The first rehearsal of the Easter music of the Church of the Redeemer will be held this evening.

Attesting the interest centered in the work of Mrs. S. H. Forshaw and her pupils, the club room of the library was last evening filled to capacity, with even the entrance hall crowded until after the final number of the program of solos and chorus songs in which the students were presented. The selections were made from the music of many nations, blending into a delightfully balanced program and displaying a wide range of study and accomplishment. Appearing in solo were Mrs. J. B. McCook, Miss Lillian Culley, Mrs. Mae Hagar, Mrs. Raymond Hatch and Miss Anderson. Opening numbers were part songs, taken from the Swedish, sung with violin obligato by Miss Gaynell Baldwin. Miss Jean Jacobs presided at the piano.

Violin obligato by Miss Baldwin also accompanied the solo work of Mrs. Hatch. The numbers varied between the staccato notes of the Old English, the appealing Irish tune, the French melody, the individual Indian theme and the plaintive negro air, with a final solo, Mountain Echo Song, by Miss Sophia Anderson, in the charming costume of the Norwegian peasant. The closing numbers were chorus songs, "The Snow" and "Fly Singing Bird," directed by Mrs. Forshaw and sung with double violin obligato by Miss Baldwin and Miss Helen Johns. The club room was made an attractive scene for the affair by the presence of palms, ferns and great clusters of Ophelia roses. Sharing credit for the success of the musicale was a group of students who were presented in the chorus work. They were Miss Yashti Hoskins, Miss Helen Idleman, Mrs. Charles S. Law, Miss Helen Lockwood, Miss Clara MacDonald, Miss Pearl Rankin, Miss Rose Ross and Miss Mary Wilkes.

Francis Daniels of the United States Navy, who will leave Monday for New York after a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Daniels, was the guest of honor at a dinner given last evening at the Daniels farm, and presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Daniels, assisted by Miss Elsie Morton. About thirty friends motored out from Pendleton, many of them being men just returned from service in the navy.

Dancing followed the dinner and several musical numbers contributed to the evening's pleasure, while card tables were stationed where the dancers might adjourn for an impromptu game. An out of town guest who shared the affair was J. H. Weaver, a house guest at the Daniels farm, and at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Charles Quinney, who is soon to leave for his home in Montana. Other members of the party included, besides Mr. and Mrs. Daniels, the honor guest, and Miss Morton, Miss Flossie Sloan, Miss Vera Bullack, Miss Ina Bullack, Miss Della Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Morton, Mr. and Mrs. William Kraft, Miss Olga Callison, Laurence Woodworth, Frank Garsch, Polson Tallman, Laurence Bullack, Paul Spooner, D. to Mrs. Ellen Brown and Mrs. Martha Hassell. A short business meeting followed the final number of the program and the afternoon ended with a social hour. Appointments of the affair were uniquely developed suggestions of the St. Patrick season.
