Killed Her Woman Friend With Hatchet for $135

After confessing that she committed one of the most brutal murders in the annals of New York State, Mrs. Maria Warren, a divorcee, thirty-five years old, is held without bail at Mineola, L. I. She told the prosecutor that after she had killed her friend Mrs. Clara Branch with a hatchet, following Mrs. Branch's refusal to lend her money, she took $135 in bills from the slain woman's nightdress. Valley Stream, L. I., was the scene of the murder. Mrs. Warren, known also as Marie Berlin, formerly a vaudeville performer, declared that she wanted to plead guilty and was anxious to pay the penalty.

HE HAD HABIT OF NUDGING COMPANION AT THEATRE,—ONCE

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan of Salem were attending the theatre, sitting in aisle seats. The Salem man had a habit of nudging Mrs. Duncan every time anything "struck him funny."

Duncan had to telephone during the performance, and returned to the aisle seat while the house was dark. Several more funny things happened on the stage and Duncan continued to use his elbow to nudge the occupant of the next seat.

The Salemite, finally, heard a low, cold voice.

"What do you think you are celebrating?"

Whereupon James found his own seat.

Definite.

A young Swede in South Dakota, who has been sent out to collect bills for the general store, returned with this report:

"You Brown, he say he pay when he sell his wheat; Ole Olsson, he say he pay when he sell his oats, and You Yonson, he say he pay in January."

"In January?" repeated the proprietor, surprised. "Why, he never set a date before. Are you sure he said January?"

"Well, Ay, tank it bene January. He said it bene dam cold day when you get your money."—American Legion Weekly.
