JUST A JOB?

Is it just a job that is yours to hold,
A task that offers you so much gold,
Just so much work that is yours to do,
With never a greater goal in view?
What do you see at your desk or loom,
Or the spot you fill in life's busy room?
Or the spot you SHREDLU TU
Merely a flickering lamp that burns
With a sticky light as the mill wheel turns,
And the same old grind in the same old ways,
With all the tomorrows like yesterday's!

Is it just a job, just a task to do,
So many pieces to build anew?
So many figures to add, and then Home for a while and back again?
Are you just a clerk in a gaudy shop,
Pleased when a customer fails to stop,
Finding no joy in the things you sell,
Sullenly waiting the quitting bell?
Are your thoughts confined to the narrow space
And the drabness of your present place?

THE SELECTION OF GENEVA

HERE is room for asking if President Wilson did not lean backward too much in insisting on the selection of Geneva as headquarters for the League of Nations instead of Brussels?

The president is classed as having been chiefly influential in swinging the conference to Geneva. He was supported by Great Britain, Italy and Japan while France with a number of lesser nations voted for Brussels. The president is quoted as having opposed the Belgian city because it "incarnates the enmity between races." If that was President Wilson's chief reason for opposing Brussels it was not sufficient. The enmity between German and Belgian arises over the kaiser's invasion in 1914 and the subsequent brutal treatment of the Belgian people. From the standpoint of Belgium that enmity is justified and a Germany that is not ready to admit as much is not in right condition to enter the League of Nations. Until Germany is willing to frankly admit that her former policy was wrong and that as a nation she intends to adopt a different policy for the future Germany should not be trusted.

The Wilson purpose in urging the Geneva location is plain. He must be credited for a sincere desire to make the League of Nations a success. He sees in the league plan a great hope for humanity and he wishes to so arrange matters that the central powers will eventually enter the league. History may prove that he is right on this matter of

Stop the "Snuffles"

If you want to make your distressed babies easy and comfortable, give Foley's Honey and Tar. It is just what they ought to have for feverish colds, coughs, "snuffles," and wheezy breathing. It stops croup, too. Foley's Honey and Tar tastes good and the little ones like it. It contains no morphine, chloroform or other drug that you wouldn't like to give to your children. Do not accept a substitute.

Mrs. R. H. Garrett, Schoolfield, Va., writes: "My baby was stricken with a severe cough and cold at one month old. I gave him ten to fifteen drops of Foley's Honey and Tar every three hours and it surely did help him. He hasn't been sick a day since."

headquarters for the league but at present it is hard to coincide in his judgment. Belgium made a brave fight for civilization and is entitled to recognition.

THERE ARE COMPLICATIONS

NEWS stories from different parts of the country show that as a rule employers manifest a commendable spirit in the matter of taking back men who entered the army or navy. Cases where service men have been "turned down cold" are sporadic. In some cases employers are taking their men back at higher wages than formerly paid on the ground that the men are now more experienced and therefore worth more.

It is true, however, that knotty problems sometimes arise in connection with restoring the soldier to civil life. There are cases where married men or women with loved ones to support now hold positions formerly held by men who entered the service and who have no dependents. This complicates the duty of the man in charge of affairs. Cases are also known where returning soldiers ask that their old jobs be held open for them but do not agree to accept them, being on the lookout for something better.

Under such conditions it is not surprising that complications will occasionally arise.

As David Harum said: there is as much human nature in some men as in others—and sometimes more.

THE saddest sight since little Eva's death consists in the grief of the Portland Oregonian over the diabolical manner in which the Journal destroyed the up-state press by inducing the people to enact a law that abolishes a proceeding under which the Oregonian once made $50,000 in a single week or thereabouts.

The problem of how to raise children seems to have been well mastered by many who have no little ones to care for; those who have children find the task complicated.

There are many economists who believe we have entered upon a permanent high price level and if they are correct in that theory those who delay building work expecting lower prices soon will be disappointed.

It is going to be hard for critics to find much to complain about in the league covenant as it now stands.

Time to put the 1919 date on the Round-Up grand stand.

AMUSEMENTS

"POLLYANNA" WAS WRITTEN IN A ROOF STUDIO

Mrs. Eleanor H. Porter wrote the "Pollyanna" glad books that have circulated by thousands all over the world. It is upon them that Catherine Chisholm Cushing has based the optimistic comedy "Pollyanna," coming to the Oregon Theatre on April 15.

The tranquil philosophy and serenity of spirit reflected in Mrs. Porter's stories are the outcome of her own manner of life. She has lived a quiet and domestic existence in New England since girlhood. One of her gifts was a beautiful soprano voice and she sang frequently in Boston concerts and church choirs. But a public career was distasteful, and after an early marriage she settled down to the development of her talents as a story teller.

The mental attitude is affected by one's environment. Mrs. Porter loves the solitude of Nature, but as her husband's mercantile interests are in Cambridge, a Boston suburb, she hit upon the happy expedient of finding seclusion in a little rose embowered roof garden studio a top her residence. It is there that she wrote her "Pollyanna" books.

"I can concentrate there," says Mrs. Porter, "and I feel as much cut off from the rasping rattle and turmoil of the big city, as if I had buried myself in the depths of a Maine wilderness. Then, too, the best regulated forest in the world isn't steam heated, and my studio it. I can write as easily and comfortably when the blizzards are sweeping over Boston Common as when the spring breezes whisper their tender message that Nature has resumed a smiling, joyous mood."

NORTHWEST HEROES TO FLY WITH FLYING CIRCUS TROUPE

SEATTLE, Wash., April 14.—Four times decorated by the French and for two years with a crack squadron of the Lafayette Escadrille, William Griffith Edwards, Jr., of Seattle, will be one of the members of Uncle Sam's great flying circus to visit Seattle April 23. Edwards was only 16 years old when he enlisted in Spokane. In 1917 as an aviation mechanic. He went across and was assigned to the 103rd Escadrille. He has been cited four times for bravery with his squadron, and wears the fourragere, meaning four decorations.

You Can't Rub It Away; Rheumatism is in the Blood

Liniments Will Never Cure. If you are afflicted with Rheumatism, why waste time with liniments, lotions and other local applications that never did cure Rheumatism, and never will!

Do not try to rub the pain away, for you will never succeed. Try the sensible plan of finding the cause of the pain, and go after that. Remove the cause, and there can be no pain. You will never be rid of Rheumation until you cleanse your blood of the germs that cause the disease. S. S. S. has never had an equal as a blood purifier and scores of sufferers say that it has cleansed their blood of Rheumatism, and removed all trace of the disease from their system.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at your drug store, and get on the right treatment to-day. If you want special medical advice, you can obtain it free by addressing Medical Director 23 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.
