WALLACE REID IS A REAL SPEED KING IN "THE ROARING ROAD"

In his new Paramount picture, "The Roaring Road," which will be shown at the Alta theatre today, Wallace Reid blossoms out as a speed king. During the filming of the scenes, Mr. Reid himself drove his racing car, taking all kinds of chances and driving at incredible speed, to secure the last word in realism.

Most of the race scenes for the picture were filmed on the famous Santa Monica race course over which numerous road races have been contested by some of the world's most famous drivers.

There is one especially dangerous curve in this course known as "death curve," and it is notorious for the number of accidents which have occurred there. In one scene of the picture Mr. Reid rounds this curve with perfect ease and accuracy of control, and at the same time, it is said, breaking the record for speed in rounding the curve which had been established and broken many times by various famous speed kings. Truly, this shows remarkable skill in the handling of a speeding automobile.

The picture was directed by James Cruze, the well-known actor and director, from a series of stories written by Byron Morgan which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. The scenario was written by Marlon Fairfax, Ann Little, Theodore Roberts, Guy Oliver and C. H. Geldart round out the cast.

ARCADE TODAY

Admirers of that lightning-action star George Walsh no doubt will turn out in full force to see him in "Putting One Over," the new Fox production which will be shown at the Arcade today.

As Jack Trevor, a motor car salesman, George Walsh in "Putting One Over" finds himself in a strange mansion, under a strange name and being taken for an altogether different person. He can't convince people that he is not the heir to the estate. Then he gets wise to an amazing conspiracy of which he is the innocent tool and through five reels he fights the plotters toe-to-toe, ultimately defeating them and winning a ready bride—who, by the way, is the rightful heir to the rich estate aimed at by the conspiracy.

WISCONSIN UNIVERSITY WILL HELP FIGHT FLU

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 1.—The University of Wisconsin is perhaps the first to take the lead in a series of national institutions to aid the nation in its fight against recurrence of the influenza epidemic this fall and winter. This work will be done through the extension division of the university.

To equip the women of the state with the primary essentials of disease prevention and care of the sick, since a return of the "flu" is predicted by medical authorities, a course is offered on "Prevention of Disease and Home Care of the Sick." The slogan in the course is that "Somebody" in every home should know how to care for a person showing the earliest symptoms of influenza. A textbook of 299 pages is furnished free with the course which is in charge of a physician and a trained nurse. When twenty or more persons in one community enroll for the course, provision is made for co-operation with the local physician in teaching the course. The course is divided into eight sub-topics: disease prevention, cause, transmission and care; colds and their dangers; preventive treatment; personal hygiene; first aid and home nursing.

EX-SERVICE MEN TAKE ADVANTAGE OF STATE EDUCATIONAL OFFER

SALEM, Oct. 1.—Altogether 1176 soldiers, sailors and marines have filed applications with the secretary of state's office for the privilege of participating in the benefits of the soldiers' educational aid bill and, judged by present indications, this number is expected to reach 2000 before the end of the school year. The applications so far received are divided among 48 educational institutions, public and private, the Oregon Agricultural college heading the list with a total of 469 signifying their preference for this school.

"It does not seem to be generally understood even yet that those who did not get out of the student army training corps are not entitled to the benefits provided by this law," stated Sam A. Koser, deputy secretary of state, in discussing the applications received by his office.

THREE, TIRED OF PEELING POTATOES MAKE DASH FROM DETENTION HOME

PORTLAND, Oct. 1.—Weary of peeling potatoes and ready to brave the dangers of the world all alone, three young boys escaped from the Frazer detention home Sunday morning, according to a report made to police headquarters. Paul Walter, 16, the oldest of the three, is described as about 5 feet 2 inches, weighing 125 pounds. He was dressed in blue overalls. Richard Monroe, 14, is described as 5 feet 2 inches, 104 pounds, dressed in blue overalls and blue shirt. Lyle Palmer, 11, was dressed in a black shirt and khaki trousers. It is thought the boys were afraid of some minor operation they would have to undergo in a few days and seeing an opportunity to escape while the attendant went away leaving them alone in the kitchen peeling potatoes, they managed to leave without being caught.

"Ever Occur to You?" says the Good Judge

That it's foolish to put up with an ordinary chew, when it doesn't cost any more to get real tobacco satisfaction.

Every day more men discover that a little chew of real good tobacco lasts longer and gives them real contentment.

There's nothing like it.

ART TREASURES ARE UNEARTHED BY REDS

PARIS, Oct. 1.—Art treasures valued at more than $100,000,000 which belonged to Catherine II, of Russia, who died in 1796, have been discovered by the Bolsheviks, commission charged with classifying the property of the late Czar Nicholas in the winter palace of Tsarso Zelo. The cases containing the treasures had never been opened since they were sent to Catherine from Rome. The find includes more than 1000 paintings and sculptures by some of the greatest French and Italian masters, including Terpoio, Roubin, La Tour, Lancret and Fragonard.

ASPIRIN FIRST KNOWN IN 1900

The Bayer Company Introduced Aspirin to Physicians 18 Years Ago.

If you want the true, world-famous Aspirin, as prescribed by physicians for over eighteen years, you must ask for "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin."

The "Bayer Cross" is stamped on each tablet and appears on each package for your protection against imitations.

In each package of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" are safe and proper directions for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, and for pain in general.

Handy tin boxes containing 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Druggists also sell larger "Bayer" packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacturing of Monacetonleider of Salzig, Hencid.
