MOTION PICTURE NEWS

What the Picture Theaters Have to Tell You.

Alta Today.

With the number of so-called "war pictures" which we have seen—one or two of them excellent and the others so palpably faked and false—it is refreshing, to say the least, to view one like "My Four Years in Germany."

How anyone, no race or creed barred, could view this picture and not be thrilled to the very core is beyond conception. It is a truly wonderful picturization of events, historically true, taken from the book of the same name, by Ambassador James W. Gerard, and visualized in a manner both interesting and entertaining.

The photography is said to be perfect, the interior settings life-like to the minutest detail, the exteriors well chosen and the acting of the principals and entire cast beyond criticism. The portrayal of the Kaiser and his staff, the treatment accorded the Russian and English prisoners by the Germans; the capturing and deportation of the Belgian women, the killing off of the old and young; the shooting of other prisoners en route to the prison camps to avoid feeding them; all these and more are shown in a manner that can't but bring the war "home" to those who view this picture and it is interesting to learn at first hand just what "our boys" are going up against, and the masterly struggle of one of them who "promised dad I'd get six of them." He "gets" his six Germans, one after the other, and winds up by rescuing a comrade from the last.

The last reel is an answer to the Germans "The Americans Won't Fight," and a picturization of Mr. Gerard's reply, "They won't eat!" Scene after scene shows the U. S. troops training, marching and the West Point cadets in their wonderful machine like parade, compared to the Kaiser's finest hussars with their "goose-step."

This remarkable screen production which has probably created the most comment of any picture ever produced, will be seen here at the Alta Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, twice daily, 2:30 afternoons, 8:15 nights. Admission, including tax, adults, 50c, children 25c.

The documents captured show that this has been especially the case in the rich territory between the Aisne and the Marne, where the inhabitants fleeing before the Hun advance, were able to take away with them only a few scattered belongings. According to these official documents special troops are set aside for the pillaging and the various battalions, regiments and divisions make request through the regular official channels on these pillaging troops for their portion of the booty.

Following is one of these official requests, addressed to the Chief Pillager for certain kinds of booty:

"The chief of the battalion requests me to ask you to hold ready, if possible during the course of the day or if not at least at nightfall, with the chief of the section in charge of the clothing depot, several articles of which the staff has need.
"We will send under cover of the fog some men to bring them back. Yesterday, on account of the obscurity we did not receive everything that was necessary. For example we carried away some women's chemises instead of shoes.

The above document was found on the body of a dead German following the recapture by the French of Hill No. 984, west of Chateau Thierry. The evidence contained in this document of the official character of the German's pillaging is further confirmed in another letter also sent by M. Mattern, in which he officially designates Lieut. Dombrowski, to whom the above letter was sent, as the grand pillager of Chateau Thierry.

Y. M. C. A. Secretaries Off to Front, Brothers Invade Spruce Camps

PORTLAND, Aug. 31.—Twenty three Y. M. C. A. secretaries invaded the spruce camps today just as their brothers secretaries have gone to the French front.

They took with them many things to make life in the forests pleasant. At each camp they will erect a recreational tent 14 by 32 feet in size and equipped for letter writing and entertainments.

The 23 pioneers will be reinforced later until the number reaches 60. They will have six trucks which will be movable Y. M. C. A.'s.

The "4's" will work among the 100,000 loggers and the 50,000 soldiers of the Spruce division. The work will be divided into several divisions with headquarters at Port Angeles, Raymond, Aberdeen, Coon Bay, Seaside, Powers and Newport.

Before the work is long underway there will be 125 small associations at the many camps. These associations will move as the camps move. John A. Goodell, personal representative of the War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A., is in charge of the work in the Northwest. Tom Davis is supervising secretary of the work with headquarters here.

TOO MUCH SUGAR IN JAPAN AND JAVA

(By United Press.)
TOKIO, Sept. 4.—While housewives of America and Europe are suffering from a shortage of sugar, those of the Far East have a superabundance of the sweet. Tokio sugar dealers are wrathful, for they fear the producer of the Japanese Empire is to be driven off the market, or greatly lowered in value, by sugar imported from Java. Java is at the bottom of the trouble. With a smaller export demand than usual, its centrifugal sugar has accumulated into great stocks at Batavia and Sourabaya, and consequently prices there are down. This week the prices have dropped from $3.25 to $2.10 a picul (133 pounds) so that the present price at Batavia for centrifugal sugar is about two and a third cents a pound. With higher prices in Japan, it is to be expected that sugar should flow this way. It is being suggested in Tokio that available space on ships plying from Yokohama to San Francisco and Seattle should be devoted to sugar on the ground that it is not economy to waste either ship space or fruit available for canning.

HUNS HAVE CHIEF ARMY PILLAGER

By HENRY WOOD (United Press Correspondent) WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, July, 29.—(By Mail.)—Documents taken from German prisoners captured recently on the French front established beyond a shadow of doubt that the Germans now have an officially organized system of pillaging new French territory as fast as it is occupied.

The documents captured show that this has been especially the case in the rich territory between the Aisne and the Marne, where the inhabitants fleeing before the Hun advance, were able to take away with them only a few scattered belongings. According to these official documents special troops are set aside for the pillaging and the various battalions, regiments and divisions make request through the regular official channels on these pillaging troops for their portion of the booty.

YANKEE RIFLE AND CANNON SCATTER FOE

Attacking Enemy Fall or Flee in Starlight Attempt.

BY WEBB MILLER (United Press Staff Correspondent) WITH THE AMERICANS IN FRANCE, September 3.—The Americans repulsed strong raids near Fismes yesterday. The enemy put down a heavy barrage and the Americans saw the Germans coming over the top through morning starlight.

The Americans opened machine gun fire quickly breaking up the attack before it reached the American lines. Then American artillery barged into the fleeing Germans, inflicting heavy losses. Within half an hour the enemy reformed and reattacked in the same place. American rifles thinned out the advancing ranks so rapidly that the unwounded Germans fled.

Nightly American patrols scout No-Man's-Land discovering German posts and keeping constant contact with the enemy along the whole Vesle front. American artillery is shelling the enemy rear areas effectively.
