

SOCIAL AND PERSONALS

The closing of the third quarter in Universities signals the homcoming of a host of students for vacation and the departure of others who plan to enter for the fourth or summer quarter. Miss Merle Best arrived last evening from Walla Walla where she has been a student at Whitman college. Miss Hazel Strain came Tuesday from Portland on route home from Corvallis after the winter at O. A. C. Lowell Stockman and Roy Furnish, also among Pendleton students there, having arrived earlier in the week by automobile. Emil Seibert is another Pendleton student prominent at O. A. C. Miss Madeline Burgess and Miss Catherine Thompson will also be members of a motor party on their return trip, their parents Mr. and Mrs. N. Burgess and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thompson having motored to Seattle where the girls have been attending the University of Washington. Miss Thelma Thompson, another of the Washington students, joined her parents Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Thompson, in Spokane to accompany them on their trip into Canada. Miss Margaret Coleworthy may remain for the summer in Seattle where she was recently joined by her brother, Joseph Coleworthy who returned to secure his degree after being released from service in the navy. Miss Pieta Hall and Miss Blanche Maggart have come from Seattle for the summer. Miss Olive Gwinn, the only one of the Pendleton students to be graduated from Washington this year plans temporarily to remain in Seattle in the women's branch of war camp community service to which she has during the spring devoted much time. Joining the Washington students for the summer session are Miss Effie Duff, instructor in English in the high school, Miss Gladys Hamley and Miss Kathleen McFaul, recently returned from the University of California at Berkeley, where she spent the year with Miss Pauline Rice and Miss Ilene Bowling, the latter having returned to her home in Adams after her recent arrival in Pendleton.

Miss Margaret Phelps arrived this morning from Eugene after a year at the University of Oregon. Miss Helen Nelson and Miss Rena Hales came earlier in the week, while Miss Jane Murphy, who arrived home this morning, and Miss Grace Rugg, stopped with friends in Western Oregon a few days en route. Miss Tula Smith also came from Eugene to Portland and is visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Vaughan where she may remain until the first of July when other members of the E. L. Smith family will be in Portland before a summer at their cottage at Long Beach.

Miss Beth Smith is planning to remain in Chicago where she is specializing in kindergarten work and where she has just been joined by Miss Vera Temple. Another student of a more eastern college is Miss Hazel Wyrick who returned earlier because of illness.

Among the University of Oregon students to be graduated this year was Miss Helen Purinton, who is a niece of Mrs. S. A. Lowell and who has often visited Pendleton.

Boys who came from the University of Oregon yesterday were Ned Fowler, and Lawrence Woodworth while Sterling Patterson and Eugene Boylen had already arrived, the latter having departed for the Thomas Boylen ranch for the summer.

A 1 o'clock luncheon followed by an afternoon of bridge was the delightful form of hospitality chosen by Mrs. Gonzales M. Rice and Mrs. Lyman G. Rice yesterday when sixteen friends were asked to their charming home on Wilson street. American Pillar roses centered four daintily appointed tables, tall baskets in which tied with gay bows of tulle, its brilliant tones blending with the crimson of the roses. After a five course luncheon the tables were arranged for cards and high score trophy in the play fell to Mrs. Harold Warner with Mrs. William Lowell capturing second honors.

Besides the hostesses the party included Mrs. George Harman, Mrs. John Adams, Mrs. James Hill, Mrs. David Hill, Mrs. James S. Johns, Mrs. E. B. Aldrich, Mrs. W. L. Thompson, Mrs. F. E. Judd, Mrs. H. D. Jones, Mrs. Warner, Mrs. C. P. Coleworthy, Mrs. D. D. Hobart, Mrs. Lowell, Mrs. J. B. Perry, Mrs. R. I. Keator and Mrs. Willard Bond.

Miss Jane Murphy returned this morning from Eugene, where she has been attending University of Oregon. Miss Murphy visited in Portland at the close of college at the home of Miss Anna May Bronaugh.

Mrs. Donald Ross will leave tomorrow for Portland, where she will join her daughters, who left this morning by auto and the entire party will go on to San Francisco. They expect to be gone for three weeks or a month.

Mrs. August Ring and granddaughter, Marguerite Heikka, of Astoria, arrived this morning to spend an indefinite visit with Mrs. Ring's daughter, Mrs. John Planting, who resides near Heikk. They were met at the train here with the Planting car.

Mrs. G. W. Couitts will leave this evening for Ogden, Utah, where she will visit her mother, Mrs. Marietta Griffin, and other relatives. Mrs. Couitts' mother is known to a number of Pendleton people who have enjoyed meeting her during visits here.

Mrs. Laura Morgan, captain number one, and her committee extended delightful hospitality when the Degree of Honor enjoyed a social session following a short business meeting and the initiation of three candidates in Moose hall yesterday. Sixty members were present and a delightful luncheon was served at a rose-decked table, while the following program added to the entertainment.

Piano Selection..... Miss Irma Dale
Reading..... Miss Hope Newcomb
Reading..... Miss Reba Meyers
Vocal Solo..... Miss Wilma Wade
Accompanist..... Miss Elzora Nelson
Reading..... Miss Ruth Taylor
Vocal Solo..... Miss Helen Patterson
Reading..... Miss Maude May Lincoln

The next meeting of the Degree of Honor will be held the first Wednesday in July.

Mrs. James S. Johns and Mrs. E. B. Aldrich are to be hostesses for a luncheon Saturday at the home of the latter, the affair being planned as a welcome to Mrs. H. H. Hattery after an absence from Pendleton of more than a year while Captain Hattery was in army service. Mrs. Hattery went first to Reed College and was later identified with the Northwestern division, American Red Cross, in Seattle. Then during her husband's stay at Camp Kearney she devoted her time to Red Cross service there and after his departure overseas Mrs. Hattery divided her time between San Diego and Los Angeles where she visited until Captain Hattery's return.

Thirty members of the Presbyterian Missionary society and guests sufficient to make up a party of one hundred and four motored yesterday to the attractive country home of Mrs. J. O. Hale, near Adams, for an annual June day meeting. Fifteen cars made the trip, leaving the church about 10 in the morning and returning late in the afternoon, while another party waiting until after the arrival of No. 17 from the east, took Dr. and Mrs. Francis Morgan, Miss Katharine Morgan, Miss Frances Morgan, Judge and Mrs. J. W. Maloney, Clarence Penland and Raymond Hatch to the outing scene just in time to join the picnickers for a merry 1 o'clock dinner served in cafeteria style under the trees. The affair proved a delightful opportunity to welcome Mrs. Morgan, wife of the new pastor of the church, and their daughters whose coming has been anticipated since Dr. Morgan's arrival in Pendleton, February 22.

After the dinner many members of the party adjourned to the living rooms of the Hale home where the following program was enjoyed.

Piano solo..... Miss Mildred Ebbel
Paper-Cube and Porto Rico.....
.....Mrs. J. T. Richardson
Song..... Miss Anna Goddard
Reading..... Miss Thelma Akey
Paper-Missions in the Philippines.....
Vocal Duet..... Mrs. S. A. Newberry
Hatch..... Mrs. J. B. McCook, Mrs. Raymond
Reading..... Mrs. Jennie McMaster

Not the least to find delight in the all day meeting were about twenty youthful guests who romped on the lawn, investigated all the wonders of the farm or joined in a memorable game of ball. A team composed of Horace Boyden, Allen Boyden, and Donald McCook claimed honors by a score of ten to two against Howard Dunham, Fred Peebler and Raymond Hatch.

Before the party again packed baskets and all belongings into the waiting cars for the journey home, a free will offering was taken and missions as well as the merry-makers will benefit by the 1919 June session for the former will receive just $29.50 in addition to their regular offering.

Mrs. Anna Furnish and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bell and two children arrived home yesterday from Portland where they have been visiting since Thursday.

R. W. Fletcher, circulation manager of the East Oregonian, accompanied by Mrs. Fletcher and Florence, Eleanor and Billy Fletcher, motored to Milton today to attend the strawberry festival.

NEWS OF PENDLETON

Elks to Initiate Class.

A class of eight men is expected to be showed through the mysteries of Elksdom at the regular meeting of the local lodge tonight. The usual program of entertainment and a luncheon is planned by the committee in charge.

Leaves for Portland Tonight.

Fred Lampkin will depart tonight for Portland to represent Pendleton in the northwest championship trapshoot tournament at the Everding traps. He will help boost this town's claim for the northwest shoot for 1920.

Goes to Pioneer Reunion.

W. M. Blakeley, one of Pendleton's grand old men, left last night for Portland where he will spend the next few days hobnobbing with the other pioneers of Oregon who are assembled in the Rose City for their 47th annual convention. Mr. Blakeley is the only Pendleton pioneer who is known to be present there.

Bowmans Depart for Trip.

Dan C. Bowman and Mrs. Bowman left Wednesday for Hood River, Portland and Puget Sound in their car, to be gone for two weeks on business and pleasure. Mr. Bowman will attend the northwest championship shoot at Portland commencing Saturday and they will drive to the sound country next week. While there Mr. Bowman will also transact business.

Band Promises Usual Concert.

The usual Thursday night concert by the Round-Up band will be given this evening from the bandstand in Pioneer Park. The organization received and practiced on several new selections Tuesday night and the concert tonight is promised to be up to the usual standard. The program will commence at 7:30 and last for one hour.

Shooter to Visit Old Home.

Ray Spangle, on whom the Pendleton Gun Club is hanging its hopes for a champion, left Wednesday for Dayton, Ore., to visit his parents who reside on a farm near there, before taking in the northwest championship shoot at Portland, commencing Saturday. Spangle will shoot through the four days from Saturday to Tuesday night.

Mrs. Nancy Jacobs Attending Convention.

Mrs. Nancy Jacobs, survivor of the Whitman massacre, who visited recently in Pendleton at the home of Mrs. William Blakeley, is in Portland attending the 17th annual convention of the Oregon State Pioneers' Association. Mrs. Jacobs is well known to Umatilla county. As Nancy Oliver, Mrs. Jacobs lived 70 years ago on the site where Athena now stands.

Labor Demand Slack Now.

With the in-between season here, the demand for farm labor is slack at this time, N. Berkeley, agent for the U. S. employment service, reported today. Haying is virtually over and the harvest is yet to come and for about 10 days little demand for farm help is anticipated. There are calls occasionally for highway laborers, men for railroad work and odd jobs, which keeps the number of men sent out daily around 12 to 15. In two weeks Mr. Berkeley expects to be sending out 50 or more men a day for several days.

Few Cattle Have Tuberculosis.

While no official report of the investigations of State Veterinarian W. H. Lytle has been received here, it is known that of all the cattle tested in this vicinity for tuberculosis, but very few showed a reaction to the test. In two of the larger herds serving Pendleton with milk, but one affected animal was found in each which showed traces of tuberculosis. One of the animals was disposed of and the other segregated from the rest of the herd. Equally as good records were made by other herds, according to unofficial word here. Dr. Lytle will return to Pendleton later to make supplementary tests of dairy herds.

Dairymen Draw By-Laws.

By-laws for the proposed association of dairymen serving Pendleton were drawn Wednesday by the directors of the association, F. H. Mytinger and J. E. Troxel, dairymen, and J. De Wilde, agriculturist of the American National Bank. The same committee will meet next week, probably Thursday, to continue plans for the organization. Steps were first taken toward this end last month, since which time marked improvement in Pendleton's milk has been noted.

Round-Up Picture Received.

The monster Round-Up panorama picture sent two weeks ago to Congressman N. J. Sinnott, at Washington, has been received safely and its receipt is acknowledged in a letter received from the representative today by the Pendleton Commercial Association. Mr. Sinnott, in his usual glowing terms, thanked the donors by saying: "It is a pleasant reminder of the best land on earth and it almost makes me smell the odor of the sage brush and the wheat fields and feel the tang of Pendleton air." The picture, which is 12 feet long and weighed nearly 300 pounds crated, will hang in the rooms of the committee on public lands in the house.

WAR DEPARTMENT OFFICE OF THE DISTRICT ENGINEER PORTLAND - - - OREGON

Refer to File No. C & L W. 519-91. June 3, 1919.

Astoria Marine Iron Works,
Astoria, Oregon.

Sirs:

In reference to your letter of May 26, 1919, I forward here-with permit covering dredging in Youngs Bay, as requested.

The proposed structures are within the established Pier-head line and approval of the Department is not necessary.

Your attention is invited to condition "d" of the permit, and where bulkheads have not been built or proposed, care should be exercised to deposit the dredged material so that it will not escape into the waterway.

(Signed) J. R. SLATTERY
Colonel of Engineers.

The above letter is a true copy of the government permit received by the Astoria Marine Iron Works.
