Alcohol Men Wash Windows.
For the first time in history, according to J. E. Bean, windows in the city water office were given a good washing today. Return from Motor Trip.
The good condition of the California roads and the bad condition of the Oregon roads are the two things which most impressed the Rev. R. E. Gornall after a motor trip to Portland, Pasadena, Long Beach and other California points. The Rev. Mr. Gornall and Mrs. Gornall and two daughters, and Mrs. E. A. Gornall of Spokane, mother of the local minister, returned last night from the trip. Rev. Mr. Gornall says that California was never more beautiful than at present.

School Word List Issued.
Simplifying the work of Oregon teachers, J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of public instruction, has published a so-called word list, covering the first and second readers of the natural series. The words are grouped into lessons and stand out before new teachers as the work of their grades progresses. Mr. Churchill thinks the pamphlet will prove helpful to teachers. Copies of the word list are being mailed to county superintendents in all parts of the state and later will be distributed among the various grade teachers.

Housing Situation Serious.
Suffering Pendleton people say there is no answer to all engrossing question, "Where shall we live?" for the house shortage in this city grows daily more acute. A local family which is leaving the city received the offer of board and room at the hotel if they would vacate their house for the benefit of the would-be renter who would pay the hotel bill in addition to rent. Another case which shows the serious house shortage, is that of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Turner, who have returned to Pendleton to make their home and who find it impossible to secure a residence or housekeeping rooms.

Gentle Zephyrs Blow.
Gentle breezes and a clear, blue sky are the features of the weather today, with the mercury hovering around 94. Yesterday the termometer's indicator went up to 96. The minimum is 55.

Protecting Bonbons.
Ever notice how quick flies are to infest the dish of sweets on your table. Well, prevent it in this lovely way:

Out of a silk wire fashion a little beehive with about seven rounded parallel pieces to give it its height and three perfect circles of it to go around them and hold them up. Then place over this wire frame some fine white net. A few little designs in silk the color of your tea set would be charming scattered about on its beehive area. On top there is a little ring which has been wound wound with colored ribbon and little silk rosebuds are fastened at the base of this dainty little handle.
