ON EVERY FARM—100 HENS

HERE should be 100 hens on every farm in the United States, declares a recent publication from the of-ice of the Secretary of Agriculture, circular 107. And we should obtain 100 eggs from every hen. With approximately 6,000,000 farms, that would mean 600,000,000 hens and 60,000,000,000 eggs per year, according to the calculations of the writers, who then add that that number of eggs constitutes a military resource not to be ignored.

One hundred hens on every farm is not a particularly big contract. There is hardly a farm in the United States but could support that number of hens practically on its waste materials and without materially added cost. One hundred hens to a farm is considerably less than the average number of hens to a farm in many of the better poultry producing sections of the country. It is an average that could easily be maintained in the sections of the country where the average per farm is now lowest.

One hundred eggs from every hen, while far below what could be obtained with proper encouragement of fowls is considerably more than the average egg production the country over. Suggestions for attaining this average are given in the publication mentioned.

IMPROVING THE CANTONMENTS

MATILLA county men leaving to enter the draft camps this summer and fall will obtain the benefits of improvements being made in the cantonments where the national army receives its training:

Additions and improvements to camps and cantonments during the six months ending June 1 have been finished at an approximate cost of $22,000,000 under direction of the Construction Division of the army. This figure does not include the additions to the hospital equipment of the camps or cantonments, nor the improvements made at other army stations.

The work consisted of additional buildings for housing the men and providing for their comfort and needs. Among the buildings erected were quarters for officers and nurses, repair shops, additional barracks, coffee roasting plants, kitchens and bakeries, theatres, new roads, general sanitation and fire prevention measures. Additional buildings are still being built at the camps and cantonments. Roads are being constructed to facilitate the movement of supplies and to make the camps more accessible. This new construction of roads will be finished at most camps before winter weather. The sewage system at the camps is being improved, which is expected to have the effect of reducing illness among the men.

Liberty theaters have been constructed at all National army cantonments. Each of these theaters has an average inclosed seating capacity of 2,000. Theaters and amusement halls also have been erected in the National Guard camps and at other points where troops are in training.

LAW VERSUS KAISERISM

RESIDENT WILSON set forth a new declaration of independence yesterday when he said:

"There can be but one issue. The settlement must be final. There can be no compromise. No half-way decision would be tolerable. No half-way decision is conceivable. These are the ends for which the associated peoples of the world are fighting and which must be conceded them before there can be peace.

"First—The destruction of every arbitrary power anywhere that can separately, secretly and of its single choice disturb the peace of the world; or if it cannot be presently destroyed at the least its reduction to virtual impotence.

"Second—By the settlement of every question, whether of territory, of sovereignty, of economic arrangement, or of political relationship, upon the basis of the free acceptance of that settlement by the people immediately concerned, and not upon the basis of the material interest or advantage of any other nation or peoples which may desire a different settlement for the sake of its own exterior influence or mastery.

"Third—The consent of all nations to be governed in their conduct towards each other by the same principles of honor and of respect for the common law of civilized society that govern the individual citizens of all modern states in their relations with one another; to the end that all promises and covenants may be sacredly observed, no private plots or conspiracies hatched, no selfish injuries wrought with impunity, and a mutual trust established upon the handsome foundation of a mutual respect for right.

"Fourth—The establishment of an organization of peace which shall make it certain that the combined power of free nations will check every invasion of right and serve to make peace and justice the more secure by affording a definite tribunal of opinion to which all must submit and by which every international readjustment that cannot be amicably agreed upon by the peoples directly concerned shall be sanctioned.

"These great objects can be put into a single sentence, viz., what we seek is the reign of law, based upon the consent of the governed and sustained by the organized opinion of mankind." The first step to the great end in view is to crush kaiserism and crush it so completely that no Germany of the future will try to turn cannibal as the present Germany did.

Would Try Out Gas On Captured Dogs

NEW YORK, July 5.—Unattached dogs which so far forget themselves as to be found and captured by the Newark poundkeeper, are in for an unpleasant time. They are to be used for tests of a new poison gas which the government has decided to try first on dogs and then on Germans.

Mayor Gillen of Newark has received a request for stray dogs from the Bureau of Mines of the Department of the Interior, and has ordered Pound keeper Forbell to round up a batch of stray dogs and ship them to Washington in crates. Mr. Forbell has his eye out particularly for loose dachshunds.
