14 Centers Getting Soldier Education Underway Thru U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Vocational re-education at government expense of wounded American soldiers embracing all sections of the country. A report today by the federal board having this work in charge showed on November 9, a total of 5584 cases in which such training would be needed. Of this number 4431 were brought to the attention of the board as eligible by the war risk insurance bureau.

More than one-half of these men have been allowed disability compensations.

"The bureau of war risk insurance," the report says, "is working harmoniously with the federal board in the endeavor to do the best thing possible for the disabled men, and what it rightly conceives to be the immediate offering of opportunity for special training, by which these men, despite their handicaps, may be made efficient in some line of civil usefulness and given earning power."

All expenses at the school to which they are assigned, together with transportation and pay on a regular graded scale, are met by the government.

His parents reside at Freewater and he is visiting them for a time.

At the time Loyal was wounded his two comrades on the machine gun they were working were killed, and in the mixup he had the satisfaction of bayoneting one of the Germans attacking them.

Holland Can Import Goods by Agreement Recently Concluded

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Conclusion of a trade "arrangement" between Holland and the associated governments whereby Holland will be allowed to import commodities under licenses is announced by the war trade board.

Stipulation is made that only Dutch ships may be used; that all shipments must be consigned to the Netherlands Overseas Trust and that exporters must obtain from prospective importers advice that an import certificate has been issued by the Netherlands government to cover the proposed consignment.

There was no information as to what commodities Holland may obtain. It is announced she will be permitted foodstuffs and manufactured products and raw materials not on the restricted exports list.

It was understood that the present arrangement is in the nature of a concession to the Netherlands government rather than a trade agreement such as was negotiated by other northern European neutrals with the associated governments.

Until now all efforts of Holland to obtain needed commodities from America except 50,000 tons of grain sent after the United States took over Dutch shipping in this country, have failed. Officials said this was due to the fact that because of pressure brought by Germany the Netherlands government was unable to give the necessary guarantees.

Much of Holland's ocean tonnage, said to have been tied up in Dutch ports because of the submarine menace, now will be released for overseas trade.

EXPLOSION NEARLY BLOTS OUT HARBOR

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The latest interesting war-time happening now related for publication is a story of how Dover narrowly missed being blotted out just prior to the last Belgian offensive.

The harbor was crowded with war vessels of all descriptions, including four monitors, about to start out for government co-operation with the land offensive. Suddenly an explosion shook the town and soon it was discovered that the monitor Glatten was ablaze in the harbor. It is stated that Admiral Keyes boarded the Glatten, and realizing the catastrophe both to the city and to the other warships in the harbor that would result if the Glatten's magazines exploded, ordered air raid sirens to be blown to clear the streets. Orders were also given to sink the Glatten. The destroyer Eroke succeeded in hitting her with three torpedoes in a part away from her magazines, thus sinking her and saving Dover.
