INTERVENTION OF AMERICA IS HERALDED AS MIRACLE OF WAR

(By Guglielmo Ferrero, Historian of Rome.)

(Special Service of the Italian American News Bureau.)
For some time the American arm operating in France has figured in the daily reports of the war beside the English and French armies. And for some time young American soldiers have been seen in flocks in the streets of Italian cities.
Let us salute the new army that comes from beyond the Atlantic and descends on the fields of Europe. Whosoever of us meets an American soldier owes him a thought of sympathy and recognition. Think! We are never thankful enough to our big soldiers, leaving their homes to us, from Sicily, from Sardinia, from Central Italy, from Northern Italy, to defend the frontiers of the empire, on the Piave and in the Trentino.

But these young men come from the interior of a vast continent, from the shores of the Pacific, to face death in Lorraine. In Picardy, perhaps tomorrow in the Veneto, without the invasion of their own country, and when against the short-sighted egotism of self-interest they seemed to be amply protected by the great expanse of the Atlantic. They come to save Europe in the moment when Germany, with the help of the perfidious shrimps which have taken possession of Russia was on the point of enchainment.
The intervention of America will verify the great miracle of this war, just as the Russian peace will be its inescapable shame. Not only has the time arrived to settle for the betrayal by Russia, but it is the historical consecration of the justice of our cause. No sophist will be able to contend that America was driven to take up arms by ambition for empire or by the turbid calculations of that mythical being the socialists call capitalism. The facts are too clear for any one to confuse them. America went into the war when governed by the pacifist democratic party; opposed to militarism and imperialism. U. S. Held Germany Supreme.

America went into the war, although it had no territory to redeem or to defend; although war promised only the burden of hard work and sacrifice and peace promised rich and easy prosperity. She went into the war against Germany and on our side, although we did nothing to persuade her to come to our aid, and although Germany before the war had been considered the most perfect model by the cultured and ruling classes in America.

Only one who visited the United States ten years ago, mingling with the upper class, can know how great was the prestige of Germany and what intelligent efforts the government and the nation made to increase it, to the detriment of other European nations, which, with the exception of France, which made some futile effort, gave the matter no thought and did not inquire at all.

I remember that in 1914, returning from the United States, I went to Rome and spoke to the ministers and those in authority of these things. I tried to persuade them that it was necessary to wake up and do something if they did not want to abandon the whole of Anglo-Saxon America to the Germans. I also put before them several suggestions. But the minister of instruction and the chiefs of the government in those days had more important things to do.

Only one seemed to understand what I was saying, but this possibility was placed too high up to illuminate the whole state. In 1914 Germany led all the nations of Europe in the United States—she credits, for admiration, for sympathy, for faith. This primary now lies on the ground, destroyed, without any of the peoples of the entente having done anything to overthrow it, and why?

The sophists are unconscious on the subject and try to talk of something else. American intervention justifies the few who from the beginning of the war observed that the world had been precipitated all at once into a crisis in which all the nations of Europe and of America would find themselves united in an immense danger common to all, and therefore compelled to take part, directly or indirectly, in the conflict.
Immortal glory to U. S.

If the United States had not intervened last year, in what condition

MILITARY TRAINING PROMISED FOR O. A. C.

Sixty Day Training Camp Will Prepare Assistant Instructors for Fall Work.

O. A. C. CORVALLIS, July 4.—A military training unit under officers and non-commissioned officers of the army will be created next fall at the Oregon Agricultural college, enrollment in which will constitute the student a member of the army of the United States. This will be done under a new provision of the war department.

Enlistment will be voluntary but all students over the age of 18 will be encouraged to join. They will be liable to active duty at the call of the President. It will, however, be the policy of the government not to call the members of the training units to active duty until they have reached the age of 21, unless urgent military necessity compels an earlier call. Students under 18, and therefore not legally eligible for enlistment, will be encouraged to enroll. Provisions will be made for coordinating the work of this unit with the reserve officers' training corps system.

Extensive Training for Assistants.
According to a telegram just received from H. P. McCain, adjutant general, arrangements are being made for selected students and faculty members to be given 60 days of intensive training with a view to serving as assistant instructors to help the officers who will be assigned to institutions where the units will be established. No commissions will be granted, but certificates of qualification as instructors will be issued.

O. A. C. Entitled to 25.
The majority of selected students from institutions with reserve officers' training corps will be chosen by commanding officers of R. O. T. C. camps. The presidents of the colleges will select one student for 25 students enrolled and one faculty member for each 250 students. This means that approximately 19 students and four faculty members will represent the Oregon Agricultural College at the 60 day training camp which will open at the Presidio, San Francisco, July 15.

The highest type of physical development is demanded by the government of the army selected. The minimum age limit for students will be 18 and the maximum for the faculty 45. Both students and faculty representatives will be under temporary enlistment for 60 days, when they will be discharged. Expenses, including housing, uniforms, food and equipment, will be taken care of by the government, a 1-2 cents a mile being allowed for traveling expenses. Pay will be $20 a month.

ARE ADVERTISED MEDICINES WORTHLESS?

There is no more reason to condemn all advertised medicines than there is to condemn all physicians or all druggists. Fakes there are in every trade, but they do not last long. Take a medicine like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the true test of its merit is the fact that for forty years it has been relieving women of America from the worst forms of female ailments, constantly growing in popularity and favor, until it is now recognized from ocean to ocean as the standard remedy for female ills.

400 Pounds of Powder Explode.
CINCINNATI, June 26.—Four hundred pounds of powder being ground in wheelhouse No. 1 at the King Powder Mills, O., exploded this morning. No employees were in the place when the explosion occurred. The building was destroyed. An investigation showed the explosion was caused by a break in the machinery.

FORMER HEAD OF MISSION GETS HIGH POST

Andre Tardieu, former head of the French mission to the United States, has been appointed to fill a new post, that of General Commissioner of Franco-American Affairs in France. M. Tardieu probably knows more about America's war plans and preparations than any other Frenchman.

Recuperation—there is not so much in the ordinary vacation as there is in a single bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which refreshes the tired blood, sharpens the dulled appetite, restores the lost courage. Take Hood's sarsaparilla this summer.

would we have found ourselves after one or two years to resist Germany and Austria as arbiters of Europe, as a result of the betrayal by Russia? It will be to the immortal glory of the American democracy that it understood that on August 3, 1914, Germany had not only declared war against Russia but had bidden defiance to the whole world, and therefore also to itself, to have accepted the defiance, when there was yet time sacrificing without hesitancy its wealth and its blood to preserve its liberty.
And America is, in this terrible month, in this supreme crisis which destroys the sleep of any one who feels the anguish of the tragedy, not only the hope but the comfort of this old Europe, writhing in agony. It is true that the nations of the entente are not faultless. True that they have committed the gravest errors. Too true that they have not known how to persevere their hearts and minds, their purposes and their actions when it was demanded of them, against the assault on those "wicked intentions," (Continued on Page 5.)
