such radical contingent could have won out unaided. They had neither the leadership nor other necessary essentials to success. The inspiration for their success came from Germany and now that the source of strength is broken it may not take Russia long to restore order. This of course is based on the more or less doubtful assumption that all the men of brains have not been murdered meanwhile.

LEST WE FORGET.

Oh! let us not forget the goal; May God awake each heart and soul To sacrifice his ease, his all, Aye, life if need, at freedom's call.

Shall we not help, shall we not shield In reeking trench or battle-field; Our noble youth in manhood's flower, Who bleed to break the tyrant's power.

Mid peaceful scenes we rest secure, And little hardships we endure, While they who bear the battle's brunt, Must bleed and die on Flander's front.

—Frederic Pollock Livingston.

VICTOR AND VANQUISHED

If you are with the victorious in the political fray remember that honors come and honors go. Treat not the foeman with utter scorn. Next time you and he may be aligned side by side with facing some new armageddon. Politics makes strange bedfellows. Those who differ with you may not be entirely base and dishonest. Their opinions differ that is all. All men are considerably alike when you really get below the surface.

If you are of the defeated be not cast down. Things may not go as bad as you suppose. If they do you can say "I told you so." Furthermore it will be your fault. You did your duty as you saw it and you can take consolation that he who weareth not the crown is not troubled with wearing thereof.

THE STOOL PIGEON

REPORTS that the bolsheviks are now on their knees also crying for peace with the allies bears out the long felt opinion that with the kaiser gone the bolsheviks will not last long. It is a pretty generally accepted view that the success of Lenin and Trotsky was due to German money, arms and intrigue. It having laid down fairly clear courses for the future. It is to be sincerely hoped they will consistently adhere to liberal and broad-minded policies, leaving behind the narrow-minded and unduly selfish tendencies which have ruled in the past. This war has made America the second maritime power in the world, displacing Germany, which was formerly second, and leaving us with a tonnage not so very far below that of Great Britain, which before hostilities owned nearly one half of the world's total. Germany may strenuously endeavor to recover her lost position, but for a period will be almost hopelessly handicapped by impaired resources and worldwide enmity. The United States, on the other hand, will start in the race with a vast new tonnage and a foreign commerce already expanded to enormous proportions by war. To maintain this vast trade and to employ this huge tonnage will require most intelligent and careful action. We shall soon have to meet in open markets keen competition in both goods and freights. We shall be obliged to compete with the most experienced, capable and enterprising traders in the world. Our bankers, our manufacturers, our merchants and our shipowners will have to work together in intelligent co-operation. The old policy of restrictions and high duties will have to be set aside, for how is it possible to promote trade by imposing all sorts of limitations? How can we expect to sell if we will not buy? How can we find cargoes if prices and freights are higher than our competitors? How can we run ships if they cost more to build and operate than any others? Why stick to methods which promote international friction and war? Our foreign trade as well as our ships must be liberated from all such handicaps, unless we are prepared to surrender advantages to our rivals which we may never again possess.—From the Clews Financial Review.

Son Commands and Father Obeys Orders

PARIS, Nov. 6.—In a French infantry regiment are two men who have been comrades since the beginning of the war. One is young lieutenant, who has been decorated with the Legion of Honor and cited for bravery several times. The other is an old poilu who volunteered in 1914, won the Medal Militaire, became a sergeant and always refused to serve in any other company. The old poilu unhesitatingly obeys with the utmost respect the command of the young officer. The officer is the poilu's son.

He was with McKim, Mead and White, architects, of New York, before entering the service. His work has been unexcelled in the school, says Miss Camilla Leach, librarian of the school of architecture.

Repel Plots Spread in Berlin, on Rhine

PARIS, Nov. 6.—Revolutionary plots in Berlin and Hamburg and in the Rhine provinces and Westphalia have become so widespread that all the newspapers are publishing appeals to the people to refrain from anticipation in such acts against the government. This information is telegraphed from Zurich by the correspondent of Le Journal.

FOES WOMEN STEAL MORE THAN HIS MEN

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Describing conditions as he found them in Brozes, a correspondent on the Flanders front writes:

"One beautiful private house was used by Gov. von Schlein, the German civil head of the city, who at last was taken away ill. Before leaving the house, the officers of his staff looted it of everything and left it empty.

"In this work they seem to have been ably assisted by German women, who some six months ago began to replace soldiers in secretarial and similar positions. I heard from many directions that, both in insolence of manner and in stealing, these women were worse than any of the men."

PARIS, Nov. 6.—Increased ship building activity is reported from Germany. In the midst of war the Huns are feverishly patching up their shattered merchant marine. Neutral newspapers say many merchant ships are being built in the naval yards of Bremen and Hamburg. The German program is said to call for the construction of 550,000 tons of shipping.

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR, DOUBLE ITS BEAUTY

TRY THIS! HAIR GETS THICK, GLOSSY, WAVY AND BEAUTIFUL AT ONCE.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, making one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yet really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents.

Brunswick, Ga., was commended for initiative and zeal in holding in place with his hands a broken lighter spring on his ship during a recent engagement, thus enabling the vessel to maintain her speed and position.

Machinist Mate John W. Hill of Manchester, N. H., has been commended for jumping overboard in a storm and preventing the destruction of a seaplane.

Learn to Lookout for Yourself.

Somebody has declared that when people learn to treat slight ailments themselves, there will be much less sickness. Most diseases have their origin in some minor ailment, and when that is properly treated the more serious diseases may be avoided. This is particularly true of throat and lung troubles. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and give every child the attention it deserves and you will be able to avoid some of the most serious diseases that afflict mankind. This remedy has been in use for many years and its value fully proven. Learned the Real Value of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"We first learned of the true value of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy several years ago when we lived near Clifton Hill, this state," writes Mrs. James Malone, Moberly, Mo. "At that time I had a severe cold and an annoying cough. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and after taking a few doses of it my cough loosened up and my lungs felt better. I used one bottle of it and by then my cold had entirely disappeared."

WASTE OF SUGAR

The following bulletin was among the most forceful and effective bits of conservation propaganda at the New York Food Show last month. It was put out by the National Sugar Refining Company of New Jersey:

"Save the waste!"

"One hundred million cups coffee used daily in United States.

"Seventy million cups tea used daily in United States.

"One hundred and seventy million cups tea and coffee.

"If even an average of half a teaspoonful of sugar per cup is left undissolved at the bottom of cups of tea and coffee the waste would be 1,700,000 pounds of sugar daily.

"Stir your sugar until it dissolves. It's estimated that one-third to one-half of all sugars used in homes is used in tea and coffee. Think it over—how is it in your home? Isn't there a chance for saving?"

From New York Times Sunday, September 29, 1918.
