Every Kind of Pretty Waist is to be found in our NEW FALL DISPLAY

Those who know, predict the vogue of the waist for the coming season, and we point with pride to our large and varied assortments. They come in many styles, some with high and low collars, some without any. The tailored models feature the neat pleated bosom effects, so appropriate to wear with suits. Combination of materials, too, is another whim of fashion that has worked out very becomingly in many other models. Many popular silk and cotton weaves effectively trimmed in oriental motifs of embroidery. The colors follow those of the suits and dresses and include flesh, white, beige, strawberry, etc. Every waist having a style distinctive of its own will make this showing of extreme interest to women, especially because of the reasonable prices at which they are offered.

"WHO WON THE WAR" RESULTS IN BROKEN HEADS IN GIBRALTAR WRITES HENRY P. LATOURELLE

Henry P. Latourelle, Pendleton boy who is serving in the navy, tells of a disagreement in Gibraltar between English and American sailors, as to "who won the war." Henry says a few broken heads resulted. He writes about the U. S. S. Pittsburg, and extract from the letter are as follows: We are under way to Spalitta and eventually to Fiume where we will probably take a hand in settling the slight trouble they are having there. We were in Gibraltar harbor when we received our orders. From then on we have been on the jump. Our course was through the Straits of Messina between Sicily and Italy. We had a very good view of two active volcanoes, Stromboli and Mt. Etna. It sure is wonderful scenery through the straits. We did not have such a good time in Gibraltar. For one thing it is an English possession and is under martial law. Now one Englishman is all right but a bunch of Englishmen bragging about Britain and all that we did to win the war gets pretty tiresome. To make it worse the Glasgow, an armored cruiser that was in South America when we were there happened to be in front and naturally they tried to make amends for some of the beating we gave them at that time. Well, the upshot of it was one "grande combat" and believe me it was hot while it lasted. There were quite a few broken heads and we were not allowed any more shore liberty while we were there. But I pity the first bunch of Limy sailors that pull any more of this "we won the war stuff" where they don't outnumber us 19 to one.

There is quite a contrast in Gibraltar between the civilization of Africa and Europe. The natives from Morocco, called Moors, are sure wild looking animals while the Europeans look and act like us. They say that you can find every nationality in the world there. I sure believe it. We were not permitted to enter Spain and see the bullfights, but if they are no better in Spain than in Mexico and South America I'd much rather see "Buff" Vernon bulldog a Texas longhorn.

A Bacon "Bat." The very latest thing in outdoor affairs was a "bacon bat." Of course, as with all such parties, all depends upon the guests and their love of outdoor functions. Six couples are enough. Provide plenty of delicious bacon sliced very thin, sweet potatoes and several dozen finger rolls. These are the requirements, but other things may be added at the pleasure of the hostess. Build a fire, roast the sweet potatoes (or take a frying pan, have the pota-

AMUSEMENTS

Arthur Borralla, principal clown with the Carl Haggenbeck-Wallace Circus, which comes to this city on Monday, Aug. 25, gave the following interview:

"More than 90 per cent of the circus women today are born in the business. Of the remaining 10 per cent, nine marry into it and the one who is not born in it, are married into it. It serves to make the exception to prove the rule. A great circus organization like the Haggenbeck-Wallace Shows seldom if ever, will consent to employ a woman who is not married, unless she is accompanied by some male relative.

Training with the children begins at birth. Some become contortionists and later acrobats, gymnasts, equilibristas, etc. Ninety-eight percent of the clowns are skilled acrobats and tumblers. Many, in earlier years, were contortionists.

"Most circus performers are very abstemious. Few use tobacco, and it may be said that less than one-tenth of one percent drink alcoholic beverages. The feats of strength and skill they perform come from a sound and healthy body and they know full well the laws of nature.

"In the past dozen years a great many college graduates have drifted into the official rank of the circus. Some of these, as bookkeepers, stenographers and lawyers. As a rule, they develop into sound business men. But no one can ever make a success of the circus calling unless he loves the life and hardships that accompany the "white top."
