ALTA TODAY

One of the most thrilling stories of love and intrigue ever shown in this city is Marion Davies' latest Select Picture, "The Burden of Proof," in which she is directed by Julius Stieger, which will be seen at the Alta Theatre today. In this picture Miss Davies plays the part of Elaine Brooks, a wife of Robert Ames, nephew of a member of the United States cabinet.

Elaine's mother, Mrs. Brooks, is a leader of Newport society, but as their financial standing is threatened she she accepts the offer of a Mrs. Durand to supply social news for a Washington society journal owned by Charles Kemp. Later it develops that Kemp and Mrs. Durand are both German secret agents in the possession of Ames. Immediately after Elaine's wedding Mrs. Durand goes to Elaine and has her write a letter to Kemp apologizing for not having invited him to the wedding. This Elaine is glad to do and at the same time Mrs. Durand takes advantage of her innocence by dictating a phrase which makes Elaine appear guilty when the papers have been stolen from Ames' desk.

George Blair, a member of the Department of Justice, has been called in. He suspects that Mrs. Durand has used Elaine's letter to Kemp as a medium for sending the papers, so he orders Kemp to return the envelope unopened. This Kemp does and the papers are restored, but Ames is led to believe his wife guilty of abiding the enemy. Scoring to assert her innocence Elaine refuses to answer Ames' questions, and when the difference between them threatens to become greater, Blair traces the source of the letter to Mrs. Durand and forces her to make a confession. Once matters have been adjusted the young couple leave on the honeymoon which was halted by Mrs. Durand's nefarious plotting.

DESMOND STAYS SNAPPY FIRST FIGHT IN FILMING HIS LATEST SCREEN PLAY

William Desmond shows that he is nifty with his digits in "Life's a Funny Proposition," released through Exhibitors Mutual Distributing Corporation. He is seen in a rough and tumble scrap with two yegmen in a dark alley. Joseph Franz and John McGregor, who were the victims of the two-fisted Desmond, presented disgraced maps after the scene. They also presented a protest with Director Heffron on account of not being let in on information as to the size and condition of Desmond's biceps, accompanied by a pointed hint that hereafter the big star "pull his punches" and restrain his tendency to realism.

'ALIMONY CLUB' DISSOLVED 'SLACKERS' MUST PAY DEBT

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—New York's famous "alimony club" passed into history at midnight Sunday night and thousands of "slacker" husbands, who fancied themselves immunized from alimony payments by a sojourn at the "club" in Ludlow street jail, will again face the possibility of imprisonment.

The "alimony club" was made possible by a law providing that when a man refused to pay alimony he should be committed to jail for a period of not more than six months. Thereafter he was immune from further payments or molestation.

Under an amendment to the code of civil procedure, however, effective at midnight Sunday night, delinquent husbands may be jailed for contempt of court for every failure to pay installments as ordered by the court. He may be punished for contempt time after time—until he dies or reforms.
