GERMANY'S GRASP IS SLIPPING IN FRANCE

Cambrai and St. Quentin, Foe Strongholds Are Tottering.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Haig today reports the British have entered Cambrai and have reached the junction of the Arras-Cambrai and Bapaume-Cambrai roads on the western edge of the city.

Australians, Americans and English, despite heavy resistance all day yesterday gained ground between Cambrai and St. Quentin. "There was heavy fighting yesterday afternoon at the left of the battle front," Haig's statement said. "Our advanced troops who had taken Aubercourt, Au-Sac and had entered Arleux were compelled to withdraw from these villages. West, and northwest of Cambrai the enemy was unable to prevent our progress. Advanced detachments reached the junction of the Arras-Cambrai roads and entered the northern suburbs of the town."

GERMAN GRASP SLIPPING;

PARIS, Sept. 30.—Cambrai and St. Quentin, two of Germany's strongholds in France, seem about to fall into allied hands.

Lille, Bapaume, St. Quentin and Laon are four more of the best towns of the German defense. These cities have been held by the Germans like the fingers of a hand gripping France.

Germany is about to lose two middle fingers—Cambrai and St. Quentin—and the others are endangered.

It will probably take weeks and perhaps months of bitter fighting and many battles may be necessary before those other grasping fingers can be pried off and the kaiser forced to take a new grip, further north, but there is no doubt in the minds of military officials and people that it can be done.

SIMPLICITY, NECESSITY TO GOVERN SHOPPING IF RESOLUTION HOLDS

Pendleton May Support State Council of Defense Recommendation.

Resolutions recommending restriction of holiday shopping this year have been adopted by the Oregon State Council of Defense in conformity with a movement outlined by the National Council of Defense for the conservation of labor and material necessary to the production of holiday gifts and it is probable that Pendleton merchants will take action soon that will promote their support by not increasing their working force during the holiday season and by not increasing the normal working hours.

"The State Council of Defense," the resolution says, "holding fast to the cardinal principle of its original resolution that Christmas giving for the season (1918) should embody the element of simplicity and necessity, considers that the spirit of such giving, manifested by the custom of centuries, and involving the highest traits of human character, should not at this

Mother of Pendleton Banker Succumbs After Lingered Illness.

Mrs. Jessie NeSmith Ankeny, mother of NeSmith Ankeny of Pendleton, and wife of ex-Senator Levi NeSmith, died at her home in Walla Walla yesterday morning after a lingering illness brought on by a fall in June 1917.

Mrs. Ankeny, who was 70 years of age, was a native of the west. She was born near Hickman, Polk County, Oregon, April 5, 1848, the eldest daughter of Colonel James W. NeSmith, later United States senator of Oregon. Mr. NeSmith crossed the plains in 1843 and Mrs. NeSmith came to Oregon the following year.

Mrs. Ankeny was married October 2, 1867, to Levi Ankeny, at Hickman. Later they moved to Lewiston, of which city Mr. Ankeny was the first mayor. They came to Walla Walla in the early '70s and made their home there since.

Three of her children and her husband were at her bedside—John Ankeny, vice-president of the First National Bank of Walla Walla; NeSmith Ankeny, assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Pendleton, and Harriet Pope, wife of Colonel Francis Pope, of the United States Army, now in France. A son, Robert Ankeny, is in the United States Navy and is at sea.

Mrs. Levi Ankeny was widely known and had a host of friends. She was the elder sister of Mrs. Harriet McArthur, of Portland, and an aunt of Representative C. N. McArthur, congressman from the Third Oregon District and Lewis A. McArthur, of the Pacific Power & Light Company of Portland. A brother, James H. NeSmith, is with the Willamette Iron & Steel Company, and another brother, W. G. NeSmith, lives at Blue River. Or., Mrs. Ankeny's younger sister, Mrs. William Maryland NeSmith, was for many years a resident of Oregon and is now living at Montreal, Canada.

Mrs. Charity Ankeny, the oldest daughter of Senator and Mrs. Ankeny was severely injured in an elevator accident at St. Helen's Hall, in Portland in 1901, and died as the result of the accident in Philadelphia in 1904.

Mrs. Ankeny was one of the most sought after women in the Pacific Northwest, not only for her charitable work, but also for amount of her ready wit and remarkable memory. The funeral will be held in Walla Walla tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock and a number of Pendleton people expect to attend.

time be ignored or diminished; rather should be directed into higher and finer channels, and in order that this select group may be still further developed and strengthened, urge upon all to anticipate their purchases to the end that the season may be marked by an absence of the hardships imposed in years past by the stress of concentration and oftentimes chaotic buying without the all too brief period preceding Christmas day."

"I wish to subscribe my quota in the Fourth Liberty Loan," says a telegram from Roy Ritner, Captain of American Red Cross now seeing service in France. Although men in the service are exempt from subscription to the loan, this Pendleton man feels that service to the Red Cross is not sufficient to win the war, and therefore will buy his full quota of bonds."

DANGER SIGN IS OUT FOR WEALTHY MEN WHO FAIL TO TAKE LIBERTY QUOTA

Umatilla county started the week with a deficiency of approximately $10,000 in her Fourth Liberty Loan quota. Of the $2,000,000 to raise in the voluntary district chairman reported Saturday evening a total of $1,333,999.

Though this county is one of six in the state that has not yet attained its quota, the committee in charge refuses to grow hysterical. The campaign here did not begin until ten days after the beginning of the state had not under way and every dollar of the $1,000,000 subscribed has been returned voluntarily. Not a solicitor has been afraid and, despite the desire of the committee to go over the top as soon as possible, it will probably be a few days before the follow-up committee are sent forth. A definite plan and system was adopted for this campaign and the committee refuses to be stampeded into abandoning safety and thoroughness through fear of criticism or loss of publicity.
