FOURTEEN REASONS WHY TURKEY NEEDS HELP FROM AMERICA TOLD BY DR. MARY M. PATRICK

PARIS, By mail.—Dr. Mary Mills Patrick, president of Constantinople girls' college, and one of the best known American authorities on Turkey and the Near East, where she has resided for years, has prepared for the laudated Press the following statement of fourteen reasons why the United States should accept a mandatory over Turkey:

I. Peace in the Near East cannot be brought about by force, but must come from within. All the people of the Near East would welcome an American mandatory.

II. The Moslems predominate in the Turkish empire, numbering from fourteen to fifteen millions, according to varying estimates. Should the allied powers desire to send a mandatory to Turkey, the Turks would prefer an American mandatory to one from any other nation for two reasons. They think that other nations would never resign the mandatory once undertaken, but that America, having taught the people how to govern themselves, would retire and leave them their independence. They also prefer Americans to deal with, because they are more democratic.

III. The Greeks residing in the Turkish empire number about two millions. They are citizens of the Turkish empire, and are called Ottoman Greeks, unless they as individuals possess Greek citizenship. The Ottoman Greeks would prefer to live under a Greek government, but if that is impossible they would warmly welcome an American mandatory.

IV. The Armenians in the Turkish empire number approximately one and a half millions. Whatever arrangements may be made in regard to an independent Armenia, there will always be many Armenians in all parts of Turkey. They regard America as their friend, and would naturally desire an American mandatory.

V. American methods of government separate politics and religion. The union of church and state is one of the greatest causes of discord and hatred in the Near East. The removal of political control from all religious organizations would tend to promote peaceful relations between the different nationalities, while at the same time both Mohammedans and Christians would be protected in the free exercise of their religion.

VI. An American mandatory over Turkey would introduce American methods of education, which teach people the self respect that conduces to peaceful relations.

VII. The people of Turkey are divided by the use of different languages. An American mandatory would emphasize the English language, and introduce a common means of communication.

VIII. An American mandatory over all of the Turkish Empire, (with the possible exception of Mesopotamia and southern Palestine, where Arabs and Jews predominate), would insure the same coinage, the same railway system and the same custom house regulations for the whole empire.

IX. Under an American mandatory all the nationalities in Turkey would enjoy security of life and an unobscured opportunity of economic development. There would be a free open-minded and impartial adjustment of the claims for all, and justice for the individual citizens would be possible.

X. Modern methods of agriculture would make a veritable paradise of Asia Minor, where the rich soil has seldom been more than scratched and the fields and forests have not changed in appearance since Xenophon's description in his Anabasis.

XI. Asia Minor is rich in mines and seaports. American methods of commerce would make it a great commercial center.

XII. Under an American mandatory the Dardanelles would be permanently opened as a free passage to the ships of all nations.

XIII. Close commercial relations between America and Turkey would enable Turkey to develop her own wealth and profit from American exports, while the valuable imports from Turkey would be a source of profit in America.

XIV. President Wilson says that America must bear her share of the burden in the new order of things.

PREACHERS NEXT IN LINE TO STRIKE AND SEND COUNTRY DOWN

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—"Only a sense of duty, altruism and service prevents the preachers of America from forming a union, calling a strike and letting the country go to hell," said the Rev. John Roach Straton in a sermon Sunday in Calvary Baptist church.

"Everybody in the world almost has some on strike except the undertakers and preachers," he added. "I suppose they will be next in line. Certainly the preachers have grievances enough on the score of underpay, and if we are to move in line with the spirit now prevailing in the world we will have to get together soon in a joint convention."
