What the Picture Theaters Have to Tell You.

Alta Tuesday and Wednesday: "On Trial."

From the Cohan & Harris Stage Hit by Elmer Reizenstein.

Released Through First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Inc. Robert Strickland Sidney Ainsworth Mrs. Robert Strickland Barbara Castleton Doris Strickland

Little Mary McAllister Gerald Track James Young Mrs. Gerald Track Corene Uzzell Glover Patrick Calhoun Robert Strickland is on trial for the murder of Gerald Track. Strickland pleads guilty and does not want a trial. All evidence seems against him, robbery being the motive.

Mrs. Track and Glover, her husband's secretary, take the witness stand. Then they are shown as on the night of the crime. Hearing a revolver shot, they rush into Track's library. Strickland, with revolver in hand, is standing over Track's body. The safe is open and $10,000 gone.

Doris, little daughter of Strickland, takes the stand. She is then portrayed discovering that her mother had lost her purse near Track's home. She is portrayed in a scene with her husband in which she admits her relations with Track. She is then portrayed as before her marriage being made the dupe of Track. After her marriage she is shown at his mercy. He threatens exposure of her past unless she does what he asks of her. Strickland then takes the stand. He has faced electrocution rather than expose his wife, but with all the details now out, he admits he went to Track's home to kill him—though not for robbery, but to right the wrong to his wife.

Glover is forced to admit the robbery. The jury's verdict is "not guilty."

Pastime Today; Feats of Daring Lead Thrill to Every Episode.

William Duncan and Carol Holloway, whose amazing feats of daring made "The Fighting Trail," far and away the greatest serial of adventure ever screened, out do all previous records in "Vengeance and the Woman." Greater Vitagraph's new melodrama serial, the eighth episode of which will be seen in the Pastime theater today.

Mr. Duncan directed the serial and takes the leading male role of Henry Blake, railway builder and capitalist whose life is sought by Black Jack, outlaw leader, whom he sent to prison for fifteen years. Miss Holloway is Bessie Blake, his young wife, who shares every peril of her husband and also is constantly sought as a hostage by the outlaw gang.

"Vengeance and the Woman," is an outdoor picture, more than ninety per cent of the scenes being filmed in wild recesses in the Sierras in southern California, under the personal supervision of Mr. Duncan. In the cast are three of the best riders and rifle shots in that country, all old favorites in "The Fighting Trail," George Holt, Fred Burns and Vincente Howard, whose fearless stunts add realism to every one of the fifteen smashing episodes. In the eighth episode, the Blakes, fleeing from the bandits, take refuge in an unused mine tunnel, barricading the entrance. Black Jack's men build a huge fire before the entrance and are burning out the pair, who flee up a shaft and gain the top after a fierce rifle battle.

Arcade Today. Miss Peggy Hyland, the William Fox star, with a capable company, will be seen at the Arcade theater today in "Peg of the Pirates," a photoplay that gives an excellent and thrilling idea of the early days of the struggling commercial life of this country. Many of the brilliant scenes in the picture were taken off the South Carolina coast which was a nest of pirates in the beginning of the eighteenth century. It was off the Charleston that old Blackbeard took ship after ship, and made many of the crew and passengers "walk the plank," after which he sent some of his crew into Charleston to demand a chest of medicine. If this demand was refused, he declared, he would cut the throats of the prisoners on board his ship. He received the chest.

Those stirring times are represented thrillingly and humorously in "Peg of the Pirates," and in the play Miss Hyland does exceptionally brilliant work.

W. F. Venable Knows How the Sea Asp Tries to Operate

W. F. Venable, who left Pendleton with Troop D, was aboard the ship on which Irvin Cobb crossed the Atlantic and the experiences are described in the story by Cobb "When the Sea Asp Stings."

The foregoing is disclosed in an interesting letter from Venable to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sawyer. The letter is full as follows:

Somewhere in France, May 30, 1918. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sawyer, Pendleton Oregon. Dear Friends: Your letter received some time ago and glad to hear from you, and also glad to get the picture of the baby but will as soon as I get back to good old U. S. A. The boys are having lot of fun and experience and run into more every day. Had quite an exciting trip coming across but can't tell you much about it in a letter and if you want to read a good account of it got the Saturday Evening Post for March 9th, "When the Sea Asp Stings," by Cobb. I was on the same boat Cobb was on.

The report went to my folks that I was on the Tuscania but was on the boat just ahead of the Tuscania and saw a good deal of the disaster. This is a fine country and am sure going to see more of it. We have good quarters and plenty of good food.

Am driving ambulance now and like it. Capt. Caldwell is on this side and in the same camp I am in but haven't seen him yet. Am sending you two pictures. Saw some pictures of the Pendleton Round-Up and they sure did look good. Will be tickled to see the burr again.

Well, Pudge and Earl guess I better ring off and go to the Y. M. C. A. The Y is a great help to us boys and don't know what we would do if it wasn't for the Y for they have pictures and entertainments regularly and help us in many other ways. Will close, hope this finds you well and write, write write. Your friend, W. F. VENABLE. Med. Dept., A. P. O. 705, A. E. F.

THIS IS FOOT COMFORT WEEK

Army surgeons in examining the feet of more than a million men assembled the world when it was announced that about 75 per cent of the feet of grown people are defective or abnormal. Many of these men were disqualified for military service on account of this physical defect.

For Comfort Week, which will be celebrated throughout the length and breadth of the land during the week of June 17 to 23, is intended to put the feet of America in first class fighting trim; a concerted drive to eliminate all classes of foot troubles. During that week practically every first class shoe and department store in the United States and Canada will make special efforts to relieve the public of all foot defects such as corns, bunions, callouses, broken down arches, weak foot, flat foot, etc., through the well known method of foot correction, originated by Dr. Wm. M. Scholl, the recognized foot authority. As most people are well aware Dr. Scholl has devoted a lifetime to studying the construction of the foot, how it becomes abnormal and defective and the best means of securing quick relief and permanent correction. War activities have thrown an additional burden and strain upon the feet of practically every man, woman and child in America today and as a result there are more broken down and defective feet than ever before. This is a condition which must be overcome if we are to give our best efforts in winning the war. For these reasons Foot Comfort Week this year comes at a most opportune time and the shoe dealers who are assisting in this work are doing a patriotic duty and rendering their community a distinct service.

At the J. C. Penny store big preparations have been made to provide all persons of this community with a most efficient Foot Comfort Service. For this purpose there will be in attendance a Graduate Practitioner—a foot specialist who has been specially trained in the Dr. Scholl Method of Foot Comfort and he will be pleased to examine all feet free of charge and advise the proper methods to pursue to secure relief and the proper correction.

WOMAN KIDNAPS CHICAGO CHILD

CHICAGO, June 18.—A city wide search is under way today for flaxen haired Jennie Scobba, 3 years old, mysteriously kidnaped by a well dressed woman from in front of her father's store. Thus far not a trace of the missing child has been found.

Okanogan Crops Menaced. WASHINGTON, June 17.—Because of an unprecedented shortage of water in the Okanogan reclamation project in Northern Washington, the department of the interior today asked congress for an appropriation of $125,000 to pump water from a distance. Fire Situation Growing Serious. SPOKANE, June 18.—That the forest situation is serious at present, even though there are no real bad fires burning at the present time, is the Chronic Constipation. Perhaps you have never thought of it, but this disorder is due to a lack of moisture in the residual matter of the food. If you will drink an abundance of water, eat raw fruits and take lots of outdoor exercise, you may be able eventually to overcome it entirely. In the meantime use the most mild and gentle laxatives. Strong and harsh cathartics take too much water out of the system and make a bad matter worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are easy and pleasant to take, and most agreeable in effect. Give them a trial.

To Prevent Belching. Make a regular habit of eating slowly, masticate your food thoroughly, and you may have no further trouble. If you should, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets immediately after supper.

Cure of Indigestion and Constipation. "I first took Chamberlain's Tablets about six years ago. At that time I was greatly troubled with my stomach and suffered from ill brought on by constipation. Chamberlain's Tablets were the first medicine that helped me in the least. They not only afforded me quick relief, but by continuing their use for a short time I was cured of indigestion and my bowels were restored to regular action," writes Mrs. G. W. Jackson, Litchfield, Ill.
