"IT'S OVER" STARTS BIG JOY PARADE

It took just those two words yesterday to start Pendleton on a joy ride parade which realized all demonstrations in noise and enthusiasm and which pressed into service every whistle, siren and horn in the city, not to mention the use of the lowly tin can, kettle and cowbell to show the delight of the jubilant crowd. The demonstration continued till late last night.

Everyone dropped work and assisted in the joy feast. Every machine in Pendleton paraded up and down Main street. Nurses at the "flu" hospital appeared in a machine; one nurse carrying a tooth brush with her. The Kaiser was burned in a specially erected gallows at the corner of Court and Main street while the band played "Yankee Doodle" as a fitting accompaniment.

This same Kaiser was carried to the gallows by the motor hearse and given a large bouquet of Oregon tumbleweed as a funeral wreath. A placard announced that the "Kaiser Has Gone to H—"

Colored employees at Hooker's flower store took the fresh blossoms from the window and threw them into passing automobiles which displayed the American flag. Small boys who had no machines at their disposal raced up and down Main street bearing the Stars and Stripes aloft. All business houses closed and among the signs which announced that November 7 was a holiday appeared "Closed Till Further Notice," and "Thank God It's Over; Store Closed for the Day."

From 10 o'clock in the morning until long afternoon the joyous celebration continued with unabated zeal. Parade after parade was formed on an impromptu basis. On foot, in cars, in wagons on bicycles, people raced about, shook hands, laughed, cried and yelled.

All last evening the celebrators continued their gaiety, one of the features of the evening being a bonfire on the old Happy Canyon site at Main and railroad streets.
