Bulgaria Holding Out Peace Bait to Entente

ATHENS, Aug. 20.—Bulgaria is engaged in a peace offensive synchronizing with the German movement in the same direction, according to Alexander Carpanos, former Minister of Foreign Affairs. She is playing particularly upon the friendly sentiment existing, at least in part in Great Britain and the United States, he asserts.

"The rumors of a possible about-face on the part of Bulgaria have been confirmed by M. Michalakopoulos, our Minister of Agriculture, who has returned from London, whither he went on a special mission," declares M. Carpanos in an interview printed in the Messenger of this city. "Bulgaria is employing her old method of blackmailing her allies in order to obtain the largest possible sections of the territories of her neighbor, and by exploiting the eternal philo-Bulgar illusion in America and England, a proceeding which has been employed, particularly of late."

Loan Terms Opposed.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 21.—Although the Grange and Farmers Union of Washington has induced President Wilson to arrange for the loan of $1,000,000 through federal land banks to farmers needing aid in purchasing seed grain, little benefit from the fund is expected under the loan terms imposed. To bring more favorable terms under consideration Commissioner C. B. Benson of the Washington Department of Agriculture, has written the Northwestern objections to Secretary D. F. Houston of the Department of Agriculture.

SEVENTH COLOR IS DECLARED TO EXIST

Only One Person in 500 Can See it, Color Blindness Prevalent.

The six colors of the rainbow—red, orange, yellow, green, blue and violet—are familiar enough. But Dr. George L. Collins, of the public health service, says that one person in five hundred is able to distinguish a seventh color.

Unfortunately, those who are able to see this color can give no intelligible description of it, inasmuch as there are no terms for it in language. So far as it is concerned, nearly everybody is color blind.

What is ordinary termed color blindness is far more common than most people suppose. Of every twelve men that you meet, one is more or less defective in this respect.

How about the women? Curiously enough, with them the defect is relatively rare. Color blindness affects only one woman in forty-eight.

The fault (where it exists) has to do with the "color perceiving center" in the brain. It is not a defect of the eye, properly speaking. In some persons, apparently, this center is imperfectly developed.

Color Blindness Prevalent.

There are various degrees of color blindness. An individual mildly troubled in this way may be able to distinguish only five colors, and thru all his or her life may be wholly unaware of the defect. Another sees but four colors, yet another only three and there are not a few persons who recognize two colors only.

But there are cases where the whole rainbow, or "spectrum" of a sunbeam, passed thru a glass prism, appears as one color. These represent the extreme of color blindness.

Now and then one observes a woman who exhibits the most surprising lack of taste in the color schemes of her apparel. She delights in putting blues and greens together, and otherwise violates persistently the rules of harmony in such matters. She never dreams, and it does not occur to her friends to realize, that she is color blind.

To the person who can distinguish but five colors, orange does not exist.

To the person who can distinguish only four colors, there is no orange or blue.

To the person who recognizes only three colors, none but red green and violet is perceptible.

The 2-color defective sees only dark yellow and blue. To him, blue and
