

DECISIVE BATTLE WITH AMBUSHED REDS REPORTED

Heavy Rifle Firing Begun at about 10:30 Sunday days messenger from scene of battle in Olympia today.

COMPANION CONFIRMS JOHN HANEY'S DEATH

Pitched Battle Fought Saturday Near Cabin, I. W. W. Stronghold; Special Detail is Sent to Recover Body.

OLYMPIA, Nov. 17.—A decisive battle between a posse and reds is believed to have occurred at dusk Sunday at a point near the cabin where Haney is thought to have been killed Saturday. This news was brought here today by a messenger from the scene of the battle.

He said heavy rifle firing commenced Sunday at twilight, continuing through a long period. Word reached here today for 50 armed men from the Turby Brothers' logging camp were sent to the Hannaford section Sunday. The leader said the men would not return until the fugitives were captured or killed.

OLYMPIA, Nov. 17.—First details of gifting about a cabin in dense timber 23 miles northeast of Centralia, Saturday afternoon when I. W. W. gunmen, who were barricaded there, repulsed an attack by a posse of American Legion members and deputy sheriffs, were given by H. King, deputy game warden and members of the posse here this afternoon.

He said a posse of eight men had approached to within 150 yards of the cabin when a fusillade of shots met them. John Haney, president of the Centralia district and former resident of McMinnville, was shot through the head and probably instantly killed. King's hat was shot off, but he was not hurt. Every effort was made by the remainder of the posse to reach Haney but each attempt was met by a volley of shots which seemed to come not only from the cabin but from behind nearby trees. After several such attempts the posse decided to wait for more men and supplies. Haney's body, says King, lies between two large trees 150 yards from the cabin.

Special Detail Sent. CENTRALIA, Nov. 17.—A posse of 40 men, Loyal Legion veterans and volunteer woodsmen are now in the country where the desperate radicals have taken ambush, and to a special detail has been assigned charge of the recovery of Haney's body. It is considered probable that the recovery will be marked by further fighting.

Arrests of Escaped Guards. It was this cabin that is known to be one of the lurking places of the two or three I. W. W. who are sought for the Armistice day murders in Centralia, and who fired upon the posse yesterday afternoon.

There are four live outlets by trail to the wild wooded district in which the man hunt is being held, and every avenue of escape is heavily guarded by details of armed men, with four days' rations. With the trails under control, according to the campaign plans of Captain Lloyd Dwyer, local commander of the Loyal Legion military units, posse parties are deployed into the district, with instructions to bring the I. W. W. in dead or alive.

Shocking Orders Guns. SPOKANE, Nov. 17.—Two heavy machine guns, and 50 high power rifle rifles were ordered today for police department here. Police Commissioner Tilsley explained this as precautionary measure. Two national guard companies called for duty this week have been demobilized. Tilsley has formally asked the council to reestablish the rock pile for benefit of the I. W. W.

Installing New X-Ray. A new X-ray machine is being installed at the offices of Dr. E. O. Parker and Dr. L. M. Spalding. Charles F. Savage, of Portland, is in the city to install the X-Ray.

Two Business Places Broken Into. The Johnson grocery at Garden and Webb and the Wallace Brothers garage, at Thompson and Water, were broken open last night by unknown persons, who took little or nothing of value. The gasoline supply at the garage was evidently the goal of the thieves, as one side had been unlocked while the other was intact. Nothing of value is known to have been taken from the grocery, according to police.

PENDLETON LISTS 1673 IN SCHOOLS, INDICATING POPULATION NEAR 8400

Pendleton has a school population of 1673, figures obtained in the school census, just completed, show. This is an indication that the city will show a total population of close to 8400, inasmuch as it is assumed there are four persons outside the school age to every one within the limit.

The increase in school population over 1918 is 53, 1620 having been listed between the ages of 4 and 20 last year. There are 19 more females than males in the census this year, there being 846 girls and but 827 boys.

Virtually a 75 per cent enrollment of those within the age limit is attending school in Pendleton. At this time there are 1218 students in the high school and grades. Inasmuch as the majority in school are between 6 and 18 years of age, this showing is taken to indicate that truancy or child labor is almost entirely absent in the city.

The school census is taken in November of each year, to determine what apportionment of state and county school funds is available for the district. The work of taking the census required nearly three weeks and was done by Russell Turner and James Laing.

NEW SCALE FOR MINERS IS BEING DRAFTED TODAY

Committees Representing Employers and Workers Begin Actual Task of Determining Wages for Central Field.

MINERS' DISPOSITION IS BELIEVED CONCILIATORY

Agreement, Even Though Temporary, Indicated; Workers Returning in Increasing Numbers; Troops Withdrawn

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Actual work of drawing up a new miners' wage scale for the central field, the greatest soft coal district in the country, was started here today. Committees representing employers and workers met to draft a schedule. Representatives of other districts will later agree on a wage scale, based on the scale arranged for the central field.

The miners have not entirely receded from their demands for a five day week and a six hour day, but they show a disposition to be conciliatory. Indications are that agreements, even though temporary, will be reached. Reports are being received that miners are returning to work in increasing numbers, although in many places hundreds are refusing to return. Troops are being withdrawn from the coal fields, all fear of riots having disappeared.

STATION EXPERIMENTS IN FATTENING OF STOCK

The best method of fattening stock is on a ration of alfalfa hay supplemented with good silage, according to experiments completed at the Eastern Oregon Experiment station.

According to the experiments the ration runs about 22 pounds of alfalfa and 20 pounds of silage. It has also been demonstrated that two tons of silage can be grown as cheaply as one ton of hay, and that at this rate the cost of feeding per day is very little higher than on hay alone. The results, it is declared, are entirely different from those of the steers gaining one pound per day they gain 1.2 to two pounds, with an average of 1.75 for three years' work.

CHILDREN EXAMINED BY FIRST LOCAL CLINIC MAKE GOOD SHOWING

Eighteen, Three Months to Six Years Old, Are Weighed, Measured and Tested, Five Physicians Give Services.

Only a few cases of adenoids and diseased tonsils were found among the 18 children, between the ages of three months and six years, who were tested at the children's clinic held Saturday in the City Hall. Although the score cards have not yet been completed, it is thought by those who made the tests that the children made a good showing.

Mrs. Fred Schilke, president of the Oregon Children's Welfare Society was present for the clinic and assisted in giving the tests. Others who aided in the work were Miss Florence Smiley, county health nurse, Dr. Frank Boyden, Dr. James Best, Dr. J. D. Flammenden, Dr. David B. Hill and Dr. R. G. Vinson, and members of the Parent-Teachers Association.

Each child was weighed and measured and examinations were made of the teeth, eyes, ear, nose and throat. Other physical tests were made as well as mental tests. The clinic on Saturday was the first of a series which will be held in the City Hall for the benefit of local and out-of-town children. The next clinic will be next Saturday, and any Umatilla county mother who wishes to have her child registered for a test is asked to phone 466, or write to Miss Florence Smiley, at the Federal Building in this city. The children whose names begin with letter between "A" and "M" will be tested from 1 to 2 while those whose names begin with letters between "N" and "Z" will be tested from 2 to 3 p. m.

The test is not a contest but merely a complete examination of each child.

LOCAL MAN DEVELOPS WHOLESALE BUSINESS

That Pendleton has splendid possibilities from a wholesale standpoint has been proven by Sylvan G. Cohn, importer and wholesale dealer in men's furnishing goods, who has been operating here for some months past and is establishing a very successful business.

Mr. Cohn has been a resident of Pendleton for the last six years but most of the time was a traveling representative of the Black Manufacturing Co. He is now on his own, leaving the detailed handling of the local work to employees, Nat Kimball being the shipping clerk.

A heavy stock of goods is carried here and Mr. Cohn says he has been very successful in securing business from Idaho, Washington and Oregon, furnishing considerable business even from Portland where he has two regular accounts. In handling men's furnishing goods he says he has every advantage that the larger dealers have as to prices and goods and has the advantage of a closer personal knowledge of conditions. He is also able to make quicker shipments.

NIGHT AND DAY SHIFTS WILL RUSH WORK ON GIANT TUNNEL FOR TEEL IRRIGATION DISTRICT

Nearly 1950 feet of the 12,341 foot tunnel that will lead water from Camas creek into the Teel Irrigation District have been completed to date, according to J. Frank Spinning, of Echo, secretary of the district, who is a Pendleton visitor today. At the present rate of progress the big bore, more than two miles in length, will be completed by December 1, 1921.

Between 15 and 20 feet a day are being removed by the crews which are working from either end. The work will continue throughout the winter and in spring efforts will be redoubled with night and day shifts. At present the 30 men employed on the excavation are putting in but one shift a day. Half a hundred men are employed on the ditch below the mouth of the tunnel and have completed virtually a mile of this already. The giant 55 ton steam shovel is removing 1900 yards of earth each day, making the big ditch. The width at the bottom is 25 feet and at the top 40 feet and five feet of water will be carried in it. Mr. Spinning said.

The division dam on Camas creek was completed three weeks ago and a large mill pond has been formed behind this dam, into which logs from the Camilla forest are being floated. The sawmill erected on the site has shut down for the winter months, after having cut nearly 500,000 feet of lumber for the timbering and tunnels between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 feet of the canals.

Work on the tunnel will go on uninterrupted throughout the winter but whether the ditch work can be continued depends largely upon the severity of the weather. At present rapid progress is still possible outside. A celebration prior to the completion of the district probably during next summer, is likely, Mr. Spinning said. The whole country will be asked to relinquish the tunnel site near Albee at that time.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—President Wilson today ordered defeat of the resolution ratifying the treaty containing the Lodge reservations, according to Senator Hitchcock following a conference with the president. Hitchcock said Wilson will "pocket" the treaty if it is ratified with the Lodge reservations, meaning he will refuse to accept it. The president has power to pigeonhole it, simply laying it aside and ignoring it.

Apparently Wilson is proceeding on the theory that the opposition will not dare to kill the whole peace settlement by refusing to let more ratification resolutions be introduced after the first one's rejected.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The most critical week in the peace treaty fight opened today. Fate of the resolution for ratification, now being drafted by the senate, sitting as a committee of the whole, is expected to be settled at a conference which President Wilson and Democratic Leader Hitchcock are holding this morning.

Unless the president reverses his previous stand he will decree defeat for the resolution if it contains the Lodge reservation which the president holds nullifies Article 10. Hitchcock then plans to present a resolution of straight unqualified ratification which the opposition will probably defeat.

Hitchcock believes a compromise will follow. But Lodge and other opposition leaders plan to resist any endeavor to introduce a new ratification resolution if the one now in the forming is beaten. They assert that defeat of this resolution will kill the treaty.

The senate today considered more of the Lodge reservations. It is expected the entire reservation program including proposals which other senators besides Lodge presented, will be disposed of by tomorrow, and that the vote on the ratification measure will follow immediately.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The Lodge reservation program today received its first reverse in the senate when reservation 14 was defeated by a vote of 34 to 29. The defeated treaty reservation would have prevented acceptance by the United States of any interest in the disposition of the former German colonies. Forty-one democrats voted against the reservation.
