BUILD NOW!

Never before in the history of this country has the building outlook been so bright.

Recent government investigations show that over 1,000,000 homes are needed at once to simply allow building to catch up with our ever increasing population. Within the next twelve months we must make up for the halting of all but essential construction during the war and at the same time provide for the normal development of building during the coming year.

THE COST of the building material depends upon the cost of the raw material, production and transportation. The cost of production is the largest item and it in turn depends largely upon the cost of labor. Wages are not going down, and yet, even at present prices, building material, in terms of wages, wheat or profits is not high.

Prices Will Not Decline Abruptly

To demonstrate that we have confidence in what we say and will make good on it, we say to our customers who want to build a house, barn, granary or any other extensive improvement that we will guarantee to protect them against any decline in Lumber up to July first, 1920. That if the lumber market declines, we will rebate our customers the difference between the present market and the price based upon the market on July first, 1920. Lumber List number six now in effect, issued by the West Coast Manufacturers Association, and the official list in effect on July first, 1920, will be used, which officially determines the market now and on July first next.

Everything to Gain and Nothing to Lose

Our customers who build will have the use and benefit of their house, barn or other building, and if the price declines, will be refunded to conform to market July first, 1920. If material goes up, they will have use and benefit of their building and not have to wait for it and without paying extra for it. If the market remains as it is, our customer will not lose by hesitating. We mean business! We will give you the guarantee in writing! Now let's go! Come and see me if you want to repair, or build. We can be of assistance to you. If you want any assistance in planning your building, see us.
