ITALY EARNED HER SHARE OF GLORY

BY HENRY WOOD

(United Press Staff Correspondent) ROME, Nov. 26.—With the end of the war, which renders no longer necessary secrecy regarding the mobilization efforts of the various Allied countries, the fact has just been made public that Italy's total mobilization reached just 14 1/2 per cent of her total population.

This figure is believed to surpass that of any of the other Allied nations. Of a total of 36,000,000 inhabitants, Italy called under arms over 5,000,000 men.

To do this it was necessary to call out not only all of her oldest classes that could possibly be of any service, but to send also her younger classes to the front in a greater proportion than any of the other Allies. Italy's class of 1899, comprising the 19 year old boys of the nation, were at the front a year before hostilities ceased, while all of the more important elements of the 1900 class or 18 year old boy soldiers have been under arms for the last six months.

In addition to the 5,000,000 men under arms, Italy had engaged in her establishments for the manufacture of war materials 300,000 men and 200,000 women and boys. In addition France was supplied with over 70,000 Italian workmen for keeping up the civilian work of that country, besides thousands of auxiliary troops who were engaged in the construction of military defenses along the entire French front, making a total of war industrial mobilization of 1,300,000. Added to this was the agricultural mobilization, consisting largely of old men, women and boys who replaced the 3,000,000 Italian agricultural workers who were under arms. Italy's military, industrial and civilian mobilization thus reached a total of over 9,000,000.

Famous Oregon Runner Wins Gold Watch From Queen Mother of Italy

PORTLAND, Nov. 26.—First Lieutenant Vere Windnagle, the famous Portland mile runner, who won his spurs at Oregon and Cornell, and who helped the Italian air forces rout the Austrians in the Alps, had plenty of opportunity this summer and autumn to display his skill before the athletic fans of Rome. As a memento, Lieutenant Windnagle, U. S. aviator, was presented with a gold watch at the meeting of the athletes and Italian athletic authorities at the births of Caracalla, a present of the queen mother of Italy.

Competing against Windnagle and the other Americans were athletes from Italy and Belgium. The 100 meters was won by the Italian aviator, Croci, who has a war record of downing five Austrian planes.

WINS 800 METER RACE. Lieutenant Windnagle sent clippings from various Rome newspapers to Mrs. Windnagle, relating to the big meeting. El Piccolo has the following about the 800 meter race, which Windnagle won:

"This was a race the equal of which it will be difficult to see again in Rome. A reunion of select champions in excellent form; a fierce struggle throughout all of the course; a speedy pace set by Lunghi, with the finest resolution and courage; an arrival in a close group, from which there succeeded to come to light, slowly but surely, the American, Windnagle, well known of all the Roman public.

"The result was as follows: Windnagle (American), time 2:05 1/4; 2. Lunghi; 3. Bonhi; 4. Candelari (Italy)."

UNITED STATES HAS BRILLIANT OUTLOOK

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—"The industries of the United States stand on the threshold of the greatest opportunity in the world's history." Charles H. Sabie, president of the Guaranty Trust company of New York, London and Paris, said this at the conclusion of an interview in which he discussed the probable effect of peace on business and labor in the United States.

"Business Men Can Be Optimistic. I am an optimist on the general outlook," he declared. "There is not the slightest reason to believe that panicky conditions may follow the peace settlement. We only expect, of course, a period of readjustment in which industries that have been on a purely war basis will be transferred to a peace basis, but, beyond some temporary dislocation and redistribution of labor, we have nothing to fear.

"There will be released for peace the big machine industry of raw material which has heretofore had to be withheld from such work. For instance, I have wanted for some time to put a wire fence around my garden. I could not get the wire. It was going into war use. That is a small thing, but it is typical.

"All building operations set of a purely war character have been suspended during the war. There is a great deal of work of that kind to be done. Abroad, of course, there is much more to be done, and, no doubt, we will be called on to do our share of that, though naturally the French, (thrift, highly skilled and intelligent, will want to utilize their own industrial equipment so far as possible, rather than owe us for additional materials. The same will be true of England and Belgium. But notwithstanding this, there is a vast deal for us to do in helping these countries rebuild, and a large part of this business we can finance by purchase of French, British and Belgian securities. Thus we will finance our own export business—a sound principle in building up export trade."

Students Get Uniforms

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Nov. 27.—A great day for the men of the Students' Army Training Corps was yesterday. They were so happy they could scarcely contain their joy. For to be paid and to have a new uniform, or even part of one, all in one day is considered almost too good to be true.

ROBS WIRELESS OF STATIC

Roy A. Weagant, chief engineer of the Marconi Company of America, has perfected an invention regarded as the most important in the history of wireless telegraphy.

The invention removes the "static," thereby overcoming the greatest obstacle to the clear transmission of radio messages. "Static" is to wireless telegraphy what the old buzzing used to be to the phone. Weagant's discovery makes continuous wireless communication over the oceans possible for 24 hours of the day, regardless of atmospheric conditions. It will also make unnecessary the high towers for aerials.
