Portland Precautions Not Fully Observed

PORTLAND, Nov. 8.—Lax observance of the early closing order was charged by Chief of Police Johnson Wednesday, as 254 new cases and 22 deaths from Spanish influenza were reported. Offices, office buildings and shoe stores were among the principal offenders, according to a report made by the Chief to Mayor Baker.

An appeal for closer co-operation with the spirit of the order was issued by the mayor following the day's reports. A lowered number of cases and deaths over the previous day brought the word that stricter observance might mean an early lifting of the ban.

"Analysis of the day's reports gives reason for optimism," declared the public appeal. "Indications are most encouraging."

"Reports show that there has not been the proper co-operation on the part of some offices and office buildings. I urge citizens generally, and these people in particular, to observe the 4 o'clock closing rule and release employees promptly at that hour."

The Auditorium had only 104 cases with but three deaths in the preceding 24 hours, according to Dr. Parrish.

ILL BEHAVIOR OF HUNS CEMENTS BELGIAN PEOPLE

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The rejoicing of the people in the liberated districts of Belgium continues to brighten as further districts are freed, according to Perry Robinson, the Daily News correspondent on the Flanders front. He writes:

"Having reached Ostend yesterday noon, I returned by way of Bruges and Thourout, so making a very extensive tour of the parts of Belgium recently under German rule. What I think impresses me more than anything else is the extraordinary skill with which the Germans have got themselves hated by every one.

"The individual German is loathed by the people of all classes. Brute, bully, thief, bandit and brigand are terms I heard everywhere applied to officers and men, and their manners, unclean lives and lying tongues have revolted the whole population. 'Les sales Boches' became so familiar on the lips of the people that it almost has grown into a single word, and tripper.

Belgians Are Unified.
"The ill behavior of the Germans has enormously consolidated the Belgian people. Common suffering and common attachment to their king would have done this in any case but the Germans have done everything to play on the prejudices of the different classes of the people."

WHERE ARE THE CARS FOR BOYS' CHRISTMAS

PARIS, Oct. 6.—(By mail.)—The postoffice department of the expeditionary force has started to worry already about the Christmas parcel question. It has figured that if every man in the American army is allowed a 5-pound package for Christmas, it will require 700 cars per day working 10 days to transport the packages from the front to the consumers. And they don't know whether the cars are going to be available. But the postmaster in chief has promised if the
