Alta Today: "World's Kiddie Star" Coming Here Today.

"The World's Kiddie Star"—Madge Evans, the charming—is coming today to the Alta theater in "Gates of Gladness," the newest World-Picture Brady-Made. It is one of the best things that Madge has yet done and is certain to add thousands of admirers to her already enormous circle of friends. It is a striking and allogether unusual story. In one part of the production Madge is seen in the role of an artist's model. Needless to say she is as pretty and piquant a little model as any artist could find anywhere. You'll enjoy "Gates of Gladness." Come and see it.

Pastime Today.

The Pastime today is offering a big double program. The chief attraction possibility is a distinction can be made in Fatty Arbuckle in his latest Paramount-Arbuckle comedy, "Good Night Nurse," a two reel laughfest, with our old friend Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle at his best. The other star on the program is George Walsh in the William Fox picture de luxe, "The Kid Is Clever." This feature is in six reels and also on the comedy order, and is a picture the Pastime management is more than proud to recommend. Also on this big program is the one reel war-picture, England's "Lilwarks."

CUSTER SCOUT WILL GIVE LECTURE HERE

Alfred L. Chapman, famous Custer scout and guide, who was with Gen. Geo. A. Custer, 7th cavalry, and the only living white man who witnessed the Custer battle, is in the city, and will lecture at the Alta theater tonight. He was a member of the Custer command at the time of the last bat-veloped from pictures taken by Mr. Chapman, and deals with historical facts.

Captain Jack Crawford, the famous "post scout," was the last of the Custer survivors who took a prominent part in the great massacre. It was he who rode 400 miles to telegraph an account to the New York

TUGBOAT, PERTH, AMBOY

ACK AMBLEIGH (9) AND HIS BROTHERS

Jack Ambleigh, a ten-year-old boy, climbed the mast of the barge Lanford while the German U-boat off the Massachusetts coast was firing on it and the Lehigh Valley Railroad tug which was towing it, and tearing the Stars and Stripes from the mast, waved the flag at the German. He is shown here with his brother shortly after he landed safe and sound.

HUNS LOOTING ASIA WHILE ALLIES WAIT

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Germany is looting Asia.

Asiatic food and wool are relieving the Teutonic food and clothing shortage.

They reach Germany by a temporary trade route across the Caspian sea and thru Ukraine.

That's why the allies want to reconstruct the eastern front, at least sufficiently to shut off Germany from Asiatic markets.

Must Cut Supply Line.

Supplies reach the Huns slowly now, because Russia's transportation is disorganized, and Asia is unorganized.

The allied job is to cut the supply line before it is developed by German efficiency.

Little grain is reaching Germany from or thru Russia, because there is little to be shipped.

But sheep can walk. And German agents in Turkestan and Bokhara are buying millions of sheep in herds, which are taken by train or driven to the port of Krasnovodak, on the Caspian, then transported across the Caspian to the Russian or Persian shores and driven on to points where they can be shipped by railroad.

It is proper to speak of these German purchases as "loot," because the Asiatic shepherds cannot buy food with the German gold which they get for their sheep and wool. Famine is likely to follow in central Asia.

The Armenian and Georgian armies, surrounding the port of Baku, have prevented the Germans from using the Baku-Batum railroad, which connects the Caspian and Black seas, for this traffic.

But it cannot be wholly stopped until a barrier is thrown across German imports thru Persia, where the Turks are holding Tabriz, and thru the Astrakhan district of southern Russia, where the Szecho-Slovak army on the trans-Siberian railroad has lately been trying to effect a juncture with the Armenian-Georgian forces on the north slope of the Caucasus mountains.

Siberian furs and Chinese silks and rice can also be taken to Germany by this overland route, possibly reaching the central empires by next summer—unless the Szecho-Slovaks in eastern Russia, the Daghestanese, Armenians and Georgians in the Caucasus, and the British north of Baghdad are enabled to re-establish some sort of a continuous eastern front.

Middle Classes Are Growing at Seizure Of Clothes, Supplies

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 8.—The German Government has given "final notice" to the public to give up voluntarily at least one suit of clothes each to the work workers and the army. Failure to meet the demand will result in forcible requisition, and delinquents will be liable to imprisonment for one year and a fine not exceeding $2,500.

With very few exceptions none of the German communities has yielded its assessment of worn clothes to make up the aggregate of 1,000,000 suits required. Greater Berlin only has contributed 34,994 of the 75,000 suits demanded. How high the need for fabrics has risen is shown by a decree announcing the impending confiscation of curtains, which will be replaced gratis with paper fibre material or sold for at the original peace time cost price less wear and tear.

Although private residences have been exempted from the confiscation or the present there already is a good deal of grumbling. The Lokai-Anzeiger of Berlin makes bold to say: "The population, especially the much-plagued middle classes is tired of making endless sacrifices. If the government wants to win the war handily as it does the war material purveyors."

AMERICAN PEOPLE GO TO SEE AIR RAIDS

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Hundreds of men and women from all parts of the United States who set their vacation periods ahead recently when the air raid scare came over New York, in order to be in the city to see the raids, are weary of waiting and now are taking their automobiles or getting on the trains and making their way back home, according to Harry S. Hofman, of Detroit, Mich., himself one of those who thought an attack possible.

Mr. Hofman said that he knew of scores of persons from Detroit and other cities who came here as soon as it was possible with the idea of seeing German fliers attack New York. He said he had met many persons who said they had set their vacations ahead for this purpose.

"It only goes to show," he said "that Americans are dead game sports whether they're in khaki or not."
