OLD COACH TAKES LADIES TO COW CAMP SPREAD

Pendleton Only Western City Now to be Visited by McAdoo Party Who Will be Guests Until Saturday Eve.

"Great stuff, boys, it's just right. I'm yours for anything and everything you say."

Thus did William G. McAdoo express his sentiments following the rousing welcome to Round-Upville given him this noon by 100 cowboys and cowgirls, a half hundred Indians and 1000 townspeople who swarmed to the station.

As the train pulled in, hundreds of hats went high in the air and the "yip-yips" of the buckaroo vied with the music of the Round-Up band and a score of itinerant sixshooters.

A horse, saddled with the $400 prize saddle for the broncho busting championship, was provided Mr. McAdoo and he had no more than got on the horse when Clark Nelson provided him with a beaver sombrero.

Through Main street and to the Round-up park the procession, with the former secretary of the treasury at its head, moved. There were the cowboys and cowgirls and then the Indians, followed by two staccatoes and a dozen automobiles.

Here until Saturday. Mr. McAdoo announced that Pendleton is the only western city they will visit on this trip and set their leaving time for the east at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

This afternoon the members of the party were shown the entire workings of the big Round-Up camp and witnessed the trysts of bucking horses and the workouts of the relay riders and other performers.

The private car belonging to William McMurray, general passenger agent for the O. W. R. & N. Co., was brought here this morning and offered to the McAdoo party.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. McAdoo, the party which arrived today included Miss Sally McAdoo and her companion Miss Valerie Verman; Robert H. McAdoo, C. C. Verman and K. B. Conger, federal manager of the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad of New York.
