

What you see in our Windows

reflects what you find in our Store. Neither wilfully or by accident do we intend that our window displays shall create the wrong impression or act as a false stimulant to whet the appetite and then disappoint the intending purchaser after the feast is spread.

We mean that our windows shall always be a true index of values not only in prices but in the character of the merchandise displayed as well. And there shall always be plenty of it inside the store—we promise you that, and always the best for the price, no matter what the price.

THE LEAGUE COVENANT

THE AUTHORS OF THESE ARTICLES:
William H. Taft, ex-President of the United States.
George W. Wickersham, formerly U. S. Atty. General.
A. Lawrence Lowell, President Harvard University.
Henry W. Taft, of the New York Bar.

THE PURPOSE:
To discuss and make clear the various articles of the Paris Covenant for a League of Nations, now awaiting ratification by the United States Senate.
Today's Letter Takes Up

LABOR.
The Commission on International Labor Legislation besides preparing and submitting to the Peace Conference the convention or treaty described in the preceding letter also recommended for the consideration of the members of the League of Nations an extensive program for insertion in the treaty of peace separate and apart from the convention:
"Bill of Rights"
This program consists in the following declaration of principles which has been characterized as the Labor Bill of Rights, viz:

- "In right and in fact the labor of a human being should not be treated as merchandise or an article of commerce."
- "No child should be permitted to be employed in industry or commerce before the age of fourteen years. In order that every child may be insured reasonable opportunities for mental and physical education between the years of fourteen and eighteen, young persons of either sex may only be employed on work which is not harmful to their physical development and on condition that the continuation of their technical or general education is insured."
- "Every worker has a right to a wage adequate to maintain a reasonable standard of life, having regard to the civilization of his time and country."
- "Equal pay should be given to women and to men for work of equal value in quantity and quality."
- "A weekly rest, including Sunday, or its equivalent, for all workers."
- "Limitation of the hours of work in industry on the basis of eight hours a day or forty-eight hours a week, subject to an exception for countries in which climatic conditions, the imperfect development of industrial organization or other special circumstances render the industrial efficiency of the workers substantially different. The International Labor Conference will recommend a basis approximately equivalent to the above for adoption in such countries."
- "In all matters concerning their status as workers and social insurance foreign workmen lawfully admitted to any country, and their families, should be insured the same treatment as the nationals of that country."
- "All states should institute a system of inspection, in which women should take part, in order to insure the enforcement of the laws and regulations for the protection of the workers."

Can Labor Conditions Be Standardized?
Many of these recommendations for the improvement of labor will appeal at once to the favorable judgment of the world. How far the present unequal condition of development of the different countries composing the League of Nations will warrant the standardization of a labor conditions proposed by this convention is a matter calling for careful examination. The project involves a novel effort of far-reaching consequence. In view of that novelty, it is to be regretted that the proposed convention should be made so extraordinarily difficult of amendment as is proposed. By its terms, any amendment must first be adopted by the conference by two-thirds of the votes cast by the delegates present, then ratified by the states whose representatives compose the Executive Council of the League of Nations and finally by three-fourths of the states whose representatives compose the Body of Delegates of the League. The plan as a whole undoubtedly will appeal to a large number of people. It will have the endorsement of organized labor in the United States, and cannot fail to exercise a great influence upon the ratification of the peace covenant itself.

Sues for High School Site.

Sturtevant, as executor of the Sturtevant estate, to condemn property within the Sturtevant estate on the property and designated new Union high school there. A court is asked to place a reasonable value on the property and declare it school land. The site was chosen from a field of three in a school election at Pilot Rock two months ago.

Clerk's Reports Being Assembled.
W. W. Green is making up the list of Unadilla county school clerks' reports to be sent to State Superintendent J. A. Churchill in about a week. So far all districts except 32, 42, 45, 46, 75, 81 and 113 have turned in reports. Any school which is not represented on the report loses its apportionment of the county fund and Mr. Green is urging the tardy districts to send in reports at once.

School Laws Received.
Several copies of the 1919 Oregon school laws, were received today by County Superintendent W. W. Green and will be sent to various district school officials. Lists of new textbooks adopted on June 2 by the textbook commission, have also been received and will likewise be supplied to the districts. Mr. Green pronounces what texts he has examined as very satisfactory.

CO-ED'S LINGERIE
80 PINTS OF BOOZE
EDMOND, Okla., July 23.—When Miss Ada Dudley of Bainsville, Texas, arrived here to attend a summer school and received a trunk she had checked at Kansas City she found it was accompanied by a revenue officer. The trunk was opened and in it was found 80 pints of whiskey. Miss Dudley denied ownership and explained that a porter in Kansas City, whom she had checked her trunk must have made a mistake. Her trunk, she said, was a summer trunk, while the one sent here was a "large green one." Her father was appointed to solve the mystery.
