

HONESTY

We don't want to make capital out of honesty. Neither do we want to advertise the fact that we are honest. We just want to tell others how very pleasant and profitable we have found it to conduct a business on the good old-fashioned plan of truth telling and plain dealing. The confidence of our customers is a constant source of inspiration to us. It spurs us on to further efforts.

We want you to realize that we consider that our interest in selling you clothes in the same as yours in buying them—his value, the finer style, the best tailoring. We wouldn't afford to make any other position.

MAN'S VOICE LOUD AS CANNON'S ROAR

Sound Vastly Magnified; Engineer Declares No Limit

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—A man's voice can be made as loud as the cannon's roar; it can be heard two or twenty miles. The ticking of a watch can be amplified until it sounds like breakers on an ocean cliff. "It's no trick at all to magnify sound four or five million times, or indefinitely," said Tom Lambert, a wireless telephone engineer, today. "All that is needed is to connect a number of vacuum valves in multiple with a wireless receiving set, and the thing is done. At the first receiving contact a voice will be normal. Cut in one vacuum valve and it is raised seven times; thereafter it squares itself—seven times seven to forty-nine for the next vacuum valve, and 49 times 49 for the next, and so on."

"I mean a volume of sound; not power of transmission," explained Lambert. "In a test recently a phonograph was connected with an amplifier at midnight, and we were lifting it up gradually to supply all San Francisco with song and amusement, when the police urged us to desist."
"In the stadium at Golden Gate park the ticking of a watch was made audible all over the grandstand while an athletic meet was in progress. Captain Robert W. A. Brewer, an experimenter, moved off 2000 feet and spoke quietly to his dog, and the dog could be held. A wireless station which I am not permitted to name recently received a telephone message from Europe, and through its amplifier started duck hunters in the marshes eight miles away."

Mr. Lambert exhibited one of the vacuum valves. Its exterior resembles an ordinary 16-inch electric light bulb. Through the glass, however, could be seen electric winding that was dissimilar. Around a filament was wound convolutions of wire called a "grid." Above the grid was an encircling metallic plate. The current, it was explained, passed through each in the order described. The incoming wireless signals travel down the aerial wire to the tuning set and then to the vacuum valve, which is a "detector," or receiver.
For practical purposes, the vacuum valve has its use as in warships, where the wireless telephone speaks its message through a horn to several officers, instead of to one using earpieces. It can be available of to address audiences.
The wireless telephone is wonderful. It is extending the field developed by the wireless telegraph. Any wireless telegraph receiving set is equally good for receiving telephone messages. The transmitting instruments, of course, are different.
Every airplane possessed by Uncle Sam and all United States warships are equipped with wireless telephone apparatus. These sets on warships are efficient at least twenty miles.

the coming bout between Frank Goldard and Arthur Townley.
In the light-heavyweight class, Dick Smith, who meets Georges Carpentier at Strasburg in July, holds the title. But Smith hasn't fought under the auspices of the National Sporting Club for a long time and while he was busy training for his fight with the Frenchman, the club staged a match between Roy McCormick and Harold Rolph, and awarded the title to McCormick, who won when Rolph was disqualified.
The awarding in the championship to McCormick has brought protest from the press, he declares McCormick and Rolph are second raters, both having been defeated by Eddie McGoorty of St. Paul, and Augie Ratner of New York.
There has been criticism of the club officials on what is described by one paper as going back on their announced policy of May 1918. At that time it was declared in a public speech at the club that the Lonsdale belt—emblematic of the British boxing championship—would be open to Americans. If this were followed out, Joe Lynch, the New York bantam, would be entitled to claim the British bantam championship. Lynch won an unquestionable decision over Tommy Noble, the British champion, in a twenty round bout here, a few months ago.

Prices Go Down With Opening of New Week
PORTLAND, June 2.—Ninety-nine carloads of livestock came forward to North Portland over Sunday, compared with 191 last week and 98 cars two weeks ago.
The biggest decrease in livestock offerings as compared with last Monday was in hogs. Offerings in the swine alleys for the week's opening totaled 4176 head, compared with 2375 head last Monday and 1294 head a year ago.
Considering this the market should have done better, but the fact that a very large per cent of the offerings were of poor quality, caused a weaker tone in the trade. No very early business was done in the hog alleys with sellers offering a lower hog range:
Prime mixed 19.00@19.25
Medium mixed 18.75@19.00
Light heavies 17.50@18.50
Pigs 15.50@19.50
Bulk 19.50@19.75

British Boxing Champions In Topsy Turvy Tangle

(By United Press.)
LONDON, (By Mail.)—British boxing championships, as recognized by officialdom, The National Sporting Club are in a topsy turvy state today. Three championships—heavy, light and bantam weights—are held by men whom the club refuse to recognize. And of the three championships in question an American has been entitled to one.
The heavy-weight title is claimed by Joe Beckett, who vanquished Billy Belts, holder of the belt. But the club has ignored Beckett and will award the championship to the winner of
