her approaching marriage and closing with the announcement of the engagement of Miss Ethel Freeman to Julius P. Jaeger of Independence, Iowa. The pink ribbons were then found to bear small pink cards, upon which appeared tiny heart shaped pictures of Miss Freeman and Mr. Jaeger. This came as a complete surprise to all present. Miss Freeman is a well known and popular young lady of Pendleton, having attended the local high school and later taught in the grades. Mr. Jaeger is a graduate of Spokane University and has accepted a position to teach in that institution during the coming year. The guest list included the Misses Florence and Elsie Morton, Opal and Venice Callison, Hazel Strain, Grace Hutton, Mable Whitman of Spokane, Mrs. A. A. Byrd, Mrs. H. H. Hubbell, Mrs. Nellie Horton, Mrs. E. O. Draper and Mrs. Sarah Savage and Mrs. S. G. Reetz.

A recent wedding which united a popular young couple was solemnized on June 11 when Miss Pearl York became the bride of Jessie McKee, a successful young farmer of Helix. The ceremony was performed at the W. C. Tullis home, 1611 West Webb street with the service, Rev. J. E. Snyder officiating. The house was beautifully decked, rose blossoms and foliage forming an artistic foil for the pretty service.

The guest list included Mrs. Esther Miller, Mr. Gordon York, Mr. Lindop York and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed McKee of Helix, Mr. and Mrs. King of Helix, Mr. Williams, Mrs. Nora Williams of Helix, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tullis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heard and son, Mrs. Clara Lita, Mrs. Mill Wright, Miss Flora, Wright, Mrs. D. Dunlap, Mrs. C. P. Barnett, Mrs. Snider, Mrs. Molly Bowman and Mrs. Nora Bradman.

Today is the thirty-fourth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hamley and in celebration of the event they were informal hosts for a prettily appointed 1 o'clock luncheon, their guests being Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Coultis and Mr. and Mrs. Wren Cawes. Mr. and Mrs. Hamley were married in Brownsvalley, Minnesota.

The home of Mrs. George Hartman, Jr. was yesterday the scene of a charmingly simple and informal tea which gave a number of her old time friends and neighbors an opportunity to greet Mrs. George Hartman, of Portland, who is a Pendleton guest. An interesting and pleasing feature of the affair was the presence of a number of relatives, near relatives. Besides the honor guest and the hostess, members of the family included Mrs. Jane Hartman and her daughters, Mrs. Mary J. Marsh, Mrs. Lina Sturgis, Mrs. Purdy and Mrs. Samuel Price of Big Bend, Idaho, who this week motored to Pendleton with her husband, and is a guest at the Sturgis home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Trombley and we Miss Jane Trombley are enjoying an outing at Bingham springs.

Flowers and messages of welcome are finding their way to tiny Miss Boyden, who arrived last evening at St. Anthony's hospital in plaiden the home of Dr. and Mrs. Guy L. Boyder (Zella Thompson). The little maid is to be christened Mary Ruth.

It is thought best to discontinue for the present the Saturday afternoon surgical dressings class, but the ladies who have been working there are urgently requested to work in one of the other afternoon classes. In the past two weeks $466 dressings have been made, but because of an extremely large June quota, an even better record for the remaining time will be required. To fill the quota, generous cooperation is necessary. The classes begin at 2 in the afternoon and at 7 in the evening in the workroom of the library and here is the new schedule for the week from June 17 to 26, with the instructors in charge:

Monday afternoon—Folding class, Mrs. N. Berkeley, instructor; cutting class, Mrs. Walter Adams, instructor. Monday evening—Business girls, Mrs. J. C. Woodworth, instructor. Tuesday afternoon—Folding class, Mrs. J. N. Burgess, instructor; cutting class, Mrs. P. H. Brown, instructor. Wednesday afternoon—Folding class, Mrs. T. P. O'Brien, instructor; cutting class, Mrs. John Bates, instructor.

Thursday afternoon—Folding class, Mrs. H. E. Dickers, instructor; cutting class, Mrs. Thomas Thompson, instructor. Thursday evening—Honor Guard cutting class, Miss Lillian Boylen, instructor.

Friday afternoon, folding class—Mrs. J. C. Woodworth, instructor; cutting class, Mrs. J. T. Richardson, instructor.

A unique and thoroughly delightful "molding party" was enjoyed yesterday by a group of friends of Mrs. Agnes Nelson when she entertained informally at the home of her daughter Mrs. H. J. Sullivan, 1101 East Railroad street. Play day was celebrated by the presence of many siars and Stripes, used in artistic combination with great clusters of roses. Old time pictures of the guests, enclosed in envelopes were passed, each describing the one they held as the others guessed its identity. As a sequel to the contest another followed each guest striving to mold the most perfect likeness of the portrait. Mrs. James A. Fee won honors and was presented with a lovely bouquet fashioned of red, white and blue blossoms.

Mrs. Nelson's guests included Mrs. Ruth Strahorn, Mrs. Charles Hamilton, Mrs. Mary Dismock, Mrs. William Matlock, Mrs. C. P. Coleworth, Mrs. N. E. DeSpain, Mrs. Folsom, Mrs. Leo Moorhouse, Mrs. Mary La Dow, Mrs. Fee, Mrs. George O'Daniel, Mrs. E. T. Avison, Mrs. Joe Murphy, Mrs. Frank Frazier, Mrs. J. McCall and Mrs. J. R. Dickson.
