duty. The former will have his self respect and the consciousness that in the hour of need he was true blue. The man who fails will have no such reward. He will know in his heart he was a sneak, that while other men sacrificed and died for a cause that was his as much as theirs he showed the yellow streak.

THEY DID IT

If the enemy desires a further answer to the Austrian peace note they had it in President Wilson's speech at New York Friday night:

"We are all agreed that there can be no peace obtained by any kind of bargain or compromise with the governments of the central empires, because we have dealt with them already and have seen them deal with other governments that were party to this struggle, at Brest-Litovsk and Bucharest. They have convinced us that they are without honor and do not intend justice. They observe no covenants, accept no principle but force and their own interest. We cannot 'come to terms' with them. They have made it impossible. The German people must, by this time, be fully aware that we cannot accept the word of those who forced this war upon us. We do not think the same thoughts or speak the same language of agreement."

SMALL RISK

- In men of vicious ways and rade
- I've often found a deal of good
- That just a touch of brotherhood
- Would cause to fructify;
- And that is why that day by day
- Whatever mortals chance to stray
- For good or bad across my way
- I greet with smiling eye.
- Who knows but that some failure there,
- O'erweighed with a load of care,
- About to break 'neath his despair,
- Needs but a friendly glance
- To save his soul and put him back
- Upon the clear and open track
- Where he may cure his mortal lack
- And win another chance.
- I may be wrong, but who'll deny
- The scheme's a worthy one to try?
- And since it costs us but a smile
- At any rate the game's worth while.

PATRIOT AND SNEAK

S AID a man Saturday, "It is not going to be easy for me to pay for my liberty bonds. I am under heavy expense. I had to pay $10,000 for feed for the winter but I would not for anything fail to take what bonds I am expected to take. I will do it if I have to sell my shirt." It is the spirit. It should be the spirit of everyone. The thing is not easy but it is the price we must pay to down the Hun and make the world safe for democracy and freedom. The man who takes his limit is the fortunate man, not the man who evades his the work go on until the job is done. Don't sit back and later on complain if your ward does not have the right sort of timber in the city hall. This is the time to act.

The enemy has been trying to kill our boys of old Troop D with gas shells and some people here hesitate about taking all the liberty bonds they should. They should be ashamed.

If Bulgaria goes down Austria will surely be the next to succumb and the Kaiser may soon be left to fight his war alone.

The services of G. M. Rice have been of the greatest value on the school board and his services will be equally valuable on the water commission which body has one of Pendleton's most important problems to handle.

28 YEARS AGO

(From the East Oregonian, Sept. 30, 1890.)

E. S. McComas of the Freewater Herald, is here today. The building on Joe Ell's property on Main street is being removed, preparatory to the erection of a brick. The Spokane Falls Review announces the engagement of Sam Sweeney and Miss Ida Switzer. James Withycombe, state veterinary surgeon, was here from the Willamette yesterday and inspected the horses of Mr. Rogers. The animals, suffering from nasal gland, were condemned and will be killed. At 8 o'clock this morning George R. Feringer, a prosperous farmer of Adams, and Miss Ida Ferguson, daughter of J. M. Ferguson, were married at Adams. Rev. D. E. George performed the ceremony.

THE WAR CITIES

CAMBRIAL

Cambrial is the ancient Norvian town of Camaracum, which is first mentioned in the Antonine itinerary. In the 5th century it was the capital of the Frankish king Ragnachar. Fortified by Charlemagne, it was captured and pillaged by the Normans in 876 and successfully besieged by the Hungarians in 922. During the 10th, 11th and 12th centuries it was the scene of frequent hostilities between the bishop and his supporters on the one hand and the citizens on the other, but the latter ultimately effected their independence. In 1478 Louis XI, who had attained possession of the town on the death of the last duke of Burgundy, handed it over to the emperor, and in the 16th century Charles the Fifth caused it to be fortified with a strong citadel. From that date to the peace of Nimwegen, which assigned it to France, it frequently passed from hand to hand by capture or treaty. In 1794 it was besieged in vain by the Austrians.

The town was long famous for its manufacture of fine muslin to which it gave the name of Cambrial; and it also contained manufactures of cotton cloth, lace and thread, as well as sugar factories, and other industries. The Scheldt river begins to be navigable at the lower end, and communicates with St. Quentin by means of a canal.

DELINQUENT SOLDIERS CANNOT ESCAPE

They Will Be Tried by Court Martial Hereafter.

CAMP LEWIS, Sept. 30.—Soldiers charged heretofore with violations of either city ordinances of Tacoma or state statutes will be turned over to the military authorities for trial by court martial. This agreement was reached following a conference between officers from here and city and county authorities of Tacoma. The four soldiers, who were each given six months sentence in the county jail in Tacoma on being convicted of immoral conduct were turned over to the custody of the military authorities and taken to Camp Lewis where they will be tried.

The health report this week will show some increase in pneumonia, it is said. Influenza and pneumonia seem to go hand in hand but so far little pneumonia has developed from the influenza cases here. There has been no Spanish influenza discovered as yet among the soldiers and every means is being taken to prevent an epidemic such as has been felt in the east. "The influenza which has attacked the soldiers is very similar to grip and of about the same duration."

NOT WISHING THE YANK ANY VERY HARD LUCK

LONDON, Aug. 19.—(By Mail)—A scoundrel doughboy in a certain English hospital finds visitors somewhat trying. Nevertheless, his cloud has at least one silver lining.

He waxes quite eloquent over Emmentraude, the small hospital laundrymaid. Her place really is in the pantry, and she and her black cat, Sir Julian Byng, are not supposed to be visiting the wards, yet they both manage to evade the law regularly every day. Emmentraude is adored of all the men. With her green eyes, tip-tipped nose, and golden brown hair home often tousled than tidy, she keeps them all merry with her unconscious humor.

The American presented her with a fragment of straw-stalk the other day. "Taken out of my side, that was," he explained impressively. "Out of my side—think of that, Emmentraude. Emmentraude regarded it stolidly. "I wish," she said thoughtfully, "it had been a German helmet!"

LOWE BROTHERS HIGH STANDARD PAINTS

These paints of proven performance show their quality by their looks, life and wear. Results have proved their certain economy.

HIGH STANDARD saves money now and next time. It saves money "now" because a gallon covers more surface than a gallon of cheaper paint. You will need fewer gallons of HIGH STANDARD. It spreads easier enabling your painter to do a better job in less time. It saves money "next time" because HIGH STANDARD is a long-wearing paint. You don't need to paint so often. And when after years of service it has gradually worn away, it leaves a good surface for repainting. This means saving of time and material.
