What the Picture Theaters Have to Tell You.

ALTA TODAY.

Paramount Star a Country Boy With Big Ideas in Fine Photocomedy.

In "Putting It Over," a new Paramount picture starring Bryant Washburn, which will be shown at the Alta Theater today, the star shows the value of persistent application as a means of getting results. He plays the role of a young rube who goes to the city to make his mark in life.

He meets Mary, the girl, but he is a little doubtful as to whether she likes him well enough or not, so tells her that he makes fifty dollars a week. The truth is that he only makes ten as a soda clerk in one of a chain of stores. His landlady takes a sudden notion that he must pay up his back rent and refuses to let him enter his room until he hands over the money, of which he is sadly in need. The hardest blow of all comes when his boss politely informs him that "on account of slack business during the winter season we'll have to dispense with your services for a while."

But there is no yellow in Buddy's make-up. He didn't lie down and give up. The dearest girl in the world had already agreed to marry him and he must make fifty a week, and make it quick.

ARCADE TODAY.

Dorothy Phillips' first picture since "Destiny" will be seen at the Arcade Theater today. "Paid in Advance," the new production, is based on a story of the Canadian Northwest and the Klondike, by James Oliver Curwood, who is recognized throughout this country and Canada as one of the foremost students of life in that region, as well as a creator of entrancing stories. He is said to be the only American ever engaged by the British government to do exploratory and descriptive writing. His collection of game photographs is known to be the largest in America.

"Paid in Advance" is rich in situations and scenes. The story begins in the fur country of Canada and enough of the story is laid there to give an excellent knowledge of the manners and customs of the heterogeneous people who inhabited the region. Then the scenes shift to Klondike, and portray in all its wickedness and tawdry allurements the gold-mining district at Dawson City.

Miss Phillips was directed in this picture, as in her several preceding successes, by Allen J. Halubar, who is her husband in private life. In "Paid in Advance" she is cast as Joan Gray, daughter of a fur trapper in northern Canada. She is lured to Dawson City by the scheming proprietor of a notorious dive, who promises her work as a nurse and assures her that her father will become wealthy as an expert fur buyer.

Other notable names are in the cast, among them being Priscilla Dean, herself a Universal star; William Stowell, who plays the leading man; Joseph Gerard, Lon Chaney, Frank Brownlee and Bill Bures.

ABOUT THE STARS

In the movement of the heavenly bodies there is no "speed limit," no cop stands at the corner and tells us to slow down. As previously mentioned, we are speeding through space at a rate of twelve and a half miles per second or about thirty times faster than the swiftest cannon ball. This is in addition to our other motions; one of which is the Earth's rotation upon its axis, which is little more than a thousand miles per day, the other our

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford car can well be called the "people's car," because there are more than 3,000,000 of them in daily operation. That is about four to one of the nearest follower in the motor car industry. This would not be so if the Ford car had not for sixteen years proven its superiority in service, in durability, and in the low cost for operation and maintenance; this would not be so if the Ford car was not so easy to understand, so simple in construction that anybody and everybody can safely drive it. orbital motion around the sun, which amounts to nineteen miles per second. Taken all together, as David Haren would say, "We are some travelers."

Now is our pathway entirely unobstructed. For every visible star in the heavens there are said to be at least a hundred dark and invisible bodies. When a man sets out in an auto for a hundred mile spin upon the highway he does so with some qualms of conscience for fear that some one may bump him, but this old world of ours has been speeding a thousand times faster for the last million years or more and has not even stopped for repairs and has never had an accident. Whence have we come and whither are we going? It may be interesting to those of a mathematical mind to compute the distance we have traveled since the early geological ages. What strange constellations have been visible in past ages and what new ones shall we encounter in the dim future? Scientists tell us we are going straight in the direction of that beautiful star Vega, but we will not bump her for she is going in the same general direction, and at a greater rate of speed. There are other stars with probably planetary systems, Arcturus among them, that are outspeeding us at a rate of ten to one.
