MILLION MISSING MEN ARE SOUGHT

ALL TRACE IS LOST, OBLITERATED BY WAR

Extra Rooms Kept Vacant and Places Are Set at Tables.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—"Missing—Total 1,000,000, all ranks." These figures form one of the columns of the combined allied casualty lists of the great war.

They represent a total of officers and enlisted men, whose war records ended with the unknown. They are not known dead; they will not come marching home. There is no record of them as prisoners. They were not wounded nor blown to atoms so far as known. They just disappeared, leaving no trace. They were obliterated by the war.

Relatives of men reported only as missing in England and France are accorded unusual sympathy. It is recognized they are enduring an additional burden of sorrow.

Suspense Continues. Mothers refuse to admit their sons are dead. The extra room is kept vacant. In some homes the son's place is set daily at the table. The women of the household know to a minute the schedule of the postman. The minister or the parish priest is a frequent visitor. The mother prays every day.

"But I do not know whether for his soul or for him," one told a friend. "It would be such a relief if I only knew. But I simply cannot give him up for dead."

In nearly 1,000,000 homes in the allied countries of Europe relatives are waiting hourly. Wives do not know whether they are wives or widows.

Red Cross offices are besieged by relatives begging for special examinations of hospital lists.

A young English woman who recently spent days waiting at a Red Cross headquarters said to an official:

"If you only could by some chance get me some news, just a bit of news, I'd be so glad. I simply cannot face my little son many days longer. Every day he stops his play to ask me 'Mamma, when's papa coming home? When, mamma? The war's over now, isn't it?'

Any News Welcome. To the relatives of the missing the war's end has brought no relief from suspense. A father at Red Cross headquarters said:

"It would be such a relief to give our son up for dead. I may sound foolish and foolish, but for his mother's sake I'd welcome any news that would be final, something to which she could become resigned. But of course, we just must go on hoping while there's a chance he still lives. It's probably only one chance in a million. But it's the thing that perpetuates the agony."

ARSENALS ARE NOW FACTORIES

PARIS, Jan. 16.—The French ministry of armament has been transferred into the ministry of industrial reconstruction.

It announces that the arsenal at Roanne, which cost $20,000,000 to build, will be turned into a plant for the erection of railroad material. So will the arsenal at Bourges and Chatelleraul. For four years France has needed railway material and has placed large orders in Pittsburgh. The car parts have been shipped over from the states and erected in temporary plants by American car builders. Now that the war is over, France intends to do the erecting herself.

Another large arsenal at Palmbouff, will be used for the manufacture of chemicals and powders. At Toulouse there is to be a big dyeing works which will compete with the German products.

Germans and Austrians Camouflaged for Plot

ROME, Jan. 16.—Special dispatches received by Rome newspapers confirm the statements already published that in the redoubtable provinces of Italy not a few of the so-called Jugoslavians are no other in reality than Austrians or Germans, who passing themselves off as Jugoslavians, are carrying on a double propaganda against the legitimate aspirations of Italy. One is by creating disorders, and the other is to persuade the residents to consent to become a part of the new and free Jugoslav nation and to oppose the pretensions of Italian domination. It has been established that many agitators who were the direct cause of the most recent disorders were Germans or of German descent.

In Plume the majority of the Italian population does not doubt that all the efforts of Germans to create bad blood and discontent between the Italians and the Jugoslavians will have no result, and that the effect of these subtle underground dealings cannot end in anything more than some local outbreaks; and that the Italian forces in the city will be more than adequate to maintain public order and tranquillity.

Should Women Be Whipped? Question Puzzled Forefathers

LONDON, Dec. 29. (By Mail).—Should women be whipped? Just a century ago wisecracks, politicians and noble-lords of Great Britain were debating the point. It was quite a new idea to worry about what was happening to women, but after some discussion it was decided that they ought not to be whipped—that the best way to handle them was on the "gentle-but-firm" method—and in 1829 the wisecracks, politicians and noble-lords passed a bill known as the whipping act prohibiting the corporal punishment of women.

Having made this evasion on women's behalf they returned to the discussion of things which interested them. Fifty years passed. The seed which had been planted in 1829 began to take root in 1870, and the question of special legislation for women again bobbed up. This time an act was passed allowing women to be possessors of their own property—a magnanimous document known as the married woman's property act.

Those two acts, small in themselves, were of great portance to women. They were the first admission that women had any rights or legal status. In the last 50 years women have come to the foreground in leaps and bounds. By the interpretation act of 1892 the government went so far as to allow that "words in any act of parliament passed after 1850 imputing the masculine gender shall include females unless the contrary intention appears."

MANY APARTMENT HOUSES TO SPRING UP IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Construction of more than $200,000,000 worth of dwellings is scheduled to begin here just as soon as men and materials, released from war work, are available. Most of the buildings will be large apartment houses, plans for which have been drawn and ground for which has been ready for many months.

New York's overpopulation and underconstruction was one of the problems that has grown rapidly more acute since the nation abandoned itself almost entirely to war work. Rents have become so high that efforts were made several times to interest the federal government in rent regulation of apartment house construction. Within one year from the signing of the armistice housing facilities for at least 100,000 more people should be completed. Construction work then will be at its height, contractors say. Thousands of men, released from war jobs, will be employed in building apartments, and much structural steel and other building materials already bought or contracted for the government probably will be assimilated quickly in this dwelling construction work.

Kenney, held on a white slavery charge, will precede the trial of Mr. Albers.

AGE DOES NOT PREVENT MAN FROM GOING TO SEA

DALLAS, Ore., Jan. 16.—Frank H. Morrison of this city has again entered the marine service and will leave Portland soon on a ship for New York city by way of the Panama canal. Mr. Morrison, volunteered his services to the emergency fleet board at the outbreak of the war but on account of his age he received an assignment until a few months ago when he made a trip to San Francisco on a Portland built boat. Mr. Morrison is an old sea-faring man, having spent a number of years in Uncle Sam's navy when a young man. His present age is somewhere near the 65 mark but he still has a hankering for salt water.

SOLOMON IN ALL HIS GLORY, WOULD GO BROKE

LONDON, Dec. 2 (By Mail).—Solomon's desire, "Stay me with flagons, comfort me with apples," would be quite out of the question if he lived in England today, unless he was prepared to pay war prices. Flagons of Australian wine which used to be 42 cents are now $1.14, and edible apples are bringing 36 cents.
