Sugar Price Still Same As Before. In spite of the rumors of sugar shortage, the prices are the same as formerly. TAFT ANSWERS CRITICS

By EX-PRESIDENT WM. H. TAFT.

Of course we cannot hope to make the great changes such as the League of Nations will bring about without opposition. Fortunately, the war has taught us the great advantages of international co-operation. It was only by good team work that the free liberty-loving nations were able to whip Germany.

The treaty which the United States Senate is debating obligates the members of the proposed League to protect one another against attack from enemies outside their own boundaries without conquest. Although this agreement (Article X of the Covenant) is vital to any arrangement which seeks to prevent war, it has been attacked on the ground that it would draw the United States into wars in various parts of the world and force us to send our boys to fight in quarrels which did not concern us.

We should remember, however, that the main purpose of Article X is to frighten nations tempted to wars of conquest from yielding to the temptation, by the certainty that they will be crushed if they begin such a war by a universal boycott, and a union of forces of the world against them. If a big war breaks out again, the United States will be forced to take part in it whether we have a League of Nations or not. We tried hard enough to keep out of the war with Germany but found we couldn't.

A little war contrary to the League rules could be handled by the powers close at hand. Certainly it would not be necessary to send American troops to suppress an uprising in the Balkans when prompt action by the armies of Italy or some other nearby powerful nation could suppress the fracas before American troops could even get started.

When it comes to adversity or prosperity the average man prefers ruin by the latter route.
