

SOCIAL AND PERSONALS

Mrs. E. J. Murphy and daughter, Miss Edna Murphy, left this morning for Spokane, where they will be the guests of Mrs. O. E. Dorich, Mrs. Dorich will be remembered in Pendleton as Mrs. Agnes Christensen. The three will spend some time at Hayden Lake. Mrs. Murphy and daughter expect to be absent from Pendleton for two weeks.

Mrs. Emmott Estes, who has been visiting in Pendleton at the home of her sister, Mrs. Wade Fivett, left this morning for a month's stay in Portland and at the beach. In Portland she will be joined by her mother, Mrs. Wesley N. Matlock, and the two will go to the shore together.

Miss Vivian Pallette of Portland, was in Pendleton today on her way to her home after studying music in New York. She is a University of Oregon student and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, women's fraternity.

Miss Gladys Bedwell will leave tomorrow for Enterprise, Oregon, for an indefinite stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Bedwell of that city. Miss Bedwell has resigned her position with the First National Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Perry left today by automobile for a trip to Porns and the surrounding country. They plan to be away about three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Shanard and son, John Shanard, arrived today from Bridgewater, South Dakota and are guests at the James Johns residence, 409 Jackson street. Mr. Shanard is a brother of Mrs. Johns.

A charming home wedding was solemnized yesterday when Miss Yellora Marple of this city and George C. Baldwin of Walla Walla, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents at 1618 W. Railroad street, the Reverend Nathan E. Evans of Seattle, officiating.

Miss Marple is a well known Pendleton girl and Mr. Baldwin has just lately returned from overseas where he fought with the 71th division in the Argonne. He was wounded while in the service.

The young people left last evening for Walla Walla, where they will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Mortimore who since May have been in charge of the county farm on McKay creek, were responsible last evening for a charming expression of hospitality when county officials and a few additional guests were asked to a 6 o'clock dinner. The affair also enabled the guests to become more familiar with the details of the farm and to see the improvements which have recently been made.

Pink sweet peas centered the pretty table where a delightful "country dinner" was served. Included in the invitation were Judge and Mrs. Charles Marsh, Miss Grace Gilliam, treasurer; Clerk H. T. Brown, Commissioner G. L. Dunning, Commissioner R. E. Anderson, Deputy Clerk James Welch, Miss Olive Mortimore, Miss Hanna Anderson of Portland, who is in Pendleton as the house guest of Miss Evelyn Mortimore, the Rev. E. V. Busbee and Walter Broag.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wirth are expected to return tonight from a motor trip to Wallowa Lake, Joseph and Enterprise.

Mrs. H. E. Green, her mother, Mrs. E. M. Wyatt and Harold Green arrived home yesterday from Seaside. They have spent the past three weeks there, having joined friends in Portland for the outing.

Mrs. E. J. Burke extended a charming bit of hospitality yesterday when she was hostess for a 1 o'clock luncheon. Her guests were asked informally and covers were laid for six.

Miss Catherine Campbell is enjoying an outing at Seaside.

Mrs. Leo Moorhouse is entertaining a few friends this afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Frank Fairbanks of Ithaca, N. Y., who is the house guest of her sister Mrs. G. W. Phelps. Mrs. Fairbanks was formerly Miss Helen Hart of Pendleton.

J. H. Sylvester of Pasco is at the St. George.

Marvin Roy is a Pilot Rock sojourner in Pendleton.

Mrs. Olive Bellis and Mrs. Arthur Williams came over from Wallula today on a short shopping tour. They are at the St. George.

Charles McGill, formerly of Pendleton, but now of Pasco, is in the city today.

E. B. Reed is in the city from Astoria. He is at the Golden Rule.

R. V. Morris is in the city from Yakima.

M. R. Offer is here today from Seattle.

George Miller is here today from Walla Walla.

The controversy over the regulation of water to users of the system is not yet closed, according to Mr. Perry. The fight opened when Roeder cut off the supply that is supposed to supply J. D. McCoy and farmers below his place and resulted in contempt of court proceedings being started against Roeder. Before the case came up for hearing in circuit court here, however, Roeder promised to regulate the weir so that McCoy would get water, as guaranteed him by a state supreme court decision.

Mr. Perry and an engineer from the state engineer's department at Salem visited the ditch yesterday and found that neither the order of the court nor orders from Mr. Perry had been obeyed by Roeder. Water is going into the ditch which supplies McCoy but is not reaching his place, Mr. Perry says. It is presumed that the delegation which came down this afternoon will confer with the county court regarding the water question. The low stage of the river there has worked a hardship on all concerned and improper apportionment of water to any group of users would work a hardship on others. Mr. Perry will probably make another trip to the scene of the controversy tomorrow and cut in the weir so that distribution will be more equitable.

GOVERNOR GETS OUT AMONG THE FARMER-ETTES

KINGSTON, N. Y.—Every good politician has always made it a rule to get out among the farmers. Governor Smith gets out among the farmerettes as well. Here he is, the guest of the Women's Land Army of Ulster county getting a drink from the old chain pump. That he's making a hit is evident from the smiles on the faces of the farmerettes.

Three things to consider before buying a truck for the farm

- 1st LOW FIRST COST
You get that in a Republic.
- 2nd LOW OPERATING COST
You get that in a Republic.
- 3rd LOW REPAIR COST
You get that in a Republic.

What's more, you get a truck backed up by the reputation of the biggest maker of motor trucks exclusively in the world—you can't buy more in truck value.

WILL VISIT EVERY COUNTRY ON EARTH

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 7.—Chas. W. Wood, a New York newspaper man is scheduled to sail today on the "Empress of Russia" on one of the most remarkable assignments since Jason set out to find the Golden Fleece. "Visit every country on earth and find out what the people want." This commission was given Wood by the Episcopate of the Episcopal Church. It may take him 20 years. It probably will. Wood was on the Sunday editorial staff of the New York World when given his sailing order. Twelve years ago, at 27, he was a locomotive fireman and began his newspaper career as a cub reporter on the Syracuse Journal in 1909. His wartime interviews in the New York World were later put together in a book "The Great Change."

Wood's first stop on his trip will be at Shanghai, China. From there he will go up the Yang Tze Kiang river to interior China. His mission is merely to "write up the missions," but to interpret the needs of each country as expressed by its leaders in every walk of life. No Guide, No Schedule "I don't know where I'm going to but I'm on my way," is literally true of Wood. He has never been in any foreign country before and speaks no language except English. He has no guide, no schedule and no definite orders. He is accompanied only by his wife, who is equally unacquainted with foreign lands. Their immediate destination, however, is Cheng-Tai in Western China, which is about as thoroughly foreign a city as any white folks ever visit. There, rather than in the cities familiar to American tourists, Mr. and Mrs. Wood will begin to look at the problems of earth, as far as it is manhattanly possible, through thoroughly Oriental eyes. "I don't know anything about China," said Wood, before starting on his unprecedented journey. "And I have been doing my best not to learn anything about it until I get there. I have heard that it had 400,000,000 people, and I have taken it for granted that they all run laundries. I suppose I was selected for the job because they couldn't think of anyone else who would have so little to unlearn. "Do you feel confident," he was asked, "that you can actually get the Chinese way of looking at things across to American readers?" "I don't know," he said. "I don't know whether there is any Chinese way of looking at things. Maybe the Chinese people are human. Maybe they love and hate and aspire like other human beings. Maybe they have human differences and human traditions and human prejudices. It is possible that they live on the same planet that Americans have been customarily inhabiting and that their problems turn out to be our problems too."

NEWS NOTES OF PENDLETON

Set Final Hearing Date. September 8 was today set as the time for the final hearing in the estate of Charles H. Eames, deceased.

Is Operated Upon. Mrs. J. L. Edmiston is convalescing at St. Anthony's hospital after an operation performed this morning.

Stock Raiser in Town. Henry Lazinka, raiser of high grade beef cattle, is in Pendleton today from his ranch in the south of the county. He will return to the ranch tonight.

Stanfield Woman in Hospital. Mrs. J. G. Pearson of Stanfield is convalescing in St. Anthony's hospital. She was operated upon this morning for tonsils.

Has Tonsils Out. The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Beck was operated upon this morning for tonsils. He is at St. Anthony's hospital.

Final Account Accepted. The final account in the estate of Jennie Lutz, deceased, was accepted in probate court today and the administrator discharged.

Three Speeders Forfeit Bail. Fifteen dollars were added to the city treasury this morning as result of three speeders having forfeited $5 bail each. They gave their names as John Doe, Andrew Patterson and J. E. La Hue.

Will Take New Position. James W. Hazen, who has been working with the surveying crew at the Indian Agency, left today for Everett, where he will take a position in the lumber business. Frank Hartley is in charge of the firm with which Mr. Hazen will be associated.

Have You Noticed It? The weather is somewhat cooler today, according to the thermometer. The mercury says 96, with a minimum of 59. There was a trace of rain this morning at 7:10 a. m. and again at 7:30 a. m.

Attorney Returns From Toledo. Edward J. Clark, of Peterson, Fishon & Clark, attorneys, returned from Toledo, Ore., this morning, where he went last Thursday night to attend a term of court. He was counsel in three cases heard. Mrs. Clark returned with Mr. Clark, having been visiting relatives in Portland and Vancouver for the past week.

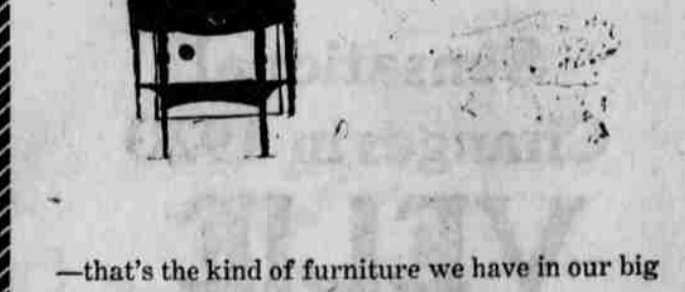

Elgin Has Good Crops. Fall wheat around Elgin is giving an average yield this year, says C. E. Bean, Elgin merchant, who is in Pendleton today visiting his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Pickers. Thirty bushel yields are about the best obtained and none is falling. The spring crop will amount to little or nothing, however. Mr. Bean says fruit is doing excellently and crop prices are being paid. He has been to Portland for buyer's week and is going on to his home on 18 this evening.
