Month-End SALE of EMBROIDERIES

This sale of embroideries is going to be one of the most noteworthy during 1919. Every piece of insertion, banding, edging, flouncing or allover, whether new this month or received early in the year will be sacrificed at these special reductions. It's a case of too many embroideries and these drastic price cuts will sell them if you need embroideries at all.

Here are the finest Swiss edgings and insertions to match, also flouncings that are plain or with ruffles, direct from St. Gall, Switzerland. Then there are convent-nainsook embroideries for underwear that will give the very maximum of service, also cambric edges and flouncings in open eyelet or blind designs. A truly great assortment of the season's best staple and novelty styles at a real sacrifice.

RETAIL GROCERS DISCUSS CREDIT

morning session closed with the response to welcome for the visiting grocers by John A. Elmer, vice-president of the National Association of Retail Grocers and the appointment of committees on auditing, rules and order of business, and credentials.

Following the reports of officers at the opening of the afternoon session Louis M. Mattenbach, trustee of the National Association of Retail Grocers spoke on "Cash and Carry vs. Credit and Delivery." Carl W. Brand, president of the National Coffee Roasters Association also addressed the delegates.

Following the appointment of the committee on resolutions tomorrow, F. B. Connelly, past-president of the Grocers' Association will speak on "A Larger and More Efficient Organization." Paul Finley, of Philadelphia, president of the American Specialty Manufacturers Association, is scheduled for an address. The principal speakers at the afternoon session will be Arjay Davis, president of the National Wholesale Grocers Association and Apostle James E. Talmage of the Mormon Church.

The convention will close Thursday with the final reports of committees, selection of next convention city, the annual election of officers and the introduction of new officers.

The convention was called to order by John W. Wilcox, vice-president of the Utah Retail Merchants Association. The delegates were welcomed by W. Mount Perry, mayor of Salt Lake. The

METHODISTS OPEN GREAT EXPOSITION

Most Ambitious Demonstration of Missionary effort in History.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 20.—This was the opening day of the Methodist Centenary Celebration. Until July 13 the gates of the exposition grounds will remain open to welcome the hosts of Methodism and their friends. It is regarded as the most ambitious demonstration of missionary effort in home and foreign fields ever attempted. With pageantry, with music, with life plays representing the daily existence of strange peoples in far away lands, with replicas of far off communities and with innumerable features and exhibits, the Centenary Celebration emphasizes the one hundredth anniversary of the Methodist Church's entry into the mission field.

It is an all American exposition. The Methodist Church and the Methodist Church South have joined in a demonstration of the strength of their denomination. Eight exhibit buildings house the exhibits and life plays. In the Coliseum, seating 7,500 persons, the pageant, "The Wayfarers" is to be presented nightly, excepting Sunday, while the children's pageant, "The Children's Crusade," is to be presented two afternoons each week.

Seventeen thousand participants have been enlisted to make this gathering a success. A choir of 1,000 voices has been drilled for the pageant, "The Wayfarers" which has also an orchestra of seventy-five pieces and the aid of the 350,000 pip organ, especially constructed. The children's pageant has duplicate choruses of 500 voices each. In addition there is the Centenary Celebration Trombone Choir of one hundred trombones, the only organization of its kind in existence.

Noted men of this and other countries have been invited to participate, and acceptances have been received from Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy; William Howard Taft; William Jennings Bryan, and Major General Leonard Wood. Eminent men of the Methodist Church have signified their intention of participating.

The various exhibition buildings are assigned to nations having prominence in the mission field. The China building encloses a walled Chinese city complete in all details, with temples, pagodas, restaurants and gathering places. The Africa building contains painted jungle huts and the masonry structures of North Africa, remnants of Roman civilization.

The India building contains the bazaars, shrines, burning ghats, and other pertinent features of the mystic empire. The Korea-Japan-Malaysia building encloses houses, temples, bead huts and industries. The Europe-Latin American building presents bits of war-wrecked France and Belgium, shell-shattered cathedrals and an accurate replica of the Chateau-Thierry battle ground.

Everything in the home mission field is represented in the American buildings. In the insular American buildings are found replicas of the dwellings of those Americans living in Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines.

The greatest screen in the world, a spread of white, 119 by 119 feet has been erected for the exhibition of a great series of pictures from all over the world, culled from the collections of missionaries.

A special corps of youths, the Centenary Cadets, one thousand strong, was recruited to guard the grounds and act as guides and messengers. As nearly as possible, one cadet was drawn from each church district in the United States, forming a unique church cadet body.

The Centenary Celebration was opened under the auspices of the Joint Commission of the Methodist Church and the Methodist Church South, of which W. W. Pinson is chairman. S. Earl Taylor is director-general of the Celebration, with Dr. James E. Crowther as his assistant. W. B. Beauchamp is Associate Director-General, while the organizing work was done by H. B. Dickson.

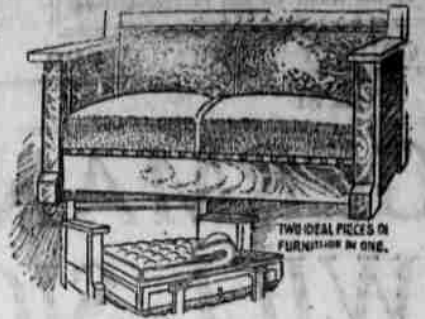

To relieve congestion on the railroads and provide a delightful summer outing, the celebration management arranged for automobile caravans by which thousands of attendants could motor to the exposition. One caravan formed in Illinois announced it had 1,000 automobiles.

BRISK NEWS FROM THE NEARBY PRESS

Tentative plans have been accepted by the Heppner Hotel Association for the new three story, 350,000 structure which will begin to go up on the hotel property at the southeast corner of Main and Willow streets about the middle of July says the Gazette Times. John V. Dennis says bids for construction will be let as soon as plans and specifications can be submitted.

August F. Belsae, who has the contract for the construction of the new garage building being erected by Dr. M. S. Kern for the Hermiton Auto Co. has discarded the old hand concrete mixer for a power one, says the Herald. The machine arrived from Portland Monday and is now in operation and giving good service.

Sentiment favoring the paving of Main street, gradually crystallizes, the Athena Press says. The council unanimously favors the progressive move toward securing a permanent surface for Athena's main thoroughfare, and forever going away with the useless annual expense of oiling the street to preserve what is left of the macadam base.

A band of 24 Cotswald sheep on George H. Holmes' Cow Creek ranch yielded an average of 21 pounds of wool, says the Enterprise Record-Chief. Their fleeces were long and are coarse wool. The weight is almost three times the average for sheep of all kinds in the country.

Contractor Fred Pittman and his small but industrious force are making good progress with the new steel water main on Broad street, says the Weston Leader. The American doughboy has nothing on them in trench digging.

Down in Boardman at the school election held Monday the people of that district went on record for a desire to have a good school building when they voted in favor of bonds to the amount of $25,000 to be used in adding on the two wings to the magnificent school building they already have there. The vote was 44 for and 21 against.

The Standard Oil Co. is to enlarge its delivery facilities in Wallowa county by putting on a large auto delivery truck, says the Enterprise Record-Chief. In Flora, Imnaha and Paradise will be served. Large receiving tanks are being installed on the farms of Jay H. Dobbin, J. N. Roberts and Charles Down, and the company truck will drive to them and fill them, giving them the benefit of wholesale prices.

Stanfield struck a gusher of water Thursday afternoon at 150 feet depth, producing 125 gallons a minute. The water was clear as crystal, says the Standard, and had a temperature of 59 degrees. The city is sinking the well for its municipal supply.

The Heppner Gazette Times feels proud of itself, having just installed a new Babcock, Optimus press. The style of the paper will be greatly improved and changed in the near future, thereby keeping up with the steady and consistent growth which the community is making.

Cold weather has hit the strawberry crop in the Prairie City region so hard that it will yield less than for 18 years, says the Ripe Mountain Eagle, of Canyon City.

QUICK CHANGE WILKINS

Why has Doctor Walter Keene Wilkins, on trial for his life, charged with the murder of his wife, worn three styles of facial decoration since the day of the tragedy at his Long Beach, N. Y., home? At that time the doctor wore a pair of dignified mutton chop whiskers quite in keeping with his profession of medicine. A few days after the murder the doctor disappeared. He turned up in Baltimore, but he had shaved his face clean. Now the doctor, during the time he has been awaiting trial, has grown a completely new style of facial appendage—a "granfather beard." The new beard makes him look much older and more venerable. Speculations have been made that the doctor may feel that is effect upon the jury is worth while.
