CROIX DE GUERRE GIVEN TO STATUE

PARIS, Oct. 30.—In the big square at Ypres, in Belgium, stands the "distinguished statue." It is a stout man of bronze, in bronze clothes of ancient days. It is of a lord mayor of another generation—Mr. Van den Perrebout. And through four years of bombardment he has not even been scratched. Recently, in recognition of Mr. Van den Perrebout's brazened heavy and disdain of German shells, a French Belgian attached the Croix de Guerre to his bronze lapel.

15000 Cups Chocolate Given in One Night at "Mother" Burdick's Hut

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 3.—By mail—"Mother" Burdick, the little Texas woman who invented "chocolate cake" and won the hearts of every doughboy who flopped into the little salubtion Army hut for cake and doughnuts and jam, has a new stunt which delights the soldiers.

It is the "all night chocolate service."

Recently a new division suddenly appeared in "Mother" Burdick's area, to eat the first units of it appeared. They were going to the front, the first doughboys told her. She was business as usual. Calling "Ma" Burdick and her other assistants, "Mother" Burdick got pots of chocolate on the stove at once. It was then fairly late at night.

Then "Mother" Burdick went out to find the general commanding the division. In the dark it was pretty hard to locate the general, but she finally cornered him. He was surprised. Being a newspaper in France with a new division, he had never heard of the Salvation Army women, stops An Army.

"I want to show them in companies just long enough to fill their cups as they go by the hot-down the road."

The new general was not used to being talked to that way and it was hardly within company orders to stop men in companies for chocolate.

But the general had brought his men a long way already that evening, and they had farther to go before morning. He knew hot chocolate would trace the boys.

So he gave the order for groups to stop one by one for rest at the Salvation Army hut, as they passed through. Then the general stopped himself for a cup of chocolate. They worked all night at "Mother" Burdick's hut, and two other huts nearby assisted so that more than 15,000 cups of chocolate were given to the boys that night.

MOVE ITALIANS INTO PATH OF OWN BOMBS

PARIS, Nov. 2.—Austrians, like the Germans, can't understand why the allies are so "inhuman" as to bomb cities behind the lines. When Italian airmen bombed railroad stations in Austria, Austrian authorities looked several hundred Italian prisoners of war in engine houses where they were in range of the airman's bombs.

HEROICS DON'T GO WITH GAS OFFICER

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 26.—(By Mail.)—The gas officer is one man in the American army who has no idea of romantic heroism. Every one has been congratulating the chaps who risked off their gas masks to do difficult jobs when the boches were heaving gas over in volumes, and the French awarded several boys the "Croix de Guerre" for their spunk.

Now comes the gas officer, taking all the joy out of being a hero in a gas attack. He says men who take off gas masks because they cannot do their work with them ought to be court-martialed instead of croix de guerre. The men will have to learn to work and fight in their masks, he says.

The gas officer hands it to the boys who work right through with their gas masks on, because they stay out of the hospitals. If anyone gets a whiff of the gas, the gas officer thinks that man ought to lie right down and take care of himself, which doesn't sound brave or heroic at all. It sounds like quitting, the doughboys say.

But the gas officer points out that the man who quits and takes care of himself gets over his gasing in 3 or 4 hours and can go back into service again, whereas the chap who stands it out to the last falls exhausted and needs a lot of hospital treatment before he is good for work again. This is how the gas officer figures the man who quits is a hero. He says the boches would like to have doughboys stay in the gas until they get whiffed good, and move around a lot until it is all through their bodies for that puts a doughboy out of commission.

Of course, the gas officer doesn't want anyone to be a quitter when he has an important post to hold, for he says if the doughboys use their masks quickly and correctly, the boches have no gas that will bother seriously.

6 BILLION MATCHES FOR BOYS AT FRONT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Whatever the boys at the front may lack, they're going to have plenty of matches this winter. The war department has purchased six billion matches for the use of the expeditionary forces—250,000,000 boxes, or 50 boxes apiece for the 2,000,000 men in France—enough surplus to light 2000 cigarettes per man.

DUNKIRK NO LONGER "BIG BERTHA" TARGET

PARIS, Nov. 2.—Dunkirk, up near the Belgian border, is just now out of reach of Hun long range guns. "Big Bertas" have been bombarding Dunkirk, shells falling many days at five-minute intervals. But the city went on with its daily routine. Not even the tramway schedule was interrupted. The Germans are driven back now to where they do not reach the city.

WRIGLEY GIVES TEN-FOLD

TO THE GOVERNMENT

To help meet the needs of the government, Wrigley's will discontinue the use of tin-foil as a wrapping for "Juicy Fruit" chewing gum, in order to release this valuable material to Uncle Sam.

Hundreds of thousands of pounds per week of tin-foil will thus be made available to the government, it is said. "Juicy Fruit" will hereafter appear in the hermetically sealed pink wrapper same as "Spearmint." "Doublemint" will also be wrapped in waxed pink paper, instead of green.

Batteries Should Never Freeze

If your battery freezes it's your own fault. There's proof right in the ice that you haven't taken care of it—that you haven't kept it charged.

A properly charged Willard Battery can't freeze, even in the coldest weather.

Come in and we'll tell you why batteries do sometimes freeze, and how you can tell when yours is cold-weather proof.

While you're here ask for a copy of our booklet—"A Mark with a Meaning for You." It tells just what the Willard Mark stands for.
