"Pop" in Many Forms.
Today's enthusiasm found many means of novel expression. A bunch of colored boys rode in the parade singing "The Land That Made Me Free" as they went up and down Main street. "The Goose Hangs High" was the sign on another machine. A huge caterpillar engine owned by Kirkpatrick and son was perhaps the noisiest of all, for as a trailer it drew a huge grain tank. "Going Home" said a sign on an improvised cannon bearing the American flag.

JOY ENDS IN JAIL NEW CAR IN HEAP

Even on such occasions as the celebration caused last night by the wild joy over the receipt of the news of the surrender of Germany there is such a thing as getting too noisy as shown when Angus Minthorn was taken into custody by Officer Meyers after he had made a wild drive down Main street in a fine new Cole car. Young Minthorn first collided with the seat of Chas. Bond's car and then went down Main street toward the bridge with all the speed he could get up, but could not control the car owing to damaging the steering gear when he reached the bridge he had another collision, running into the bridge that proved too much for the car. It was here that Minthorn was taken in charge by the officer and after he had given his check to Mr. Bond to cover the damage officer Meyers decided to keep him in charge until morning to avoid further damage of the kind. Minthorn's car is said to be so badly damaged that it is almost beyond repair. Minthorn is a young fadist who sold a farm several months ago, getting $22,000 in cash.

Miss Virginia Todd Receives Gratitude Of French Protege

Miss Virginia Todd, formerly of this city, received the following letter from little Liliane Bivard thanking her for her adoption as Miss Todd. The letter was in French and the translation is as follows:

October 6, 1918.
Mademoiselle,
I thank you very sincerely for having adopted me for your little Liliane (good daughter). I am very happy to be in correspondence with an American girl so devoted to the French cause. Pardon me for not having written to you sooner. I have been very ill and my health is poor, afflicted with a nervous malady especially since the death of my father. Our home is not cheerful. I am alone with my mother who is kept at home on account of my health.

Before the war we were in good circumstances. My father had a good position and was very kind to us. Here we speak a great deal of the end of the war but for us the end of the war will not bring my father back but I must not think only of myself. Others will be happier.

Forgive me, mademoiselle, for speaking of such sad things and please accept the friendship of your all devoted friend,
LILIANE BIVARD,
3 Rue Romain Beauchamps, Petit Quevilly.

DR. C. A. WOODY, CHURCH LEADER, PASSES AWAY

Rev. Clarence A. Woody, D. D., L. L. D., for two years pastor of the Baptist church here and the first principal of Weston Normal, and for 16 years general superintendent of the Pacific Coast division of the American Baptist Home Missionary society, died at his home in Portland on Saturday, at the age of 62.

Dr. Woody, who is well known here, is the brother of Mrs. Theo. Bush of this city, and of Mrs. Cass Cannon of Athens. Others who survive him are his widow, Martha Kirby Woody, whom he married in 1879; a daughter, Mrs. J. A. Farley, a son, Harold H., formerly professor in Dalhousie University, Halifax, N. S., now a sergeant at Camp Lewis; his mother, Mrs. Jane Wooddy; a brother, R. E. Wooddy, of Seattle, and a sister, Mrs. Mary J. Walker of Los Angeles.

In the death of Dr. Woody the west has lost one of its most prominent church leaders. His territory took in the entire Pacific slope and included Alaska. He was a native of Oregon and the son of a pioneer, Reuben Wooddy, of Brownsville. Dr. Woody won his education at McMinnville College and the University of Oregon largely through his own efforts. He obtained the degree of D. D. at Rochester Seminary and the degree of L. L. D. at California College. He is one of the 35 Portland residents mentioned in "Who's Who" in America.

After holding pastorates here and in Weston, he went to Portland in 1888 as editor of the Pacific Baptist, and held the position for 12 years. Later he became acting secretary for the Pacific northwest for the mission society and held this position until 1902 when he became superintendent.

PRESIDENT'S DOUBLE MADE AMBASSADOR.

So like President Wilson in looks, that the likeness is a matter of frequent comment. John William Davis, new ambassador to Great Britain is also much like the president in characteristics. Unlike the president, Davis has no fondness for golf, or, indeed, for any outdoor sport. As Solicitor General of the United States Davis has displayed the broadest knowledge of legal problems, and though but 45, has had the endorsement of the entire supreme bench for a seat in that august tribunal.

NEWS OF SACRIFICE COMES AMID JOY

The news of the death in France of his son, Private John Leonard Ireland, U. S. Infantry, came to Rev. J. E. Ireland of this city this morning amid the celebration of the signing of the armistice. Private Ireland, who was 22 years of age and born in Minnesota, died of disease. Besides his parents he leaves a wife and two children.

Rev. Ireland has another son who is also in France in the infantry. He is Corporal Lloyd Travis, Ireland, known at Camp Lewis as "Kid Irish," and instructor in wrestling there.

14 LAST SOLDIERS GET JOY RIDE WITH UNCLE SAM AS HOST

Wishing them a pleasant joy-ride at the expense of Uncle Sam a large number of friends at the O.-W. depot this morning waved goodbye to 14 young men who entrained for Camp Lewis. About the time of their departure it was announced by the East Oregonian through the United Press that Gen. Crowder had issued orders cancelling all draft calls, and these men will probably be the last men to be called to the army from Umatilla county.

The following were the men leaving: O. M. Lissulind, R. E. Grimes, Daniel L. York, L. Deuning, Irvin Scott, Mayberry, William A. Holmstrom, Harry L. Mathis, Selam W. Jacobson, Charles Woods, Dee Hutton, King Shippenower, Sechstras, L. Galer, leader, Martin Lopez and Fred W. Whistone were with the party, inducted by the local board as from Lewiston, Ida. and Rosburg, respectively.

NOW HELP PUT OVER WAR FUND AND HELP BOYS

Make your gift for the United War Work fund in thanksgiving. Do it now. The campaign opened today. Let "Give one day's pay" be your slogan. This is the slogan being adopted by those in class one rating, and is taking with a swing. They say the man who is unwilling to give up a day for the boys who have put over the biggest job in history in such splendid shape "is a pretty poor thing." The campaign opened in Pendleton this morning, and notwithstanding everybody is taking a day off in celebration of the surrender of the Hun, solicitors and campaign chairmen have opened the campaign. They are looking forward to making this drive one of the most successful of the war.

It is now that we can see the end of the war and know there will not be many more drives to follow, and people are expected to dig deep down in their pockets until the Umatilla county's quota is made a pin full, including the 50 per cent asked in addition.

The executive committee of the Patriotic Service League announces there will be no reduction of ratings of individuals. These ratings have been reduced to the absolute minimum, at the same time they want it fully understood there is no limit to what a person can go over his rating. The limit in this direction is absolutely off.

REGIMENT JOINS REBELS.
THE HAGUE, Nov. 11.—(Delayed)—The entire Third infantry has joined the rebels, who have seized the aid-stations at Blankenstein. The disturbances continue in Berlin. An eye witness says that Oberhausen is in the hands of the revolutionists. He also says that workmen and soldiers blew up two warships at Hamburg Saturday to prevent entrance of the fleet to suppress the revolution.
