at the MOVIE THEATRES

Theda Bara is at her best in her new picture, "The Rose of Blood," which opened a two days' run at the Alta theater today. Rarely has the noted star attained the heights of emotional success which she reaches in this picture. Nor has she often had a vehicle which affords such opportunities for varying moods, conflicting emotions, and changing expression.

"The Rose of Blood" is a story of the Russian revolution. Instead of concerning itself with the circumscribed lives of emperors and priests, however, it goes into the heart of the Russian people, and shows what they were doing while their government was being overturned. It is more real and more vivid than any of the historical dramas of today which have been filmed.

Miss Bara plays the part of Liza Tapanka, a peasant girl who marries a prince. As she has allied herself with the revolutionists, she is constantly called upon to get rid of enemies of the people, and she accomplishes her purpose.

When they finally demand the death of her husband, now prime minister, she is in a quandary. She finally obeys the will of the people, however, and brings about his destruction.

Richard Ordynski has provided an able scenario for the picture. He has worked about a phase of Slavonic life which is rarely touched in romance or fiction. As a result he has achieved a masterpiece of story telling, which is enhanced by the able direction of J. Gordon Edwards.

Don't fail to see this William Fox production, if you like the exciting and novel.

Pastime Today.
Vengeance and the Woman, the great William Duncan serial, will be shown today at the Pastime, as well as the Mystery Ship, with Ben Wilson and the Mack-Bennett scream with Chester Conklin, called "The Dynamiters." This is a show worth while.

Miss Rachel Johnson Tells How Cuticura Healed Her Skin

Of Blisters On Face Sore, Disfiguring and Painful

"Every time I was exposed to wind and sun, my face would come out in blisters. These would break open and were very sore and disfiguring. My face would burn and itch, and I could not sleep it was so painful.

"I tried many preparations but with no relief. Then I used a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I found relief at once, so I bought more and I used one box of Cuticura Ointment and I was perfectly healed. I use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment all the time, and would not be without them."

(Signed) Miss Rachel Johnson, Dubois, Idaho.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are not only most valuable for the treatment of pimples, dandruff and irritated scalp, but their great mission is to prevent such conditions. Cuticura Soap used exclusively for the toilet, and Cuticura Ointment, as needed, keep the skin and scalp clean, clear and healthy.

CROWDER STUDIED DRAFT FOR YEARS

WASHINGTON, July 17.—When the call came to Provost General Snook Crowder to handle Uncle Sam's big selective draft, he was ready because he had spent his entire army career in preparation.

Rep. Green, Vermont, who, as a member of the house military affairs committee has come into intimate contact with Gen. Crowder, tells how the latter spent a lifetime studying for the big job he now holds.

"When General Crowder was a junior lieutenant at an obscure army post in Texas he chanced upon a copy of old civil war draft regulations," Greene said.

"He read them over first out of curiosity. Then he began to think how those rules could have been made more equitable.

"Gradually he evolved his ideas on how a draft should be run and with the conviction that some day in this country there would be the need of a great army and that this army would be raised, not from volunteers, but by a process of selection from the total man-power of the country.

"Meanwhile Crowder was advancing in the army step by step.

"When the United States entered the war, Gen. Crowder was the one man in the army who was ready to go before Congress with a concrete suggestion for the framing of a selective draft law."

Other members of the military committee say Crowder's suggestions were written into the bill almost without change.
