THOUSANDS DESERT IN AUSTRIAN ARMY

PARIS, Aug. 9.—There is one army in Europe which is growing rapidly every day to the delight of the entente allies. It is an army which does not vaunt itself, which keeps out of sight, but it is doing its full share to help the cause of liberty. It is the great army of Austrian deserters.

Theresa Vestnik, the Serbian Minister in France, gave an interview at the legation here, speaking of this army and saying that it is composed of Austrians who took refuge in the mountains and forests, becoming convinced that their nationalities have the right to liberty, and that there is nothing to be gained by throwing away their lives to support the moribund power of Austria. The minister continued:

"There are thousands upon thousands of these deserters. Their number is growing steadily and its increase is one of the gravest military problems confronting the Austrian authorities."

"It is a problem they cannot solve because the whole army is honeycombed with the spirit of independence and racial freedom, which is diametrically opposed to Austrian sovereignty. Any severe measures taken against the deserters would be the signal for a widespread mutiny in the Austrian forces on all fronts."

"The declaration of war against the Central Empires by the United States and the declaration made several times by President Wilson concerning the future liberty of the little nations have been the principal cause of these desertions."

"The statements made by the President to Congress have been read by Austrian soldiers and have borne good fruit."

"The Austrian armies are composed in large part of Slavs, Croats and Jugo-Slavs, all nationalities oppressed by Austria, which have looked forward with keen hope to freedom as a result of the conclusion of peace and the promises of President Wilson."

"They will await the day in concealment on the mountains and in the forests, no longer willing to fight for the Hohenzollern and Hapsburg dynasties, which are their enemies."

"It is not a matter of great difficulty to desert because the country folk have the greatest sympathy for the soldiers and will hide and feed them, knowing that by reducing the armed strength of Austria they will hasten the end of the war."

"The deterioration in the morale of the army brought about by wholesale desertions is the most serious question before the imperial government of Austria at this time."

NO REDUCTION IN "AD" SPACE OF NEWSPAPERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Advertising will not be affected by the curtailment on news print consumption. Reading matter for the purpose of reducing space is defined by the agreement as consisting of all matter printed except paid advertisements. The schedules of curtailment are based upon a standard column of 300 square lines.

"Because of the absolute necessity of curtailing the use of paper," says a statement issued yesterday, "the pulp and paper section of the war industries board has ruled that during the war no newspaper shall be established."

With the exception that the curtailment of daily editions becomes effective August 12 instead of August 7, the recommendations of the committee of the American News Publishers' Association made public July 29 are accepted by the war industries board.

The curtailment of 20 per cent of Sunday editions becomes effective September 1.

The sliding scale of reductions in reading matter for daily and Sunday editions range from 5 per cent up to 20 columns to 60 per cent on more than 320 columns.

If by October 1 the board announces, the agreed curtailments have not been accomplished, additional curtailments will be put into effect on that date.

"Satans" Hun Name For U. S. Scappers

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 9.—"Satans" is the name for American soldiers among the German soldiers, according to a letter written by Lieutenant Blake, who, as "officer-war correspondent," writes for German papers. In the Dusseldorf Nachrichten he tells of a skirmish between a patrol of men from that city with an American patrol, who by their "impudent audacity" had been giving the Germans trouble. Both parties were hidden in shell craters, he says, and stalked each other for nineteen hours, with the result that three wounded American "satans" were brought in. For their work the captors received Iron Crosses.

OCEAN MAIL IS SLOWER

Senate Learns Letter to France Takes Two Weeks.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Senator Johnson of California declared in the senate today that the unnecessary delay in transporting letters between soldiers and their families not only was destroying the morale of the mothers of this country, but was injuring that of the fighters themselves.

"I ask the senate to aid in sparing these boys in France additional hardships," he said, "and in bringing to united action better service in the transportation of letters written to them from home."

Senator Nelson of Minnesota pointed out that where mail ships formerly took from five to six days to cross the Atlantic, two weeks and more are required now because the ships must be convoyed. This, he said, was no doubt responsible for some of the delay.

PRUSSIA PRINCE DENOUNCES PESSIMISTS AS POLITROONS

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Prince Heinrich of Prussia, while speaking at Hamburg, denounced German discouragement at present time and denounced those who took this attitude as politrons and panic-mongers, according to German press dispatches received here from Copenhagen.

MEN WHO CONTROL OUR WIRES

On Aug. 1 all telegraph and telephone systems passed into the control of the United States government under Postmaster-General Albert S. Burleson as the directing head. A committee of three will help him in the operation of the lines. Reading from left to right: Former Congressman David J. Lewis of Maryland, now member of the United States Tariff Commission; Postmaster-General Burleson, First Assistant Postmaster-General John C. Koons, and William H. Lanar, solicitor for the Postoffice Department.

BRITISH DECOY TRAPS U-BOAT

LONDON, Aug. 10.—A thrilling story of a fight between a British decoy ship and a German submarine was told by Sir Eric Goddard, first lord of the admiralty, at a weekly concert held for the American troops at the Palace theater.

The decoy, known as "28," had the appearance of a dingy old collier with an undisciplined looking crew, he said. This ship sailed into the Atlantic and finally sighted a German submarine. The decoy turned and ran away, but the submarine overhauled her and opened fire.

Some of the German shells fell on the decoy's deck and members of the crew were wounded and killed. The light of the decoy continued and she signaled for help. An hour and a half later the submarine drew nearer.

In the meantime, the decoy's decks had been set on fire and the captain knew that her magazine would soon explode. In fact the explosion came in a short time and sent one of her masts hurtling through the air.

The submarine had now swung around in front of the decoy. The captain unmasked the forward gun of the decoy and heavily shelled the submarine. One projectile hit away the enemy's conning tower and another hit her in the hull. She sank after the fight had lasted for five hours.

INSPECTING THE MARINES NEAR THE BATTLE FRONT

BATTLE SOUVENIRS MAY BE 'LIVE ONES'

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Beware the souvenir wreath or shell brought home from the battlefields of France. A wreath that had been an ornament in a West Midlands cottage for two years suddenly exploded and blew off part of a woman's hand. In consequence of the official inquiry into the accident the authorities have ordered an inspection of all war relics.

ONE EGG A WEEK IS LIMIT OF AUSTRIANS

THE HAGUE, Aug. 12.—One egg a week is the limit in Austria, according to the food ration published in the Vienna socialist newspaper, Arbeiter-Zeitung. Here's the rest of the weekly ration: Twenty-two ounces of bread, a pound of potatoes (at least half uncut), 1 pound of black branmash, 1 ounce of other mill product, 1-2 ounces of fat or butter, 6-12 ounces of sugar, 2 ounces of meat if one wants all night for it, a little jam and coffee substitute.
