BARE-BACK RIDING NO JOH FOR BILLIE

Miss Rhodes puts her early training in gymnastics to work in production "Hoop-La" Circus Picture.

Billie Rhodes, starring in "Hoop-La," has a role that will probably be of more universal appeal than any picture in which she has ever starred.

A saucy, impudent and fascinating elf is "Hoop-La," who prefers the happy-go-lucky and care-free life of a one-ring circus to the vapid and colorless life of a society queen.

Miss Rhodes' versatility is taxed in this production, which was made by the National Film Corporation. Bare-back riding, trapeze work and clowning knockabout stuff are some of the stunts she is called upon to do, and she really does them herself.

"You know, I had quite an early start in life—doing gymnastic and tumbling," said the little comedienne. "I had my own little gymnasium fitted up in the garret at home when I was only eight years old. There I used to 'spin the cat,' do the 'big swing-off' and travel on the rings for hours every day. Of course, I used to fall, and get many an 'egg' on my cranium when trying to master some new stunt."

"Mother got so she didn't pay any attention to the bumping she'd hear in the street. One day, though, one of my bumps was so hard it shook a globe off the chandelier in the room below. She rushed upstairs and found I had been knocked out. After that experience she saw that I had plenty of mats spread all over the floor, a double layer of them."

Arcade Today.

Even before William Hohenzollern had fled to the woodpile in Holland on which he now finds sufficient exercise for his long over-praised intellect and physical prowess, and the world had taken the measure of his inflated greatness, Mack Sennett, the comedy genius of the screen had decided to prick the bubble of Royal Egotism with the best of all weapons—rifle fire.

Sennett set to work to achieve the high mark of his remarkable career as a satirist and laughmaker in a film production that should sweep Wilhelm off the serious pages of history as a monumental bluff. And here it is—"Yankee Doodle in Berlin"—five reels of hilarious fun, with the entire Keystone corps of comedians marshaled in one production and to make the measure a heaping one, the famous Sennett Bathing Beauties and Bothwell Frowne, the greatest of all male actors of feminine roles, in the cast.

Through the purchase of the North-western rights to "Yankee Doodle in Berlin," by Mike Rosenberg, of Seattle, who is now the biggest individual purchaser in America of state-mill wood, it wouldn't work yesterday, so Mrs. rights to important films, this one—W. G. Cook, 6737 Ridgeland avenue, preme comedy is to be exhibited at sent it back to Marshall Field & Co.,

How Thomas H. Ince Won Talented Star—Enid Bennett Has Superb Film in "Happy Though Married."

Enid Bennett, whose latest photoplay, "Happy Though Married," will be shown at the Alta theater today, first attracted the attention of Thomas H. Ince when she was playing the part of "Modesty" in Henry Savage's stage production of the morality play, "Everywoman."

When the producer suggested she appear in pictures she recalled that the first photoplay she had ever seen was "The Battle of Gettysburg," directed by Thomas H. Ince. On the speaking stage she had played in repertoires and had supported Otis Skinner. She accepted Mr. Ince's offer and made her debut before the camera under his banner, where she has ever since remained.

She has been featured in "Princess of the Dark," "The Little Brother," "Seeking Happiness," "The Girl, Glory," "The Mother Instinct," "They Are Off," "The Vamp," "The Marriage Ring," "Fuss and Feathers," etc. She was born and educated in York, Australia, but during her residence in this country has become a thorough American girl.

She is a devotee of outdoor sports, driving her own car and riding horseback a great deal.

Tacoma Offers to Buy Street Railway Lines From Traction Company

TACOMA, July 18.—The Tacoma city council today offered the Tacoma Railway & Power company $1,000,000 for its street car lines within the city providing a vote of the people sanctions the purchase. Under the offer the railway company would also agree to finance a loan of $1,000,000 to the city for the purpose of putting the lines in first-class condition.

In the past the company has put a valuation of $4,000,000 on its lines. The action of the council follows the recommendation of a committee of citizens appointed to study the street railway problem. The committee decided that the lines would be unable to pay expenses under any fare that the people would stand. Municipal ownership was recommended as one way to get adequate service.

Fares were raised from 5 to 7 cents on recommendation of the committee nine months ago, but reports of the railway to the city show that wage increases more than wiped out the additional money from fares.

"At the present price of coffee, I wish the mill had been jammed with Mocha instead," said Mrs. Cook.

FRENCH LOOK INTO COST OF LIVING

PARIS, July 18.—The chamber of deputies today discussed a socialist interpellation on the cost of living. Marcel Cachin, socialist, demanding that the government abandon the policy of protection. Ernest Lacombe, also a socialist, brought up the possibility of utilizing American army stocks. "I demand to know," he said, "if it is true that every time our allies offer us goods, they are refused on the pretext that some manufacturer of biscuits, automobiles or other articles would be inconvenienced. That is what the public is saying and such rumors should not be allowed to circulate if they are without foundation."

YOUTHS ARE DROWNED IN SEELY LAKE

GREELEY, Colo., July 18.—Geo. Coburn, 15, son of Earl Coburn of Greeley, and his cousin, Harold Coburn, 17, son of Charles D. Coburn of La Salle, were drowned in Seelye lake, four miles northwest of this city, Sunday afternoon. Jess Graker,
