EVEN FIFTH AVENUE STOPPED, GAZED AT ENRICO'S BRIDE

It was their first honeymoon stroll. Naturally, being in New York, they chose Fifth-av. And even hored Fifth-av. stopped and gazed when Enrico Caruso, prince of tenors, and his bride of a day gazed up the avenue on a shopping expedition.

CARUSO MARRIES, CEREMONY SECRET

Enrico Caruso, the Metropolitan Opera Tenor, recently married Miss Dorothy Park Benjamin, daughter of Mr. Park Benjamin, a New York city lawyer. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Oliver V. Barnhill at the Marble Collegiate church.

From the time the tenor and his bride-elect went into the license bureau in the Municipal Building, shortly after 3 o'clock in the afternoon until after the ceremony, secrecy was maintained.

To the license clerk Caruso gave his age as forty-five. Caruso gave his occupation as an artist and said he is the son of Marcelino Caruso and Annie Bulbini. He confided to the clerk that he intended to wed "within an hour." The service, he said, was to be in the "Little church Around the Corner" and the Rev. Dr. Murphy would officiate. Both Caruso and Miss Benjamin said they were single and neither had been married previously.

After the ceremony Caruso said: "I am the happiest man in the world. I cannot say—I could not even sing—my happiness. I have married the sweetest, most charming girl that ever lived."

Miss Benjamin made her debut in society four years ago. Her father is well known as a patent lawyer, author and naval expert.

The romance of the great tenor have filled many pages the world over. Five times reports of his engagements to as many women have been announced. Six years ago the Milan courts dismissed suits brought by Mrs. Giachetti, with whom he called the high seas of temporary matrimony and who was the mother of his two children. Later he was sued for breach of promise of marriage by a Milan shop girl, and four years ago he settled a similar suit brought by Mrs. Mildred Meffer of this city by the payment of $2,000.

OVER THE NORTHWEST

Two Children Drown in Portland. PORTLAND, Sept. 2.—Carl Weber, aged 7, and Dorothy Weber, aged 10, children of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Weber of 1991 Kelly street, were drowned in the Willamette river at Hardack Island at the foot of Iowa street at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when a rowboat in which they had been playing capsized and threw them into the water.

Road Pays No Dividends.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 2.—No dividends were paid by the O. W. R. & N. last year, according to the annual report of that road filed with the public service commission Saturday. The total operating revenue for the road were $22,927,935.16 and expenses $14,878,198.60. The net income was $1,141,327.38, all of which was expended in property investments.

Hop Raisers Are Dubious.

TACOMA, Sept. 2.—Fighting valley hopraisers will pick enough of their crop this year to fill existing contracts at least. They are dubious about the future of the business, due to the approach of prohibition. The crop this year is as good as in 1917, when it totaled between 6000 and 7000 bales.

Back Salary Suit Fails.

HOOD RIVER, Sept. 2.—In a ten-page decision, Circuit Judge Fred W. Wilson has ruled against the plaintiff in the case of Juppur Wickham, county assessor, who sought to collect an alleged claim of $1072.13 for back salary.

Dandelion Has Big Value.

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 2.—Idaho owns a regular gold mine and thought it was nothing but a lot of yellow weeds. The lovely dandelion has come into its own. Director Leo Flaherty of the University of Idaho extension department has received a communication from an eastern chemical concern noting a price of 25 cents a pound for the dried roots of the lowly, despised dandelion plant.

Idaho Elections Hold Interest.

BOISE, Idaho, Sept. 2.—Political forecasts issued here reflect the deep interest centered in the primary election which will be held in Idaho Tuesday. Sweeping victories are claimed by all sides. Signs indicate a big vote will be registered, probably the biggest in the history of the state.

Spectacular Forest Fire.

HOOD RIVER, Sept. 2.—While it has spent itself so far as possible damage is covered, the forest fire burning in Shoshone county, Wash., just opposite the Mitchell Point tunnel on the Columbia highway, reached a spectacular climax last night when a southwest wind drove the flames from the Little White Salmon gorge around the point to Columbia gorge.

Train Wreck Is Fatal.

ELENSBURG, Nwan., Sept. 2.—P. M. Pipp was killed and Pete Tost and E. Waymella were seriously injured that no hope is entertained for their recovery as the result of a Northern Pacific steamship freight train running into a section crew working a mile and a half west of Easton Sunday afternoon.

GIVES PALATIAL HOME FOR HOUSING WOUNDED

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Mrs. Spender-Clay has given over her lovely country home to the Red Cross, and it is being turned into a convalescent home for American officers.

Here the Americans will be able to see "the fat of the land." The house, which stands in many acres of glorious wooded grounds, has room for 100 beds. Besides having every care and attention these officers will be able to see some of the finest English scenery, for the house is situated in the most picturesque part of Surrey.

The first batch of 12 convalescents already has arrived from American hospitals in London.

THESE BE HEROIC DAYS.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—There is at least one man in England whose nerves have not been nudged by the war. He was bicycling from Newton Pagnell recently when a swarm of bees settled on his hat. He alighted calmly and impersonated a lump post until a bee came and stung the nose. The stolid hero was not stung.

Prune Harvest to Begin.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 2.—The harvesting of prunes will begin in earnest this week and continue for a month to six weeks, in various parts of the county. The prunes ripen along the river valley first and gradually get a little later as higher altitude is reached.

Science Is a Wonderful Thing.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2.—A cameraman of the educational department of a film company met a Revelstoke farmer near where he had been taking a picture. "I've just been taking some motion pictures of life on your farm," he explained. "Did you catch any of my laborers in motion?" asked the farmer. "None did," was the reply. "The farmer shook his head as he walked away, saying, "Science is a wonderful thing."

ROOSEVELT WOULD SEND TRAITORS OVER WITHOUT RIFLES

NEWBURG, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Theodore Roosevelt in a speech today declared union workers in some instances are setting the limit to the number of rivets to be driven in ship plates in one day and he said such men are traitors. "I would take any such men, put them in the army immediately, and shoot across the water to do the hardest work in the most dangerous position, and I would not give him a rifle until he had learned the spirit of patriotism."

Roosevelt's speech was delivered at the launching of a 9000 ton vessel. He said, "Our army is placed in France because the British furnished 60 per cent of the tonnage needed to ferry them across. From now on American shipbuilders must themselves bear this burden. "When loyalty is a prime necessity, capitalists should take the lead in showing loyalty, no profiteering whatever should be allowed, and capital should not receive an excessive return."

HOUSE MAY HAVE RECESS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Senate house leaders today agreed to allow the house to recess immediately after the passage of the revenue bill which is expected in 10 days. The recess possibly may extend through elections. The President has not yet approved the plan.
